BURGLAR COMES TO GRIEF.

He Robbed a Gun Store, but Was Caught Next Day With His Plunder.

At an early hour Christmas morning burglars broke into De-yoe & Forman's gun store and carried away about $200 worth of firearms and cutlery.

They climbed upon the roof of the warehouse in the rear of the Foster block. They first raised a rear window and entered the HEM-ALD composing rooms. Discovering their mistake, they opened a skylight in the roof and entered the gun store.

Passing through the shop in the rear. They then helped themselves to the following described property and departed by the rear doors:

One L. C. Smith's trap hammer-pearl gun, one Foren & Werk's pearl-handled .38 calibre revolver, two double barreled Derringers, Remington make, 41 calibre, several pocket knives, branded with Northfield Co., some 38 and 32 Smith & Wesson cartridges, two boxes 41 calibre R. F. cartridges, one leather gun case, a Letherwell sample case with fine nickel ornaments, belonging to Mr. Red-cher, representative of Hubbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., an open face gold watch case, a fine set of loading tools, and between $4 and $5 taken from the money drawer.

The sample case had been left by Mr. Redcher the evening before, and the sample books and a fine razor inside, all that was in it, were taken out and laid on a chair. There were only two boxes of cartridges in the store that would fit the Derringers, and these were taken from a large box of cartridges, indicating that the robbers were posted. Amounting in all to about $200 worth.

Tracks from the rear doors towards the river indicated that at least three were engaged in the business, and the absence of a boat from the place at which it had been left by the bridge workmen indicated that the thieves had taken the river route. The rope with which they had let themselves from the skylight into the workshop was cut from a coil connecting the scow of the bridge contractors with their engine running the entire rope, as it cannot be worked after being spliced.

Mr. L. W. Dwyer, as soon as sufficient facts had been ascertained to establish the probable route of the party, secured the assistance of Deputy Sheriff Smith, Isaac Banta and Mr. Redker and secured a boat, started in pursuit. Arriving at Independence they soon located one man, and in his possession the entire property, and returned with their prisoner and the property on the steamer Wm. M. Hoag's steamer.

Quite an audience greeted the burglar on his arrival here at the boat landing; he was arraigned before Justice Humphrey, waived examination and was bound over under $500 bonds, in default of which he will be in jail until the March term of court.

The burglar gives the name of Dempsey, says he is from Iowa, and had been in Albany but a few days. He claims that he did not do the stealing; that three other men who had left him further up the river committed the burglary. He is about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, dark hair and mustache, dark complexion, and was very well dressed.

Notice. Froebel kindergarten will reopen on Monday, January 4, 1892. Those desiring to send little ones please give notice by the 1st, as the chairs on hand are all occupied.

Delayed Trains. Last evening a small land slide in East Portland came onto the track of the Southern Pacific, causing a delay of the overland train in starting about two hours before the track could be cleared. The overland from San Francisco was also about two hours late last night.

An Old Relic. Eugene Guard.—An old-fashioned guard, over 300 years old, the property of the Hon. Eben Stewart, can be seen hanging from the wooden mantle in "The Old Leg Cabin." It has been in the Stewart family over 150 years, Grandpa Stewart having brought it over the plains 40 years ago, and it is now being displayed in S. H. Friendly's window.

Admirers of sweet toned pianos and latest improved organs should call at Will & Link's and see their magnificent instruments.

RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

An Unkind Criticism Upon the Young Men's Christian Association.

Rev. Geo. W. Hill, pastor of the Baptist church in this city, in a recent number of a little church paper, of which he is editor, makes a very unkind attack upon the cantata Belshazzar, recently presented at the opera house by the Young Men's Christian Association.

In order that no injustice may be done in quoting from the editorial referred to, it is here given in full: "Belshazzar is dead! We hope we will not be regarded as perversely wicked when we say we are glad.

Now that the cantata is a thing of the past, we should like to propose a few questions to be considered before another such affair is inaugurated in the name of the christian workers of the city. We know we are about to touch upon some things in which all our christian friends will not agree with us, but we offer these suggestions in a kindly spirit and with a desire to do good.

First, then, did the entertainment pay? Over against the amount realized we must put the value of time and labor lost to other forms of christian work.

We believe that the same time and energy spent in direct religious effort for the welfare of the city would have brought richer dividends, not only to the christian character of the workers, but by work on men's hearts would have opened purses to freely give more than was made by the cantata.

Nothing is ever gained by indirect efforts to raise money. The christian people of Albany have in their possession all the money we need in our work. We believe that a revival of religion will do more to open hearts and purses than an amateur theatrical.

So much for the expediency. We ask again, what about the propriety of the christian giving his sanction to the theatre and opera? The difference between the cantata, as rendered, and an ordinary play is merely one of the character of the players. The christian church, however, takes no position strongly against the theatre as an institution antagonistic to the religion of Christ. Some christians love the theatre, but they are not good christians. We fear that the power of christian testimony against the theatre and in favor of a spiritual life in Christ is not so much as it once was. In the same issue Rev. Mr. Hill says that his own conviction, from inquiry and observation, is that the spiritual pulse of the churches of Albany does not beat so strongly and hopefully as at this time last year, and why?

"The church that is not a moral and spiritual force is a reproach and an injury to the community in which it is established."

The recent gentleman seems to have been in a very pessimistic mood when he penned the foregoing, and such assertions even from a minister, ought not to be passed unchallenged. The moral and religious spirit of Albany is by no means at a low ebb, although it might naturally be expected to beat unresponsively to such particular pleas of religion as these expressed by Rev. Mr. Hill.

