

NOMINATIONS FOR 1872. THE BANNER WE FIGHT UNDER.

For President, HORACE GREELEY, OF NEW YORK. For Vice-President, B. GRATZ BROWN, OF MISSOURI.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS. E. D. SHATTUCK, of Multnomah Co. GEORGE HELM, of Linn county. H. H. GATES, of Wasco county.

"ACCEPT YOUR NOMINATION IN THE CONFIDENT TRUST THAT THE BASSES OF OUR COUNTRYMEN, NORTH AND SOUTH, ARE EAGER TO CLASP HANDS ACROSS THE BLOODY CHASM WHICH HAS TOO LONG DIVIDED US. I FORGETTING THAT THEY HAVE BEEN ENEMIES IN THE JOYFUL CONSCIOUSNESS THAT THEY ARE AND MUST HENCEFORTH REMAIN BROTHERS." HORACE GREELEY

THE LOUISVILLE RIZZLE.

The agony is over. The Straight Outs, under the command of Grant's lackey, Blather-kite Duncan have met in convention and demonstrated to the Radicals the utter helplessness of their efforts to demoralize the great Liberal Democratic party.

"Praise god from whom all blessings flow. The amusing feature connected with the mingling together of the different elements, 'black spirits and white,' was their utter failure to carry a single point in the program laid down by their guidance by the Grant electioneering party.

THE HERO, ULYSSES.

A FABLE.

1. And there was great strife in the land for the beasts of the field, and of the valley and of the mountain were at variance and there was war in those days. 2. Now a certain hog, named Ulysses, was very valiant, and became famous and slow witted. Howbeit, he got slain at Shilo, but not unto death.

3. And it came to pass after those days that there was peace; for Ulysses said, Let us have peace, and there was peace—in a hour. 4. Moreover, the beasts wanted a ruler, for there was great confusion.

5. Now Ulysses was good for nothing, and he was slow witted, but he was valiant, and he was a Democrat of whom they could hear. The pimps of his illustrious incompetency felt proud of their work and anxiously awaited the result at Louisville.

6. Things cannot have gone smoothly with the Clerical Editor of the Albany Register, at Conference. His heavy newspaper has been ruffled, and he goes after the LIBERAL REPUBLICAN. The only wonder existing in our minds is that the very types don't burst their sides laughing at Van and that potent action press take him in and mangle him—he is such an idiot.

THE LIBERALS.

The Liberal Republican party of the nation is the true exponent of national unity, universal liberty and perfect equality. It is true, its leaders have not followed the Radicals in the extreme views taken by them on vital questions, yet their consistency challenges alike the wonder and admiration of the world.

That the Liberal Republican party has the strongest ground for believing they represent the genuine Republican sentiment, no one can be so foolishly as to deny. The men who inaugurated Reform at Cincinnati, were the founders of the Republican party. Through obloquy, personal danger and evil report Charles Sumner and the great men acting with him, like Lyman

Every day brings new accessions to the Liberal ranks, and there is every indication that Greeley will be elected by a larger majority than any candidate ever received in the nation. The Democrats and Liberals standing as they do on the same platform, have already convinced the Grantites that defeat most certainly awaits them and that corrupt and demagogical party drunk with the spoils of the nation, is making superhuman efforts to retrieve its lost fortunes.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

ED REPUBLICAN.

The present political condition of our country demands the careful and unprejudiced consideration of every honest man. Never since the formation of the government, has there existed such a profane and dishonourable administration of its affairs as exists at the present time.

One of these candidates, Grant, has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. We would, therefore, like to see you, and I to our own interest to quit contact with such a four years' lease of power. His second election to power would be the signal of the overthrow of liberty, and the reaction upon its ruins of a military despotism with the sword as the scepter of authority.

N was a word to Democrats. You are deeply interested in the President's election; you all express a great indignation at a continuance of military rule in the South, you all stand aloof at the corruption manifest in every department of the government; you give utterance to your sympathies for a down-trodden people, who have no escape from the iron rule forced upon them, except by a change of administration; you conscientiously complain of the exorbitant taxes levied upon you by reckless and profligate Radical officials; and you deplore the unhappy condition of our country.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Moskour, Sept. 1872.

ED REPUBLICAN.

