

LOST.

Lost to the world, and its old sweet ways
Lost in its white of rose and blue;
Remorseful thoughts of his sober days,
To be drowned in the world's din.
God shield and pity! None else can save
The poor lost wretch from a drunkard's grave.
Ah! yes; he is drunk, but I pity him so,
For he is friendless, and poor, and old;
It is warm, the rain will not chill, I know—
"Twere the same if freezing cold.
See him lying prone and helpless there,
The beating rain on his long, thin hair.
I look at his foul and bleated lips,
At his hands—oh! shameful and sad to see—
Then down at the little white hand I hold,
At the little white foot on my knee.
I know that a mother, tender and true,
Blessed the lost one's life when a baby, too.
My fingers twine in my darling's hair,
While the summer rain falls soft and still;
I look at the poor old wanderer there,
And I weep despite my will,
I weep for the mother who bared her breast,
To lull that form to its childish rest.
I know the fingers were tender as mine,
His eyes, like mine, with his golden hair—
It once was golden, I see the shine
Of its faded splendor there.
Ah! where is the hand and dear white breast,
That soothed him once to his infant rest?
Dear little eyes, so blue and deep,
Soft little hands so plump and fair—
Let me close the one to a dreamless sleep,
And fold the others where
They shall never move on earth again;
Than see them with such a shameful stain,
Mothers of earth, when we rear our sons
With such loving and tender pride,
How little we know where feet will stray,
How little we know what the world will do,
'Tis a merciful hand that holds a screen
'Twill the body from life's closing scene.

THE AGE OF MAN.

"The age of man," says the Good Book, "is three score years and ten," yet many cases are on record of men who have attained the age of one hundred, and there are instances of persons reaching one hundred and twenty to one hundred and seventy, and even to 185—the age of a Hungarian peasant named Petrich Czarny, who was born 1587 and died in 1771; Shakespeare divides life into seven stages, and men of science into four distinct periods only—Infancy, youth, maturity and decline. Some apply the term to infancy, boyhood, adolescence, virility, maturity, decline, and old age, or a state of childhood. Infancy refers to the first two years of existence, during which the first set of teeth are developed, childhood, between two and eight, when the first teeth are shed and new ones take their places; boyhood, from eight to fifteen, when a marked transition is effected; adolescence, from fifteen to twenty-one; manhood culminates at forty-five or forty eight. From that time, although the mind retains and even increases its power, still the body begins to lose its energy, and gradually declines through the descending scale of maturity to old age. Women are more precocious than men, and yet the average duration of life exceeds to the fact that they are less exposed to accident and danger in the common course of events consequent to our daily vocations, and more extreme cases of female longevity are recorded.—Golden City.

A BELL SEVEN HUNDRED YEARS OLD FISHED UP.—An Irish paper states that as three men were poling a boat along the Abbe River, County of Limerick, on Saturday August 19th, the pole which they were using stuck in the bottom of the river, and for a time their united exertions failed to extricate it. At last they succeeded, when to their astonishment they discovered that it was an enormously large metal bell, which remained suspended to it, and which they got into the boat. The bell, which weighs about twelve stone, bore some inscriptions which has not as yet been deciphered. On a close inspection it was, however, found that it bore the date 1181 and is supposed to have belonged to St. Mary's Cathedral and to have been thrown into the river during the siege of Limerick.

IMPUDENT QUESTIONS.—To ask an unmarried lady how old she is.
To ask a lawyer if he ever told a lie.
To ask a doctor how many persons he has killed.
To ask a minister whether he ever did anything very wrong.
To ask a merchant whether he has ever cheated a customer.
To ask a young lady whether she should like a beau.
To ask an editor the name of any of his correspondents.
To ask a subscriber if he has paid the printer.

Four scoundrels on Smiths Island Pa. induced a girl to drink six glasses of beer and attempted an outrage, but failed. They then left her and started off. A second attack was made, and one of the men placed his hands over her mouth to prevent her screaming, when she bit two of his fingers off, and has them to show her friends.
Those who are not easy at home will not find enjoyment anywhere else. The man who yawns at his own fireside will only lacerate his jugular if he goes to a crowded city. Happiness is an internal arrangement, and if it don't bloom at home, it won't flower anywhere. To undertake to run away from ennui, is as futile as to attempt to run away from death.

"Why, Tom, my dear fellow, how old you look?" "Dare say, Bob, for the fact is I never was so old before in my life."
No people under the heavens can excel the Americans in the manly art of sitting on a bench and seeing eighteen men play ball.

An Irish school master recently informed his pupils that the feminine should always be applied to all ships and vessels afloat, except mail steamers and men-of-war.
"Gentlemen," said a publican to his guests at midnight, "I don't know whether you have talked enough or not, but as for myself, I am going to shut up."

"What do they call this sort of wool mohair, I see like to know." "Dat isn't wool, honey; dat dare kim off a goat and dey call it mohair caze a goat have mo' hair dan a sheep."
Grasshoppers having been a long time a plague to man, now have a plague of their own. It is a sort of reduced flea. They have not yet been interviewed as to how they like it.

A music dealer on Broadway has in his window a sentimental song thus marked: "Thou hast loved me and left me, for 25 cents." This is certainly the cheapest kind of divorce.

An honest country parson, who, in the time of a great drouth, was desired to pray for rain, answered: "I'll willingly do it to oblige you, but it is to no purpose while the wind is in this quarter."

An Iowa husband came home drunk and said he had been on a "bear hunt." His wife didn't believe him, and said he had been out with some female. "No I ain't," said he, "I can prove that I have been to the tavern all day."

Younger brother—"What's the matter Mary? Are you unhappy because neither of those fellows you were flirting with at the croquet yesterday proposed to you?" Mary—"No; both did, Tom! And—I said 'yes' to the wrong one!"

The Boston Post having ventured to express the belief that "it is wrong to fly to one extreme to correct another," the New York Commercial Advertiser hastens to reply that "every disobedient pig-headed urchin in the land will endorse that sentiment."

Another trunk mystery, according to the Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) Eagle, has been brought to light. A trunk in a Hudson river baggage car, strongly tied with ropes, emitted an offensive odor, which excited the suspicion of the baggage master. He accordingly, with the aid of a Poughkeepsie detective had the ropes cut, when, instead of an other gasty corps, the trunk was found to be full of Limburger cheese.

One of the last words introduced prominently to the public is "adumbrating." It is defined to mean the "indivualism of preliminary and precipitant prognostication, as eliminated in the irregularity of never finishing and never to yield an-inching discomberation of spontaneous combustion, whether or not, and an evincing antediluvian indisibilities, cotemporaneously elucidated by unregenerating consanguinity when sycoelephantical and scintillating approximately to scientific elaboration."

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND FLUID

Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Elixir Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, &c. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

These Pills are the most pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, nuxesia, &c. There is nothing more agreeable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear astonishing to the weak and enervated. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated; sugar-coated Pills pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated, and are prepared according to Pharmacy and Chemistry, and are not Patent Medicines.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

DR. PIERCE'S ALTERNATIVE GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Croup, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties it cures all Humors from the worst Scrophulous, Sore Throat, Pimple or Eruption, Mercurial Diseases, Mineral poisons, Syphilitic and Venereal Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine. For "Liver Complaint," Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation, it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $100 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my Government Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is sold by Druggists at one dollar per bottle. Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., sole Proprietor, at his chemical Laboratory, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. June 3d, 1870.
