

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention for the State of Oregon will be held at the city of Portland at 11 A. M. of Wednesday the 20th day of March, 1872, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Member of Congress, six delegates to the National Republican Convention to be held at Philadelphia, June 5th, 1872, three Presidential Electors, and for the transaction of such other business as may be thought proper.

The several counties will be entitled to delegates in the Convention as follows:

Table listing delegates from various counties: Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Clatsop, Coos, Curry, Columbia, Douglas, Grant, Jackson, Josephine, Lane, Lincoln, Marion, Multnomah, Polk, Tillamook, Union, Washington, Wasco, Yamhill.

The State Central Committee recommends that the several counties hold their primary election on Saturday, March 2d, and their county conventions for selection of delegates to the State Convention, on Saturday March 9th 1872.

T. B. ODENEAL, Chairman State Central Committee. C. P. CRANDALL, Secretary SALEM, Feb. 1. 1872.

Swindling.

The Democracy make a great deal of fuss about the defalcations of the Woods administration, and yet when we compare that with the present administration, it is very easy to see a strong balance in favor of the former.

The deficits of Ex Secretary May amount at the utmost to only $14,000—this, through the perfidy of one man, and not the acts of a whole executive administration. The villainous acts of one man in a party ought not to be held up as an example of the entire party.

How does the deficit of the Woods administration, however, dwindle into insignificance when compared to the gigantic swindle perpetrated by the present party in power? Take, for example, the single act of the Luck Bill.

When it was decided to build the locks at the Willamette Falls, which was all legitimate and what no one would object to, instead of letting the contract to the lowest bidder, as is customary in such cases, they put the job into the hands of sworn friends of the dominant party, at a great sacrifice to the State.

The People's Transportation Company proffered to build the locks for the sum of $125,000. Nobody questioned the reliability of the company. They had been doing business on the Willamette River for a series of years, and had so conducted themselves that they had secured the confidence of the entire public.

In putting the contract into their hands, Grover & Co. could have rested firm in the belief that the job would have been done in good style, and within the specified time. But what does the sequel show? Instead of doing that, the contract was let by Grover & Co. for the sum of $200,000.

Seventy five thousand dollars more was given for the construction of the works than the P. T. Co. had asked—more than six times the amount of the entire deficit of the Woods party was thus drawn from the people by executive sanction and authority.

A DEMOCRAT'S EXPECTATION.

During the debate in the House of Representatives of Illinois, on the military occupation of Chicago, Hon. Wm. R. Morrison, a life-long Democrat, and one whose loyalty to that cause cannot be questioned, startled the House by a declaration, which was as unexpected as it was extreme. He said:

"I expect to vote for a Republican for the office of President of the United States next November. I do not think it will be one of the class the Republican majority of this House would like. I do not expect to vote for a Republican whose acts the majority of this House dare not have investigated before the country; but I do expect, and I mean what I say, if I am afforded an opportunity, to vote for a Republican for President, and also for a Republican for Governor of the State of Illinois, and I also expect when I do so to do it with the Democracy. I am in earnest about this. I may be mistaken, but this is my belief."

Such were the words of Mr. Morrison—few but pointed—characteristic of the man who has stood unflinchingly by the Democracy through its various vicissitudes, but who, breaking the lines which have hitherto bound parties, comes out openly and boldly and declares his intentions to support men devoted to principle, and who will carry out the best interests of the people. We expect to see more of the same kind. Ere the next Presidential election, we expect to see hundreds of lifelong Democrats—those who have been true and tried, break party shackles, and vote for men and principles. This is the only way our Government can be safely conducted.

A DEMOCRAT'S OPINION OF GRANT.

Occasionally we find, even in politics, a generous mind which is willing to do justice to an adversary. It will, no doubt, be encouraging to all Republicans, and not a little disheartening to some Democrats, to know that President Grant has at least one opponent who is willing to do him justice. Hon. Robert Roosevelt, Democratic member of Congress from the Fourth District, New York, and editor of the Citizen, in speaking of General Grant's ability, shows the same independent, manly spirit which has characterized him in all his actions, both public and private. He says:

"It is a mistaken idea of some persons to belittle Gen. Grant's ability—to run down his qualifications, and to underrate his mental requirements. President Grant is one of the shrewdest managers of the day, not only as a leader in the war, to which he gave a favorable turn, but as a manipulator in politics he has shown remarkable skill. The rebels continually took the same view that the Democrats are taking now, and denounce this Union General as an ignoramus, every time he won a victory over them; and the more effectually he crushed their armies, the more clearly they proved that he was utterly incompetent as a military commander, and entirely unequal to the task which he had assumed."

