

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS FOR 1872.

For President, U. S. GRANT. For Vice-President, SCHUYLER COLFAX. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, A. B. Meacham, of Umatilla County, W. D. Hale, of Washington County, Jas. F. Gazeley, of Douglas County.

For Congress, JOSEPH G. WIDSON, Of Wasco County.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY, N. B. Humphrey, of Linn.

Notice!

The Nominees of the two contending parties will discuss the political issues of the day at the following times and places:

Democratic History Repeating Itself.

The excitement of the present canvass in Oregon seems to be a counterpart of that which took place in Washington Territory in 1869—on the occasion of Seclusius Garfield's first election to Congress. At that time the center of attraction was Vancouver, and now the same center is at the Locks at Oregon City.

His speech at this place was the same that he makes every place, it being the only one he possesses, contained nothing but attempted vindication of the atrocious and damnable frauds perpetrated upon this State through him and his party, and in his attempt to clear his fair name (God save the mark) he only made bad matters worse.

In 1869, one S. M. Fletcher, of Vancouver, came near losing his life for attempting to pursue a course which he thought to his interest and that of his country. Others have been similarly situated. Now we learn from the Portland dailies that J. L. Hallett, contractor on the North Pacific Railroad, induced by a call from several men who were at work on the canal at Oregon City, but were satisfied neither with their situation nor wages, to come there to hire hands to work for him.

Where, Oh where is Horace Greeley?—On the Tariff question. O. SHAW!—We learn by private letter that Mr. Shaw, nominee for Prosecuting Attorney on the Democratic ticket, for this district, has been in Albany subsidizing the saloons, and patronizing them very liberally to get their influence. A man who will resort to that to get votes is not fit to receive the support of a respectable constituency.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Moskoun, May 17, 1872. ED. REPUBLICAN: The County Lodge of Polk County, No. 8, met in the Good Templar Hall, and was called to order by Asa Shreve, W.C.T. The WS and his record being both absent, calling the roll and reading the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with. T. Pearce, A. L. Chittwood, G. W. Teller, J. Long, R. C. Warriner, Mary A. Teller, and A. Butler were admitted to membership. T. Pearce was appointed WS, pro tem.

can. Bury beneath the shades of oblivion any man or set of men who will attempt to thwart the will, or injure the interests of the general public. After this is done, and we reach a point where we may safely say we are a free people, let us carefully guard that freedom, and, pointing to the fate of those who have attempted to overthrow it, Sic Semper Tyrannis shall be the implied if not the expressed sentiment of every one.

Got An Elephant.

It now seems that the May embroglio is about to be a more serious affair for the Democracy than they at first anticipated. The little trick which they wished to play for political effect, is about to get the better of them, and the dilemma is too serious to be a joke to them; the great and all absorbing question is, how can they get out of it?

They advertised the fact that they were going to arrest him; This was done in order to give coloring to the affair, thinking that May would become cognizant of their movements and escape, thus leaving them to glory over his defections and departure with the people's money, and make political capital out of the entire transaction. This he did not see fit to do, and they were compelled to arrest him and bring him from his office to Oregon at a cost of several thousand dollars of the people's money.

After he was brought to Salem he preferred to lie in jail rather than ask his friends to go his bail to insure his liberty. The Democracy, however, took pity (?) on him, spite of his many transgressions, and gave surety in order to let him go. But he didn't go. He yet remains to see the last of the show. Last week a move was made to lessen his bonds, so as to allow him to go home and attend to his business.

Query—Does the Democracy see that this foolishness in sending for him on such flimsy charges is about to react to their own detriment, and are for that reason anxious to get rid of him?

Do they see that their rash act in this matter is about to bring them into disrepute, that they are thus anxious to change the programme? Do they see that their little scheme which they concocted for political effect is about to be generally understood, and are doubly anxious to get rid of him? There are elephants in political lotteries as well as other kinds, and we opine the Democracy will find they have drawn one in this instance.
