Our Thunder Storms.

Last Sunday afternoon a black thunder-cloud appeared in the southwest and threatened a shower of rain. But it followed the Coast range and went north flashing lightning that lit up the gloom of the mountains when black night had fallen, and bellowing thunder that seemed to shake the firm seated hills. Such a brilliant and sublime play of electric fires has not been seen in Washington county for years.

But on Teusday afternoon another black cloud arose in the south and lightning and thunder announced another storm of no small proportions. As before it would have doubtlessly followed the Coast range northward but the wind was blowing like a young harricane from the southwest and swept the right wing of the storm over the west side of the Willamette valley. It could be easily distinguished from the under surface of the cloud that a strong gale was pushing it with almost lightning speed, for the falling rain and hail was swept in immense curves reaching from the tops of the mountains to the west and sweeping the entire horizon to the east more than a quarter of a circle It seemed but a few minutes from the the time that the thunder indicated that the rain was ten miles distant, that it was upon us like the rush of a wounded lion. Down it came in hail that shot straight before it like bullets from the musketry of contending armies, then it turned to rain which fell in floods, while the hovering lightning shook his fiery wings over the forests and the live thunder leaped from valley to valley. In five minutes time the water stood to the top of the grass on level ground and the gulches and gullies were pouring down their muddy torrents, now dammed with debris, now breaking through with headlong tide. Ten minutes from the commencement the rain had nearly ceased falling and northward the lightning-painted rear of the storm-cloud swept on with thunderous sound. It began a little after 5 o'clock. During the time we heard no trees fall. But the wind blew half a mile of fence down for Ben Cornelius laying that portion of his fence along the line leading to the station flat on the ground. The hail beat leaves and blooms from the trees, and had it continued would have done great damage to fruits and crops. A horse team got frightened down the lane beyond S. Hughs' store and ran like a scared wolf. Mr. Leabo (the old gentleman) got caught out with a linen coat on and he got wet. The storm struck him at Dr. Saylor's residence and shoved him along unceremoniously until he came to Kane, Smith & Baxton's carpenter shop when he took a side issue and shot into that establishment with a good sized creek flowing down his back and boiling over the tops of his boots. Mr. Hinman was overtaken near Dr. Geiger's place and he ran as if Captain Jack and all the Modoc braves had been at his heels. He arrived at the store, wet and out of breath, minus his "parachute" which doubtlessly went up in the thunder-gust. The wind drove the rain right through weather-boarding, as was seen at Kane, Smith and Baxton's carpenter shop. Also the rain blew through the south wall of weather-boarding of Mr Hinmans store and soaked through the plastering. Several windows were left open in the Congregational Church and the rain and hail just poured in at the front. Cattle rushed frantically for home and fowls ran to their roosts and the songsters hid in the branches of the trees nor uttered a note. The oldest inhabitant never saw such a storm in these parts. But it seems to have been much severer at Portland according to reports of the city papers. Down there it broke vessels from their moorings and blew them across the River, and broke window panes and hurled forest trees flat to the ground.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Last Monday Mr Jas. Luelling while chopping at Russel & Manning's sawmill twelve miles north of this place on the south fork of Dairy creek, nearly severed the entire muscle at the base of his humb with the ax. Three small arteries were cut and the wound bled profusely. Florr was first applied to stop the bleeding, but this remedy(?) failing, the wrist was bound with chords and the flow of blood stopped after the patient had nearly bled to death. Dr. Saylor was sent for, and having arrived tied up the arteries and dressed the wound, which was filled with dough and flour.

MR. ROBINSON has been crowded this week, whenever a fair day came for taking negatives. His partner is gone to Portland and he has to do all the work himself. He has taken a large number of negatives within a few days but has not had time to print copies.

PIANOS.--We connot help expressing our preference for the celebrated Guild, Church &Co's. Pianos; those that have come under our notice constitute a perfect piano in every degree, fullnes, sweetness, singing quality and power of tone, beauty and durability. Mr. Gray of Portland offers the celebrated "Parlor Favorite" for $375 payable by instalments.

WE see by the Portland papers that the late storm has been playing some bad tricks on Dave Rafferty's Drug store—smashing window panes and deluging the upper story of his building, which he had just fitted up with finely furnished offices for renters.

THE late rains have seriously retarded the seeding of low wet lands. Much wet land that was just ready for the plow cannot be plowed now and would not be ready for a week with good weather.

PROF. CONDON has returned from Astoria. He delivered a series of four lectures on geology at that place. While there the Professor made some valuable additions to his museum.

THURSTON JOHNSON who lives about two miles north of this place is going to complete his new dwelling this summer when he will have as pretty a little home as there is in the County.

Grangers' Picnic.