As to the exercise of the powers conferred upon the President and his exercise of those powers, as well as the folly of misrepresentation, Mr. Roosevelt says:

"The President uses the powers conferred upon him with a wisdom and discretion which are sure to effect the end in view. It is one of the greatest follies to underrate an adversary. The defeat of the Republican party can never be brought about by contemptuous revilings of its candidate."

Here is something for the opponents of Grant to contemplate. Coming from the high source it does, it can but have some influence, even among the most bitter of the President's opponents.

Capt. Robert C. Fay, an old citizen of Washington Territory, died at his residence on Whidby's Island, last week. He was an Indian Agent for many years.

The bark Zephyr was wrecked on the 12th ult., near Mayne Island, and the captain and one seaman drowned.

Nine prisoners escaped from the Carson jail on the morning of the 11th of March.

THE "LET ALONE POLICY."

"The simple fact is, these Ku Klux organizations, so called, are local associations in the State; and if the members disturb the peace or outrage the laws in the communities in which they exist, it is the business of the local authorities to bring them to justice."—Herald.

True to its party and former teachings, the Herald is teaching the old "let us alone policy." When the war was brewing, the papers both North and South which favored the rebellion promulgated the same sentiments taught in the above extract. When the Government forces undertook to suppress insurrection, these papers set up a howl of indignation, saying that those were local matters, and should be governed by local law. Now, as then, the opposers of the Government are combining together to menace its power. They have full control of the local tribunals, have the local officials under their whole control; and when they choose to commit any depredations, feel safe in so doing, knowing that no local tribunal will interfere with them. The only way to stop this is manifestly for Congress to take the matter in hand and make such regulations as will insure to the peaceably inclined citizens of the South peace and quiet.

CORRESPONDENCE.

LEWISVILLE, March 11, 1872. EDITOR REPUBLICAN.

Sir: Occasionally in passing through the county, I find matters worthy of note, and now I have found a monster in the condition of the roads. Between Dallas and the mountain road of Shrader & Co there is not a culvert or bridge belonging to the road that is passable. I am credibly informed that portions of the county road in this section have had nothing done in the shape of repairs for three years. A petition was sent to the Hon. County Court last summer for aid to construct a bridge known as the Waymire bridge in dist. No. 13. The Court very generously (?) informed the citizens that it would furnish the lumber at the mill, and the citizens could do the rest. Now the same Court paid the sum of $300 last summer in an adjoining dist., and all the residents had to do was to cover it. The people are anxious to have good roads, and are willing to be assessed to pay for them; and they also claim that the Court should grant them the same privileges granted to others. Messrs. Shrader & Co. have a new wheel in their mill, and design, as soon as the roads are passable, to procure a planer, after which time they will have first quality of lumber, dressed and undressed, for sale cheap.

Yours, CELSUS.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

Sir,—Allow me to present, through the columns of your paper, a few reasons for signing a remonstrance against a license for retailing intoxicating drinks: 1st. Because a licensed shop is the primary department for educating drunkards. The music, papers, pictures, and other attractions which the vendor continues to display about the entrance of his door to ruin, entices the unsuspecting, either young or old, within his grasp, when he is induced to taste the ingenious preparation that starts the victim on the road to ruin. The more respectable and attractive the institution, the more potent for evil, and the more pernicious and fatal the result.

2d. A license will increase the sale of strong drink, as many will buy a drink who would not buy a bottle; and the first dram will excite the appetite to indulge in many more. It a license prohibited the sale of liquor by the bottle, there would be a shadow of reason for granting it, but such is not the case. Those who think it economy to buy by the bottle, still have the privilege of doing so. Hence, by a license the facilities and inducements for drinking are increased.

3d. A license gives countenance and respectability to the traffic. It encourages and emboldens the vendor, not only by the sanction of the law, but likewise by the satisfaction of knowing that he has the approval of the citizens of the precinct in which he holds forth (that is if he honestly obtains a legal majority in it). The man who signs a petition for a license gives his influence in support of intemperance; and as much may be said of the man who refuses to sign a remonstrance. The difference is in degree, not in kind. It may well be said, whosever is not in favor of intemperance is opposed to it. Then, if a license does encourage and increase drinking, which it does it seems no candid and intelligent man can deny, the inference is that every man who signs a petition for a license, or refuses to sign a remonstrance against a license, must have an axe to grind. Is there any escaping the conclusion that such men would be accommodated by a retail shop, or are afraid that they will offend some one whom such a shop would accommodate? or that they fear they will injure a secular business in which they feel more interest than in the human race? G. D.

State Items.

[Gleanings from State Exchanges.]