The present political condition of our country demands the careful and unprejudiced consideration of every honest man. Never since the formation of the government, has there existed such a profane and dishonourable administration of its affairs as exists at the present time.

One of these candidates, Grant, has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. We would, therefore, like to see you, and I to our own interest to quit contact with such a four years' lease of power. His second election to power would be the signal of the overthrow of liberty, and the reaction upon its ruins of a military despotism with the sword as the scepter of authority.

N was a word to Democrats. You are deeply interested in the President's election; you all express a great indignation at a continuance of military rule in the South, you all stand aloof at the corruption manifest in every department of the government; you give utterance to your sympathies for a down-trodden people, who have no escape from the iron rule forced upon them, except by a change of administration; you conscientiously complain of the exorbitant taxes levied upon you by reckless and profligate Radical officials; and you deplore the unhappy condition of our country.

Now what do you propose to do to remedy the evils growing out of such a state of affairs? We have witnessed the Democracy of the United States in representative convention assembled, and have heard the denigration from that convention that Horace Greeley is the man of all others calculated to bring order out of chaos, and restore those fraternal relations which should exist between the people and the different States of this Union.

You say that Greeley has been a life-long enemy of the Democracy; that he has said and done more bitter and hard things against us than any other living man. But has he democracy never said anything against the personal or political character of Greeley? Has he not been denounced by them as the arch-enemy of the Union? What has become of the first never to be recalled? Brooding our party in moities and bitter parties, strife will never heal the wounds of a generation thereby. Let the past, with all its bitter recollections, be buried in oblivion. Let us take heed of the present, and not ourselves to changing circumstances, progress and work with a will and determination that our country in four years, under Democratic rule, enjoyed the greatest liberty and prosperity ever vouchsafed to a people.

I hear a few Democrats say they will never vote for Greeley. What shall I say to such? Let me ask them—What are your political hopes for the future? What do you expect to gain by a refusal to support the nominee of your party? You certainly do not desire the reelection of a man to whom you impute the evils arising from national indolence for the past four years. No; you desire a restoration of constitutional rule; you desire a perfect re-division between the different sections of the Union; you desire the supremacy of civil authority, and as Horace Greeley desired the abolition of African slavery, you with him desire abolition of white slavery in the South.

For the first time in twelve years Democrats have a hope of recouping the remains of our shattered constitution from the hands of the fell destroyer. Let us take advantage of the opportunity, forget the past, look to the present and future, and determine that as he saved Grant and Greeley we will give Greeley a united, harmonious and vigorous support.

ST. STEPHEN STAATS.

A COINCIDENCE!

Was Henry Wilson a Know Nothing? In our last issue we published an announcement from PROF. CHANLEY under the head above quoted, wherein the facts, names of parties, and the circumstances were so logically and concisely stated as to leave no doubt in the mind of the projected reader that Henry Wilson was a sworn member of that "dark lateral" conspiracy as early as 1854.

What will our adopted citizens and catholics say to this? Are they anxious to elevate to the second office within the gift of the people, a man who is bound by a fieri oath to prosecute them? Will the party leaders still deny this charge against Wilson? If they do, then they will show that they are sunk so low in the filthy mire of falsehood that the re-creating arm of Truth will never reach them.

ALBERT PIKE.

Now what are the proofs? PROF. CHANLEY shows conclusively that Wilson was a Know Nothing in 1854, but having no knowledge of a subsequent fact, he charitably supposed that Wilson left the order when he had gained his point, namely, secured his seat in the U. S. Senate.

But now comes GEN. PIKE and shows just as conclusively that Wilson still belonged to them in 1855—Wilson is therefore stopped from pleading that he only joined in a moment of excitement, for we find him acting with them for more than a year—Hence the conclusion is irresistible that he is still a Know-Nothing at heart.

THE GRANT CLUB MEETING AT SALLEM.

We were at Salem on Wednesday evening last and attended the Hypocrite Radical meeting. About fifty voters and seventy-five pensioned old men graced the occasion with their presence. Everything was lovely and the Oregon table food had no equalled position.

Senator Corbett was first called on and addressed the meeting at some length. He dwelt on the necessity that he owed himself, and that he returned to the U. S. Senate he will work for the interests of Oregon first, but, and all the time. Mr. Corbett wears no man's collar, and the people know it.
