ACCIDENT AT THE FERRY.

The Cable Parted and the Boat Started Down Stream With a Woman Upon It

Yesterday morning, when the ferryboat was about the middle of the river the cable parted, and the boat started down the river. The only passenger at the time was Mrs. Rainwater, who was promptly taken ashore by the ferryman, Mr. Devine. Fortunately there were no teams on board. The boat was overtaken and stopped before reaching the Oregon Pacific bridge and will be brought back to its place without much trouble.

The break was caused from a strain received upon its cable several days ago by the steamer Modoc running against it. The damage to the ferry company was about $75 or $100. The cable will be replaced, and it is thought will be ready for use by this evening or to-morrow. Several teamsters and their teams from this side were engaged in hauling gravel, were caught on the other side and have no means of returning without going up the river via Corvallis. They have procured quarters on the other side and will wait till the break is repaired.

Albany's Public Improvements.

Albany was never in a more healthy condition, progressively, than to-day. The past year has been a good one. There are more people in Albany than ever before. Trade is good, and the building record for the year has been fair. While not quite so many houses were built in number as 1890, a better class of residences generally have been constructed, places that are a great credit to the city. The sewer system, on which between $10,000 and $15,000 will have been expended for the main sewers, and several thousands for laterals, $25,000 in all probability, is, altogether, a credit to the city, one that will be more so when all property-owners have connected with them. The big bridge will be one to be proud of. There is a prospective aspect to everything, one that will increase wonderfully in the next few years.—Evening Telegram.

Returning to Eastern Oregon.

Thomas Porter formerly engaged in sheep raising on Barber creek, Crook county, recently from Arizona, whether he went to find a milder country for his business, leaves Albany to-day for The Dalles to return to his former place to stay. He says he found Arizona a very dry region, the stock there suffering for pasture, the country being eaten out, and cattle worth four to five dollars per head only, yet sheep as high as three dollars.

Too Forgiving.

A Bath (Me.) bookkeeper stole $500 from his employers and lost a year-old boy, was physically across an unoccupied field about four miles below Milton a few days ago, he saw the skull of a human skeleton which had recently been uncovered by the winds blowing the dirt away from it. He reported the discovery to some Milton people, who immediately went in search of the relics, and while hunting for the one the boy had found, they discovered two more that had been unearthed in the same way. The peculiar feature of this gash is that they were nearly half an inch apart. No signs of murder or foul play are visible upon any parts of the skeletons, so far as has yet been ascertained. One of the skulls and some other parts of the frame were brought to Milton, and examined by a skilled physician, who pronounced it that of a white female of mature age. The bodies were evidently only buried a foot or two beneath the surface. Who these unfortunates were is shrouded in unfathomable mystery, and how long they have lain there the recording angel alone can tell.

Skeletons Unearthed.

An account published in the Pendleton East Oregonian says that while Frank Snyder, a 14-year-old boy, was physically across an unoccupied field about four miles below Milton a few days ago, he saw the skull of a human skeleton which had recently been uncovered by the winds blowing the dirt away from it. He reported the discovery to some Milton people, who immediately went in search of the relics, and while hunting for the one the boy had found, they discovered two more that had been unearthed in the same way. The Dalles Sun says that Mr. E. McNeil, general superintendent of the Pacific division of the Union Pacific system, is the fortunate possessor of an Indian relic unearthed at Umattilla some time ago, and which now ornaments his office at Portland. It is a stone vessel of some sort, hollowed out, most elaborately carved and evidently at one time in the possession of some great chief or titled warrior. It was found six feet beneath the earth's surface at Umattilla by a workman engaged in making an excavation for a new store room on the first floor. Those who prophesied one year ago that Lebanon had reached her zenith, are forced to acknowledge that they misjudged the prosperity of our ever-growing city. We profess not to read out history in advance, but in view of the many enterprises which have been inaugurated, with the history of similar enterprises upon which to base our judgment, we feel warranted in our expectation of an unusually prosperous year in 1892.