Albany has only 4 saloons. J. R. Simpson, has erected a new warehouse in Lafayette.

Joseph Moirt of Linn county, has a flock of Angora goats. A swan was killed near Albany last week which measured 7 feet.

The Senator has been drawn off the route between Oregon City and Portland. A sailor named Thomas Goodlet was drowned in the river at Portland last Thursday.

The Courier states that a patent has been issued by the Government to the site of Lafayette. A few days ago Miss Laura McIlree died very suddenly at Corvallis while sitting in a chair by the fire.

The upper floor of the O. S. N. Co's. warehouse in Portland fell with a crash last Friday. No one injured.

There are four hundred and forty school children at the Dalles. The number of each sex is precisely equal. John Fleming, Esq. of Oregon City has been elected an honorary member of the Oregon Pioneer Association.

The body of young Yocum, drowned a few days ago in the river at Salem, had not at last reports been found. Mr. John Stewart of Benton county, lost $6,000 last Monday by having his house burned. Insured for $3,000.

There are no means of protection against fire at Eugene, and the Journal urges that a fire company be formed at once.

The new saw mill at the mouth of Rogue river is in active operation, but finds it difficult to keep on hand a supply of logs.

Captain L. N. English, living nine miles southeast of Silverton, has lost during the past winter eight head of horses by the blind stagers.

The jail of Washington county has been empty for six months, and there is no indication of any one taking up an abode in it till next fair time. Forty seven feet of Tape worm was ejected from a young man's stomach in Eugene one day last week, caused by taking an overdose of whiskey.

Ex-Governor Gibbs proposes, if he can legally, to hold the office's, both of U. S. District Attorney, and the Prosecuting Attorney of the Multnomah district.

Mr. Hallet, contractor on the railroad, is taking fifty head of horses from Umpqua to use on the Northern Pacific Railroad, where he also has a heavy contract. In Portland last Friday, a man named Garry attempted to "carve" himself up in proper style to enter the next world, but was prevented by some of his associates.

In a row, at Canyon City, Grant county, a few days ago, Joseph Oldfield was stabbed in eight or nine places by "Dad" Akers. It is believed that the wounds are not mortal.

Mr. James M. Bates now comes forward and claims that he is the "oldest inhabitant in Oregon." He now lives in Jefferson; was born in Washington D. C. in 1809, and came to Oregon in 1829. The Oregon Central Railroad Co., are preparing to build machine shops and other buildings at Junction City. Real estate is consequently on the rise, and prospects for the future are flattering.

In Lane county our Democratic brethren who want office and want to get their competitors out of the way are writing letters for those competitors, withdrawing them from the field. This shows great fertility of expedient. On Thursday evening five prisoners made their escape from the Lane county jail. General jail delivery has become so common in Linn and Lane counties that it is proposed up there to get a lot of lariats and "stake out" prisoners on the grass for safe keeping.

Messrs. Peter Scholl, J. M. Fryer and A. C. Gibbs have associated themselves under articles of incorporation for the purpose of constructing a wagon road from Yamhill county to Tillamook bay. The capital stock is fixed at $2,500, in shares of $25 each. The principal business office is located at Portland.

From the Portland papers we learn that Henry Denlinger, lost quite a number of cows from their eating wild parsnip.—Hon. T. B. Odeneal has submitted his bonds to Judge Deady, who will formally approve them.—The surveys of the Portland and Washington county Plank Roads to Centerville and Forest Grove via Hillsboro, will be commenced soon. Washington correspondence of the Eugene Journal gives this: Rev. father Mesplie, a Catholic priest, arrived here last week from Idaho. He favors the removal of the Umatilla Indians to Fort Hall, and wants Major Berry to remain in that agency as the representative of the Catholics, but is willing to let the Methodists have Grand Ronde, lately transferred to the Catholics by the removal of Mr. Dyar and the appointment of Mr. Sinnott. He is also dissatisfied with the removal of Mr. Meachem.

THE HOUSE WE LIVE IN

AND THE INHABITANTS OF THE HUMAN BODY, WORMS.

The cause of a great many diseases that have been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, for the very reason that they overlooked the cause, and as Dr. Van Den Bergh has made the Entozoa a life long study, he would inform the sick generally that by close observation and great experiments he has come to the conclusion that there are more acute and chronic diseases caused by Worms, Hydatids, Animalcules or other species of Entozoa. The public generally, or the profession at large, are not aware of the number of patients who are treated by eminent physicians for this, that, or such a complaint, without any relief. If the disease had been understood, a few doses of Dr. V's Soreceign Worm Remedy would have immediately cured the complaint and have saved a great many lives.

Inhabitants of the Human Body!

