A GEM OF THE MEART.

Joy met Sorrow in a place Where the branches interlace, Very secret, still and sweet. Safe from all profaning feet. "Why art here?" Joy, startled, cried; "Why art here?" Gray Sorrow sighed.

"I came here to weep," said Joy. "Tears are ever my employ," Murmured Sorrow. "Yet I see Tears as grateful were to thee. Come, young novice and be taught How to ease thy heart o'er fraught."

Joy sat down at Sorrow's feet, And was taught a lesson sweet. Fain would he make kind return: "Sorrow, art too old to learn? Nay? Then tarry yet awhile, 'Till I've taught thee how to smile."

Since that hour the two have been Bound as by mysterious kin, Since that hour they so exchange Tears and smiles, 'tis nothing strange If sometimes a puzzled heart Scarce can tell the twain apart. -Edith M. Thomas in 'Lyrics and Sonnets.

begins 1888 with new contributors, new artists and new type, and the edi-torial staff, which has made this Periodical a power in both hemispheres, re-inforced with fresh blood and brains, thereby combining the experience and erudition of years with the vigor and freshness of youth. The Ameri-can Agriculturist keeps pace with the growing interest in agriculture largely brought about through its teachings, and continues to-day, after absorbing twenty-four other agricultural papers, to furnish the current agricultural literature where the English and German languages are spoken. Every number contains nearly 100 original illustrations and original articles from 50 different writers. Price $1.50 a year; single numbers, 15 cents.

These magnificent works of art are neither old time chromos nor ordinary engravings. The latter is an exquisite photoetching, far superior to any-thing in the market. Christ on Calvary, the companion picture, is executed for us by the Mczzograveuve process, which far surpasses any other for softness of tone, vigor of action and general superiority of execution. They are on heavy plate paper, 22x28 inches in size, forwarded, post-paid, in tubes prepared for the purpose. Price $1.00 each, both forwarded in tubes, post-paid, to one address, $1.50.