As far as the cantata of Belshazzar is concerned it was a moral, clean and highly enjoyable evening's entertainment of song, together with the interesting spectacular features of the story of Belshazzar. It was presented by an association of christian workers, several of them being members of Rev. Mr. Hill's own church. There was nothing more unholly about it than the christian exercises at the various churches, the only appreciable difference being that the cantata was presented upon a stage at the opera house and the other upon a stage built upon the church pulpit.

This world is not so bad as it is painted by many who would reform it on a wholesale plan, and indeed whose religious reform is pointed out in the direction of such harmless entertainments as the cantata referred to, thinking people will doubt the need of that kind of reform at all. Every man has a right to his own peculiar religious views in this free country, but when he attempts to enforce them upon others by criticizing their actions in matters of religious behavior through the medium of the public press, he assumes a task of doubtful propriety and must expect the rejoinder which he invites.

Few people will believe but that it was more in keeping with the teachings of true religion to offer the public an innocent, enjoyable evening's entertainment for their money than to "work on men's hearts" to open their purses, or in other words, go begging for it; neither will they believe that to cause the entertainment was in a theatre it must be damned, nor that the participants "are not good christians."

AN INJUSTICE TO ALBANY.

The Improvement of the Willamette Should be Extended up the Elver.

Senator Mitchell has introduced a bill in congress which is calculated to aid navigation on the upper Willamette. It would doubtless do good as far as it goes, but it neglects that portion of the river between Albany and Salem.

Following is the text of the bill: Whereas, the interests of commerce and navigation requires the establishment and maintenance of range lights and buoys at thirty-five different points on the Willamette river, between the cities of Salem and Portland, Oregon: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, that the sum—dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of establishing and maintaining range lights and buoys at thirty-five different points on the Willamette river between the cities of Salem and Portland, Oregon, the same to be expended under the direction of the secretary of the treasury.

The upper Willamette river ought to be improved so that it can be navigated by steamboats, as far as Albany at least, the year round. The proposed system of light and buoys would be a step in this direction, but if there is any good reason why the upper Willamette should be neglected in the matter of improvements the people would like to know it. The citizens of Albany have long urged the necessity of the permanent improvement of this, one of the state's great commercial highways, and the attention of Oregon's representatives at the national capital should be directed to this matter. The Willamette should be made navigable the year round.

HOLIDAY SHOPPERS. Should See the Wonderful Array at Julius Gradwohl's Bazaar.

Mr. Julius Gradwohl, the enterprising proprietor of the Bazaar store in this city, which contains the largest and best selected stock of crockery, glass and other wares for domestic use, in the valley, as well as fancy wares, toys and beautiful holiday goods, has replenished and enlarged his entire stock and now has a store that is a credit to himself and an ornament to the city. His shelves, counters and every available space are filled with the choicest and most varied stock of goods ever seen in this valley, including a mammoth display of holiday goods. He has added a new line which consists of a beautiful array of red, gold and silver warranted to wear as good as gold and costing one-tenth as much money, diamond cut pins, rings, fine umbrellas for holiday presents and novelties. His stock is now in and holiday shoppers should lose no time in seeing his wonderful array which is not surpassed by any on the coast either in elegance or price.

He also carries a gigantic stock of beautiful hanging lamps, stand lamps, bicycles, tricycles, safes and velocipedes, which he guarantees to sell as low as any place in Oregon.

His assortment of fine teas and coffees is always complete, as well as a general stock of family groceries. He buys his goods direct for net cash and sells them the same way.

Lost in the Mountains. A young man named J. F. Hill started from Albany for the San-tion mines on Monday last, and it is feared that he has perished in the mountains. He left Gatesville alone Tuesday morning for the mines, and has not been seen since. The men who came out from the mines Tuesday saw his tracks in the snow where he had left the trail and gone deeper into the mountains. The snow there was about ten feet deep. On Thursday two other men returned from the mines, and said that young Hill had not reached camp, and was undoubtedly lost in the mountains. He has not been out about a week. He had only a lunch sufficient for one meal when he left Gatesville. The men who saw the tracks were to nearly exhausted in making the trip out, to follow up the tracks in search of the man.

To Contractors. Notice is hereby given that bids will be received for the building of the United Presbyterian church until one o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, January 6, 1892, at the hardware store of F. H. Roscoe, in Albany, Oregon, where plans and specifications may be seen. The right to reject any of all bids is reserved.

Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Salve, and his leg is sound, and his feet are free from pain. He had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Fosberg & Mason, Drug store.

MURK WINS. We desire to say to our old friends, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that give so much satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits, Fosberg & Mason, Druggists.

TO GOOD TEMPLES. Do you know that Moore's Revealed Remedy is the only patent medicine in the world that does not contain a drop of alcohol; that the mode of preparing it is known only to its discoverer; that it is an advance in the science of medicine without a parallel in the nineteenth century; that its proprietors offer to forfeit $1,000 for any case of dyspepsia it will not cure? I am an old man and have been a constant sufferer with catarrh for the last ten years. I am entirely cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm. It is strange that so simple a remedy will cure such a stubborn disease—Henry Billings, U. S. Pension Att'y, Washington, D. C. For eight years I have suffered from catarrh, which effected my eyes and hearing; have employed many physicians without relief. I am now on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and feel confident of a complete cure.—Mary C. Thompson, Cerro Gordo, Ill. Sure Cure for the Liquor or Opium Habits.