What think you, reader, of your body being a planet, inhabited by living races, as we inhabit the earth? Whatever may be your thoughts on the subject, it is a fact. Your body may be but a home for parasites that crawl all over the surface, burrow beneath the skin, nestle in its entrails, and riot and propagate their kind in every corner of its frame.

The following is from the San Francisco Bulletin, of January 26th, 1872—a recent date:

Carl Martins recently died in Cleveland, Ohio, from eating meat affected with the Oca of Tanaxia Solium. At the Coroner's Inquest, on Tuesday, January 24, it was shown that three weeks before Christmas, Martins purchased a carcass of pork. Some of the meat was eaten the same day, and some was made into sausage. About ten days later he died in great agony. His body was taken sick, Martins died on Sunday Dec. 31st, 1871. Mrs. Martins and her two children are now very sick, and the former is not likely to recover. The verdict was in accordance with the facts. For further particulars, see Cleveland, Ohio, papers of the above date. A Coroner's Inquest brought this fact to light.

Now I would ask how many more such deaths an inquest would bring to light? Ponder well, reader, upon this, and think of the thousands that die every year, and no cause can be assigned for their death. Now the question that would naturally enter the mind of the reader is, what shall I do? The advice of the Doctor would be to go to some one that is competent of treating such complaints. And who is there more competent than the one that has made Worms a specialty.

TENIAS.—Yesterday, Dr. Van Den Bergh exhibited to us a number of parasites which had been removed from persons afflicted. There were several different species, one of which appears to be entirely unknown to the medical profession. This new Tania is shaped something like an orange seed, but perfectly flat, or rather like a cucumber seed, with a tail about a quarter of an inch in length. Another was a tape worm 87 cent in length, and consisted of 7,600 joints. Among medical men there exists no little difference of opinion relative to the origin of these Entozoa. One class of writers believe that these parasites, or at least many of them, originate in the environment of animal molecules with vitality from the parent body, favored by certain states of the vital forces of that body; the states originating their organization and promoting their growth and propagation. That all descriptions of entozoa are not with far more frequently classed as animal food, is not in great abundance is an indisputable fact, especially where the food is the flesh of the "unclean beasts," which the Jews and Mohammedans are forbidden to partake of. But our intention is not to write a thesis on this subject; we only wish to chronicle the fact that Dr. J. W. Van Den Bergh has found a medicine—a simple vegetable, which grows in abundance in California, which is a dead shot to all entozoa, of whatever description, generally accomplishing its object in from an hour and a half to six hours.—Morning Call.

Had we space here, hundreds of testimonials could be produced testifying to the truth of the assertions that have been made, but it would be useless, and would occupy the reader's time. The following are some of the diseases that Worms are often mistaken for: Dyspepsia, Chronic Affections of the Liver and Kidneys, Consumption, White Swelling, Palsy, Spasmodic Epilepsy or Local weakness, Nervous Debility, Epileptic Fits, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Diarrhoea, Incontinence of Urine, Gravel, Flor Albus, Diabetes, Dropsy, &c.

Dr. V. would advise those ladies troubled with very Irregularities of the Uterus to try his new remedies and get cured. Dr. Van Den Bergh's Infallible Worm Syrup for children. Warranted to expel the worms, Price $1. Sent everywhere upon receipt of price. Dr. J. W. Van Den Bergh's Hair Tonic—a sure cure to destroy all animalcules of the hair follicles, prevents falling out, and promotes the growth of the hair. Price $1 50. Warranted.

By Consulting and Undergoing a SIMPLE EXAMINATION The afflicted can learn if their disease is caused by Worms or not; at all events, Dr. Van Den Bergh can tell them from what disease they are suffering.

Symptoms of Worms,

Alternate paleness and flushing of the countenance, dull expression of the eyes, drowsiness, itching of the nose, a swelled upper lip, tongue whitely furred and thickly speckled with red points, fetid breath, an enlarged abdomen, a partial or general swelling of puffiness of the skin, a starting in the sleep and grinding of the teeth, a sensation as if something was lodged in the throat, a gradual wasting of the flesh, sickness of the stomach, vomiting, a short and dry cough, appetite sometimes voracious, at other times feeble, bowels sometimes constive, at other times loose, great fretfulness and irritability of temper, pains in the stomach and bowels, colic, fits, convulsions and palsy.

If the Worm Syrup is not to be had in your town, send orders to the manufacturers, and it will be sent to any address. Direct orders to Dr. J. W. Van Den Bergh, P. O. Box 172, Salem, Oregon.

Letters describing the symptoms will be promptly answered, and persons living at a distance will be saved the expense and trouble of calling upon the Doctor.
