Soft falls through the gathering twilight, The rain from the dripping eaves, And stirs with a tremulous rustle...

A Huge Air Ship.

Samuel A. King, the celebrated aeronaut of this city, is about completing the construction of a monster balloon, which, in point of size, will outstrip anything of its kind ever brought into actual use in this country.

The body of the balloon is a perfect sphere, except that there is the usual elongation on the lower side of the neck. Its circumference is 191 feet and its capacity is nearly 100,000 cubic feet.

Suspended to a net work of strong cords will be two cars. The upper one is intended for scientific observations, and will be fitted up for scientific instruments and for the accommodation of observers.

A Newfoundland dog is a good thing to have only one must get one or two children and a pond before he will be of any use.

While the Colossus has a capacity of nearly 100,000 cubic feet, the General Grant, with which Mr. King has made many ascensions here and elsewhere, holds only 15,000 cubic feet.