THE GRANGER'S MAY-DAY.—Last Friday being the first day of May the Grangers had it set apart for a grand picnic at St. Joe and preparations on a large scale were made. It was arranged so that the cars would come up in the morning from Portland and carry the pleasure seekers to their destination and bring them back in the evening. But May-day came and with it a gentle Web-foot rain that spoiled the pleasant anticipations of many. A good many Grangers from Washington county went, but Yamhill was almost entirely unrepresented. The cars reached St. Joe about 11 o'clock. A fir grove had been selected for holding the picnic, but the rain drove the people into a warehouse where speeches were made by W. D. Fenton a youthful granger and W. M. Townsend. The remarks are said to have been well adapted to the sentiments of the assembly and appropriate for the occasion. A lunch was eaten at which the Oregonian "local" choked on a biled tater. A dance was indulged in by the young folks and the fantastic toe went tripping round to the notes of the violin and organ, which was kept up until 3 o'clock, when the excurionists started back on the train. The Pacific Band of this place discoursed numerous airs which lent much spirit and pleasure to the excursion. We are proud of the Washington county Grangers, for they dared the mud and the rain, but them Yamhill people are no true web-feet. The picnic being right at doors it was expected that they would be there certainly, but they staid at home. We hope that the Courier and Reporter will read the Yamhillians a regular screeching lecture for their laziness in this matter. It is our private opinion that a Yamhill couple would not elope to get married unless it was a fair day.

A HORNED TOAD.—Dr. Saylor is the recipient of a live specimen of this strange looking reptile. It was sent in a small box by mail from San Diego by Carey Clarke who formerly resided here. We quote a short extract from the letter:

Friend Doc: I send you by mail our horned toad, a native of this country. Knowing your fondness for pets, I thought this would be a nice one, as it will live to be an old frog without food or water. They have been sent to Paris from here in the mail and received in good order. Hoping that this specimen of our toads will have a safe journey I await to hear from you, etc.

There was no "good order" (in the sense of fat) about this toad. It looked like a bladder smashed by a boulder. Nevertheless it could locomote with considerable speed as Doctor S. discovered when he deposited it on the sidewalk soon after its arrival. Dr. Saylor intends to prepare a cage for its reception and will preserve it among other natural curiosities which he is collecting.

NEW MINISTER.—Last Saturday at a meeting of members of the Congregational church at this place it was decided to invite Rev. D. B. Gray to accept the pastorate of this church for the ensuing year. He was formerly pastor of the Congregational church at Astoria, but more recently minister of the Congregational church at Oakland, Cal., and is a preacher of more than average ability and a man without blemish.

And here it is proper to state that Rev. E. Walker, pastor, announced his determination not to be a candidate for the pastorate of the church for the next term owing to advanced age and poor health. Mr. Walker has served his day and generation long and faithfully, and only retires from active service when compelled by the infirmities which time and trials bring upon men.

PUGILISTIC.—This time it was at Glenco. First fellow told second fellow that he (first fellow) could whip him (second fellow) whereupon no. 1 jumped up and a series of pugilistic demonstrations were made when a blow accidently fell on the auricular locality of no. 2, which sent him(sometimes called "Scissors,") spinning around among chairs, goods-boxes, and other painder common in a one-horse saloon. Jack (the saloon keeper) then incontinently turned "Scissors" into the street, and the row ended.

B. L.

MR. T. RUSSEL while on his way to Hillsboro with a mule team which he had bought recently was overtaken by the thunder-storm Tuesday The mules turned their tails to the breeze and Mr. Russell put down the brakes and threw his muscle on the lines and just stood there through the whole of it. His hat blew off and the hail pummeled him soundly but he shut his eyes and hung to the ribbons.

WE have received Sherman Hyde's Musical Review published at San Francisco, a monthly paper and contains much interesting miscellany pertaining to music. The present number contains two pieces of music—"I Love My Love" of which the poetry is excellent (the music we know nothing about), and a religious song—"Behold How Good"—a versification of the 133rd Pslam, set to music.

CONFIRMED.—On the 25th of April at Lafayette, says the Reporter, Bishop Morris of the M. E. church confirmed a class of eighteen, among which we see the name of Miss. Mary Goodell of this place. Miss Goodell is now teaching near Amity in Yamhill county.

NEXT Wednesday the candicates for Governor of this Stae will discuss the political issue of the day at Hillsboro. Speaking to begin promptly at 1, P. M.

OWING to our having to publish the delinquent tax list in this issue much important matter, correspondence, etc. will have to be deferred to next week.

WM. SHEAFER who lives west of this town two miles is building a large barn.

HENRY NAYLOR, well known in these parts visited the Grove last week, and returned to the Sound this week in company with Mrs. John Gleason, his sister, who went up there to visit some of her relatives. Henry reports that Miss Maggie Naylor is teaching school on one of the San Juan islands at a salary of $60 per month and that she has been offered and has accepted a place in Seattle to teach at $75 per month. Henry conducts the public school at Port Townsend and is called up there Prof. Naylor.

