The Preacher's Pleas

ceeding twenty-five minutes in un- Republican. folding one of the great principles of morality, on the observance of which the whole existence of society depends. The judge who fills two hours with his "opinions" on the right of a counsel to challenge a witness, grumbles at his minister because he has prolonged the discussion of fundamental laws of human existence to thirty minutes. The physician who takes ten minutes to prepare the medicine for the headache is nervously restive if his minister spends twice so many in attempting to remove a chronic heart-ache. The belle who has spent-how long?-in adjusting the bows of her bonnet, is remorseless in her criticisms on the minister who does not finish his meditations on the character of God in fifteen minutes. The fop who has combed and waxed and perfumed his beard and mustache for an hour, is mortified past endurance if the poor minister is not through his discussion of immortal life "inside of twenty minutes."

General Cure for Chills and Fever.

If the remedy for miasmatic diseases which has been discovered by a French physician is effective, we hope it will be employed throughout America. It would be the greatest discovery since the use of Peruvian bark by the Jesuits. A communication has lately been addressed to the French Academy of Sciences by a M. Gimbert, who has been long engaged in collecting evidences concerning the Eucalyptus-globulus, a tree of extraordinarily rapid growth, which attains huge dimensions, and Of all kinds, and other Articles too numerappears to possess an extraordinary power of destroying miasmatic influence in fever-stricken districts. It has the single property of absorbing ten times its weight of water from Only to merit a Liberal Patronage of the the soil, and of emitting antiseptic camphorous effluvia. When sown in marshy ground it will dry up in a very short time. The English were the first to try it at the Cape, and within two or three years they completely changed the climatic LANDESS! condition of the unhealthy parts of the colony. A few years later its planting was undertaken on a large scale in various parts of Algeria. At Pardock, twenty miles from Algiers, a farm situated on the banks of the Hamyze, was noted for its extremely pestilential air. In the spring of 1867 about 13,000 of the eucalyptus were planted there. In July of the same year — the time when the fever season used to set in -not a single case occured; yet the trees were not more than nine feet high. Since then complete immu- 15,000 to 20,000 nity from fever has been maintained. In the neighborhood of Constantine the farm of Ben Machydlin was equally in bad repute. It was covered with marshes, both in winter and summer. In five years the whole ground was dried up by 14,-000 of these same trees, and farmers and children enjoy excellent health. At the factory of the Gay de Constantine, in three years a plantation of eucalyptus has transformed twelve acres of marshy soil into a magnificent park, whence fever has completely disappeared. In the Island of Cuba, this and all other paludal diseases are fast disappearing from all the unhealthy districts where this tree has been introduced. A station-house at one of the ends of a railway viaduct in the Department of the Var was so pestilential that the officials could not be kept there longer than a year. Forty of these trees were planted, and it is now as healthy as any other place on the line. We have no information as to whether this beneficient tree will grow in other than hot cli-

Life is sinking to decay,

Should there come in frightful numbers O'er your heads the silvery gray. Life is real, life is earnest, Why should any one despair,

"Dust thou art, to dust returnest,"

Was not spoken of the hair.

Not the marks of age or sorrow, On your tresses long should stay -You can live that each to-morrow Find them darker than to-day

Though your hair with lustre wave . Soon when fading, 't will remind you, You are marching to the grave. In the world's sublimer calling, Where we each our race must run,

Time is long, but age shall find you,

If your hair be falling, falling, Use the "Martha Washington." Trust no other, howe'er pleasant, -None can do what this has done; Try it - always keep it present, -

Millions more shall come behind us, With their tresses all renewed. "MARTHA WASHINGTON" HAIR RESTORER,

Use the "Martha Washington."
