The Election.

Next Monday the voters of this State will be called upon to declare which o the two contending parties shall be allowed to manage the affairs of the State of Oregon for the next two years. The impertance of prompt and close attention to these matters need hardly be referred to, as we opine every citizen of the State is fully alive to that. To the citizens of Polk county, more partieularly, would we speak, as their interests are more directly united with ours The ticket put out by the Republican party is one which each citizen, whether Republican or Democrat, may justly feel proud. We hear of no disatisfaction. From one end of the county to the other we hear an unanimous endorsement of the Republican nominees. The battle, let it be remembered, is always to the vigilant, the active, and let it not be said that any member of the Republican party shrank from the duty devolving upon him. Let each and every one come up to the work and hurl from | in our state, and it but remains for the power that party which has shown such friends of the cause to stand firm to utter disregard of the people's rights and the people's interests. Let us send men to the next Legislature who will be governed only by a desire to further the interests of their constituents, in- fices to be filled in the coming election stead of trying to feather their own nests and fill their own pockets. Let us put men in our County Offices, who | phrey, is a man well qualified for the we know will manage our home matters responsible position which he aspires to honestly and efficiently. Who will fall. A man of acknowledged ability guard the well being of each and every as a prosecutor, and thoroughly relicitizens with watchful care, manage the able. We have confidence enough in the honest voters of this State to believe that they will respond in this matter, and that the dawn of the 4th of June will inaugurate a new era in the political history of our State which shall be recorded as one of honesty and efficiency in the management of affairs of State.

To Voters .- Do not barter a Republican vote in exchange for an opponent. At no time since 1866 has the prospects been brighter than now, and by a small majority we may carrythe county in favor of the Republicans, by close application to our duties as voters. Be on your guard. Watch closely the actions of the enemy, and frustrate their villainous trickery. Stand firm by your party, and success is certain.

REFLECT .-- Young men who are to cast their first vote on Monday next, cannot do better than to take both party records and compare them Weigh each act, ponder upon the merits and demerits of each, and come to a fair, unbiased understanding, Then go and vote. We have no fear as to the results of the investigation-The Republican ticket will be your choice.

Words of Cheer.

There never was a time in the whole gave more encouragement to all earnest which so affects the vital interests of the public more than the question of Temperance. Drunkenness is our National curse. Intemperance the principal cause of crime committed, and it is estimated that three fourths of all the tax which the people are compelled to pay arises directly or indirectly from this one cause. This being the case, does it not come directly home to every one to take an active interest in this matter from a selfish motive, if no other.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars at its last regular meeting, passed a resolution recommending to the members of the Order the policy of supporting none but temperance men for political offices, regardless of party ties. This sentiment was echoed by the State Temperance Convention which met a few days afterwards, and also by the State Temperance Alliance, which met in Salem in February last. The influence of these demonstrations, of temperance has far surpassed the expectations of the most sanguine. The political parties have not dared to wholly ignore the demands of the temperance element

The Prosecuting Attorney.

Among the most important of the ofis that of Prosecuting Attorney. The Republican Nominee, Capt. N. B. Huma citizen, he stands high; as an attorney, his ability is acknowledged even by his opponents; as a man, his reputation is untarnished by a blot of calumny or reproach. With these requisites he comes before you for your suffrages for the high and responsible position of Prosecuting Attorney. We say responsible, for the reason that the capture and condemnation of criminals, dangerous to the lives and property of citizens, depends upon his exertions, and it is meet that we have an Attorney who can and will attend to them and see that they meet their deserts.

Speaking.

HON. JOHN F. CAPLES, followed Williams, and made an excellent speech, in which were many happy hits. Mr. C. is too well known to need any praise. He always gets the best of an argument wherever he goes. In the evening,

HON. P C. SULLIVAN, spoke his piece in answer to Williams. We were informed during the day, that be had flopped over to the Democracy: and we listened for thirty minutes to his ravings and then came to the conclusion that he had got lost and instead of being in the Democratic party, he was making desperate efforts to find history of the temperance reform that it. His speech was a tirade of abuse against Williams and Holladay, and the a lyocates of that movement, than the only difference between him and Greepresent. Well, his speech is a long one, if there is nothing in it, and if a man desires to kill time he should hear the Hon. Gentleman make his straddle-fence speech.

IVESTIGATION .- For some time past suspicions of fraud have been indulged in concerning the management of the Methodist Book Concern of New York. The matter was placed in the hands of a Committee, who report as follows: New York, May 28 .- The special committee appointed by the General Confernce to investigate the charge against the Methodist book concern, vesterday by the Chairman of the sub-committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the bindery department, and reported the accounts in a most disgraceful condition. The explosion might have been dangerous to that fleet, as the charge was heavy, had the timbers of the old hulk been good oak, but they were of Oregon balm, and so water-soaked and rotten that they crumbled to dust, immediately upon the ignition of the magazine. day, about 10 o'clock A. M., a man named John Long, while engaged in blasting rocks at the Willamette Falls, met with a very severe accident, which may result fatally. He had just completed tamping the bla t with fine particles of stone, adjusted the fuse and ignited one end. Before he could fairly get from over the drill hole the fire was transmitted through about nine feet of fuse, and the blast went off. Long was blown about six feet from the ground, and fell backward among some sharp-pointed stones. His head was severely cut with a sharp corner, and his shoulders badly bruised. The entire centents of the blast was blown into his face, which it badly burned, and lacerated to a frightful extent by the tragment of rock. It is feared that his sight has been totally destroyed.