SERENADING.—Saturday evening the young men of the String Band discoursed "Annie of the Vale" beneath the window of our domicile in a style that would do credit to any of the city bands. Several other residences were visited by them. The moon was shining, and it was mid-night, and the instruments and voices of the players sounded finely in the still clear night. Come again.

W. R. BILYIEU who graduated from the College here last year was a candidate for county School Superintendent before the Democratic convention in Linn Co. on the 25th ult. but was not successful in getting a nomination. Subsequently at a ratification meeting in Albany Mr Bilyieu made a speech for which he is highly complimented by the editor of the States Rights Democrat. Mart says that if our friend Bilyieu had made that speech previous to the convention would have made it somewhat tropical for his competitor.

OMITTED.—By a mistake of the printer Miss Ann Martin's name was left out of the catalogue entirely. Her name should have stood in the catalouge as an irregular student in the Ladies Course.

MR. MARTIN is building a house which is intended for a cabinet shop near Steve Harris' blacksmith shop.

RETURNED.—L. C. Walker returned to the Grove Tuesday. He finished his school at the Dalles and proposes to stay here until after the election.

ONLY three ladies attended the public speaking at Hillsboro Wednesday and they were from the Grove. We hope the ladies will come out in force next Wednesday.

OFFICERS of the Gamma Sigma Society for the present term: President, W. H Latourette; Vice President, H. Tamora; Rec. Sec. J. T. Martin; Cor. Secy., D. F. Cresswell; Treasurer, L. Bilyieu; Seargent-at-arms, J. G. Stevenson.

MR. ROBINSON Photograph artist, has taken some fine pictures this week. He proposes to start to Southern Oregon next week sure.

REV. MR. HOBERG formerly minister of the Methodist church at this place called on us last Thursday.

MR. CHAMBERLIN of Dilley is building a dwelling house.

WE have run short of capital letters for our local items having used them up in the tax list.

MR. ROBINSON took a picture of the Senior Class Tuesday.

W. D. LYMAN went up to Polk county to teach last week.

HILLSBORO NEWS.

Hillsboro May 4th 1874.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT:

I send you the following news items:

At the last meeting of the Hillsboro Lodge of I. O. G. T. the following officers were installed:

Ella Whipple, W. C. T.; Nettie Vite, W. V. T.; C. T. Tozier, W. S.; Miss A. M. Humphreys, W. A. S.; R. Moore, W. F S.; Jacob Gibson, W. T.; Mary Gault, W. I. G.; S. W. Carter, W. O. G.; Thos. D. Humphreys, W.C.; R. D. Malone, W. M.; Alice Brown, W. D. M.; S. H. Humphreys, W. R. S.; G. N. Hale, W. L. S.; Riley Cave, P.W. C. T. The Lodge is in a flourishing condition and is doing a good work here. The I. C. of R. C. also has a good working Encampment and the two orders will doubtless do much toward inculcating and teaching the principles of temperance. A protracted meeting will begin here next Saturday conducted by the Christian church. Some of the ablest ministers of that denomination will be present and doubtless will have a meeting worth attending.

Sheriff Tozier and lady left on this morning train to attend the Grand Encampment of the I C of R. C. at Salem.

Wheelock Simmons has offered the citizens of the town the use of sufficient ground for picnics and base balll purposes and other out door meetings for ten years, on consideration that we will fit up the grounds for said purposes. There will be a town meeting this evening to see what can be done in the premises, and as the ground's are adjoining the station doubtless his offer will be accepted. And with very little labor and expense we can have as fine a park as there is in the State.

County Court convened this morning. There will be considerable business.

Crops look fine. Everything indicates prosperity.

The Independents are ahead here.

As the stench has stopped every one who knows the cause asks where now is the Progressionist.

HILLSBORO ITEMS.

The following items from Hillsboro sent us for publication last week were unfortunately mislaid, but they are good anyhow and so we publish them now.

A farmer came into Hillsboro last Tuesday to do some trading, hitching his horses on one of the corners in a different place from what he had been in the habit of doing, and after doing his trading started off on a "crusade," getting pretty mellow, and in his perambulating he came around to where his team was hitched and staring at his horses a few moments he remarked "mos' 'strord'nary turnout (hic). Mus' b'long (hic) to Granger"—ha, ha, (hic), and turning on his heel went to the place where he had always tied up and not finding his team the old gentleman struck off for home afoot. Some of the boys in town took the team and followed him out about a half mile when they invited him to take a ride, which was accepted, but on finding that the team was his own he simply remarked? "Young man, give us your hand."

A stampede of some 300 head of cattle in Hillsboro Tuesday created quite a stir and a tremendous dust for a short time.

Politics has died out in Hillsboro and all is quiet on the Tualatin.

Farmers in this county declare that if the hotels in Portland do not do away with whisky bars in their houses they will quit patronizing them. "It is enough that those who want to drink have saloons to go to without having such nuisences thrust under ones nose at his Hotel." The first that starts a house without a bar gets the patronage.
