THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Some Inside Facts Concerning the Future Plans of the Road.

Some additional facts concerning the future plans of the Oregon Pacific railroad have been learned from a reliable source, which will be of interest to the public.

This is to the effect that the compromise of the New York bondholders upon a plan of action has been fully agreed upon. Col. Hoag is to be retained as president of the road, while Mr. Blair and his friends will remain the manager and have a voice in the policy of the road in the matter of construction eastward which they have not heretofore had. The formal sale of the road will be made in January next at the date fixed, after which the new regime will take effect. The war among the bondholders has all been settled, and it is stated that they will unite their energies during the next year for the construction of the road toward an Eastern connection. Next summer, according to the present outlook, will be one of activity along the line east of Albany, and the resumption of work, when it is commenced, will be on a basis for its permanent prosecution to its final completion, an accomplishment which the people of Albany and the whole state have long hoped to see realized.

Passing Away.

Very many Linn county people will read with regret, and with heartfelt sympathy for the orphaned children, the following notice: Mrs. J. W. Bramwell, aged 47 years, died at her home in this city Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, and the funeral services were held Wednesday, conducted by Rev. H. P. James of the Congregational church. The lady had been in ill health about three months, but was seized four weeks ago with fever and sank rapidly from that time. Medical aid and the services of many friends who constantly waited upon her seemed to give her no relief. A year and a half ago occurred Mr. Bramwell's death, which Mrs. Bramwell grieved over so much that some think it to have been the cause of her sickness. They were very affectionally devoted to one another. The children are left orphans, Miss Mary, Howard and Charlie. They are well known and highly respected in the community, and are not alone in the affliction which has come upon them.—Corvallis Gazette. Mrs. Bramwell was one of the well known and influential Churchhill family, of Linn county, her brothers being among the leading farmers of Albany prairie.

The Coming Attraction.

On Monday evening the Original Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., will appear at the opera house and promises to present the play in grand style. This company has been playing from the east to the west since August last, and has met with great success, which is not surprising when it is known that it is composed of first class theatrical artists, among them being the renowned comedian, Hank Goodman, who needs no recommendation, as he is already known as a fine actor. There is hardly a person, no doubt, in the city who has not seen this great play produced by some company or another but none should fail to see it again when an opportunity like the coming one affords itself, when those who will render it are acknowledged artists wherever they have appeared. A grand street parade will also take place during the day when Middaugh's gold band will render first-class music.

The finest holiday gifts imaginable can be found at Hulm & Akin's drug store. Do not forget the place, at French's corner.

Oregon Corn.

The opinion prevails that corn cannot be grown in this locality, but the fact is that it can be and profitably. The Independence West Side says that J. W. Laughary last week killed a lot of corn fed hogs which averaged 160 pounds each. They were yearlings. It is not often we see corn fed hogs in Oregon. All farmers can easily raise corn enough to make their pork. Corn when well attended to yields a fair crop. Late with his hogs and chickens will pass a contented time this winter.

Our citizens, too, showed their appreciation of talent and their willingness to assist laudable undertakings. It can be rated as one of the most successful entertainments ever given in Albany.
