Progress of Scandal.

My friend advised me, if ever I took a house in a terrace a little way out of town, to be very careful that it was the centre one-at least if I had any regard for my reputation; for I must be well awate that a story never loses by tell ing; and, consequently, if I lived in the middle of a row of houses, it was very clear that the tales which might be cir culated to my prejudice would only have half the distance to travel on either side of me, and therefore could only be half as bad by the time they got down to the bottom of the terrace, as the tales that might be circulated of the wretched individuals who had the misfortune to live at ilther end of it; so that I should be certain to have twice as good a character in the neighborhood as they had. For instance, I was informed of a lamentable case that actually did occur a short time since

The servant at No. 1 told the servant of No. 2 that the master expected his old friends, the Bayleys, to pay him a visit shortly; and No. 2 told No. 3 that No. 1 expected to have the Bayleys in the house every day; and No. 3 told No. 4 that it was all up with No 1, for they couldn't keep the bailiffs out; fi-h peddler in the street shouted "bull There is nothing desirable in Life In whereupon No. 4 told No. 5 that the heads ! bull heads !" to the amusement it is reported, was retained by the new the T to D.

An Irish school master recently informed his pupils that the feminine gender should always be applied to all ships and vessels afloat, except mail steamers and men-of-war.

A railroad conductor being asked why they locked the stove, said it was " to prevent the fire from going out." He would be a first class man for a New York murder jury.

An old toper, hearing it stated that the French have no W in their language, declared it was not so in fact "tor," he asked, how could they spell whiskey without a W?"

"Are the jure agreed ?" esked a judge of a court attache, whom he met on the stairs with a bucket in his hand. "Y is they have agreed to send out for a ha f gallon."

" Madam," said a pompous husband whose wife had stolen up behind him and given him a kiss, "madam, I consider such conduct an act indecorous." . Ex cuse me," retorted the wife, " I didn't know it was you."

A man in Jersey City, who had ravished a kiss from a school girl, was fined by the magistrate, horsewhip ped by the big brother, and setatehed bald-headed by his own wife. And it was not much of a kiss after all.

When a man is unable to tell the time of day by his watch, because therare two bands, and he doesn't know "which to believe," it is a tolerable sure sign that he has partaken of more refreshment than his nature requires,

Some one wishing to be witty on a lady with a large mouth, asked her ' if she had a long lease of that mouth of ters," when he was goodhumoredly answered :

" No, I have it only from year (ear) to year."

A "class-leader" recently asked a scientific student what profession he intended to follow, "Civil engineering," was the reply. "Well," remarked the class leader, " I suppose when a man gets a good engine he becomes very much attached to it."
