LEGISLATURE.

The last Farmer attempts to administer a small dose to our late legislature, but it sugar coats the bills. The Farmer says:

We believe that for ability and honesty, the members of the present Legislature compare favorably with those of any former one. We doubt not, a large majority of both houses have done their best to serve their constituents faithfully. It is no fault of theirs that every thoughtful citizen must regard the whole forty days performance as a farce. They had nothing to do with originating the farce. They were only actors in it. Others have acted the same role before, and still others will act in the future, until our Constitution is amended, and our present system gives place to a better one.

Now we believe in saying just what we mean, and when we say, that we agree with the Farmer, "that every thoughtful citizen must regard the whole forty days performance as a farce," we mean just what we say. But we do not agree with the Farmer that the great majority of the members of both Houses have done their best to serve their constituents faithfully. It seems to us that the two ideas can not stand together; how can it be, that there was a working majority in both Houses of the Legislature, that really desired to legislate for the good of the people, and yet permit their legislation to become a farce. If a majority in both branches of the assembly desired to legislate for the good of the people, instead of Holladay, then why did they not do it? They most certainly had the power, who prevented them? If they had a majority they could do as they please. They could have prevented any legislation damaging to the people, and could have passed wholesome laws demanded by the people; they could have done right and refused to permit wrong; why did they not do it? The Farmer excuses them by saying their time was too short. That argument stands upon a false basis, for if their performance of forty days was a farce, and a fraud upon the people, then a continuation of their stay would be a greater farce, a more gross, and gigantic fraud upon a people already tax ridden and oppressed.

The Farmer consoles itself with the idea that "other Legislatures have acted the same role before, and still others will in the future," that may be soothing to the Farmer, but it will not satisfy the voters of Oregon; and we can tell the Farmer now, that no Holladay Republican Legislature will be permitted to reenact "that farce" in Oregon for the next ten years.

The truth about the whole matter is this, the majority of that Legislature could have passed all laws of a general nature desired by the people, long before the expiration of the forty days. Instead of spending two weeks time figuring, they should have elected a Senator in six hours without log rolling, and then the people would have been represented in the U. S Senate instead of Ben Holladay. They should have repudiated the lock swindle, and all other jobs set up against the people, and in the interest of corporations and individuals, by indefinitely postponing them as fast as they come up, all of which they could have done in a very short space of time, if a majority was there desiring to do right. The republican Grant Holladay party had a large majority in the House and alone are responsible for this outrage. Nearly, if not all of the bills presented containing schemes to rob the people, and upon which so much time and money was spent, were brought forward by members of that party, and in that branch, purposely and deliberately. They are guilty as a party, and they alone shall bear the odium.

This corrupt party in power commenced their glaring frauds early last spring in their primaries and conventions, and they have carried them out to the end, always faithful to their master, Ben Holladay, the arch traitor of Oregon's best interest. We are pleased to notice, that some of the best Grant Republicans in the State are beginning to get their eyes open, and to feel sensibly, the gauling yoke of the Grant rings; when you have got enough gentlemen, come with us and we will do you good. The Farmer thinks it would be far better to have a session of the Legislature once in four years and allow them to sit six months. The first session of that character, would not only bankrupt the State, but would sell us out body and breeches, to the Emperor of China, in the same manner that Grant purchased Santo Domingo of the usurper Paez, except they would insert an extra clause to the effect, that Americans should retain or exercise no rights, that Chinamen were bound to respect. Our opinion is that the people of Oregon would be better off, if they would allow their Legislature to meet but once in twenty years, with a session of ten days. The Farmer intimates the "evil" perpetrated by the last Legislature, will be in a "measure forgotten" before the expiration of the next two years, when the people will elect new representatives and be ready for another legislative farce, and it asks "how long is this low comedy to rule upon our stage of legislative action?" We answer, until this corrupt, unscrupulous, hypocritical, thieving, Holladay, O'Meara Republican Party, is kicked out of place and power in Oregon.

The Oregon Legislature Has Adjourned.

The tax payers of Oregon have stood in statu quo for the last ten days, with tearful eyes, listening ear, and palpitating heart, all shivering in terrible suspense, fearing the action of their most unscrupulous servants would bring upon them, financially, swift destruction. Holladay's legislature has adjourned the shock is over, and the eyes of the people so long fixed in breathless stillness upon the Capitol are once more turned away, and the country, thank God, half ruined only, is at least for the next two years comparatively safe from legislative usurpations.

The So Called Lock Swindle.

The Lock Bill introduced by Simpson did not pass. This will save the people $40,000 taxes per year, but will have the effect to throw the locks into the hands of Ben Holladay who will extract from the people more than that amount every year, by his enormous tariffs which this Legislature in total disregard of the people's rights, absolutely refused to modify, limit or regulate. Holladay won in that contest as in all others which he undertook; proving conclusively that the Grant party in Oregon is ruled and governed by Ben and his money, mostly the latter. Go in Ben, now is the time for you to make a stake, while they passively remain your willing tools.

Martha Cornett of Canyonville was thrown from a horse last week and badly hurt.

A Jackson County farmer has raised 10,000 pounds of onions on one-half acre of ground the present year.

A man named Brothers living in Portland was adjudged insane, one day this week.

GREAT CRY AND LITTLE WOOL.

Before the election this party in power, by their stump orators, harangued the people upon the question of the infamous acts, as they termed them, of the Legislature of two years ago. They complained of divers things: the Swamp Land Act; the act increasing the salary of the State Treasurer; sundry acts making small appropriations &c. they solemnly promised, that if the people would only elect them to office, they would repeal or modify all these unconstitutional and dishonest acts. They promised they would be faithful to the interests of the people, and would pass laws for the best good of the tax payers of the State, and that they would not spend their time on jobs for the benefit of individual interest.

The Legislature has met and their forty days expired, and how have these promises been fulfilled? They have legislated against the interest of the people to a degree which perfectly eclipses the Legislature of 1870. They saddled upon the State a debt ten times larger than that fixed by that body. They refused to relieve the State from the grasp of monied monopolies, or the people against their impositions and oppression. They have refused to pass laws most wholesome for the people upon their most solemn petitions. They have passed laws against the best interest of our citizens regardless of their rights, and both burdensome and wicked. They have neglected and refused to repeal or modify the Swamp Land Act, which they themselves declared to be an outrage upon the rights of the people; but instead thereof, wickedly contrived how best they might rob the State of the proceeds of the sales of those lands under the very act of which they so bitterly complained. They refused to repeal the law which increased the pay of the State Treasurer, which they said, with hands uplifted to Heaven, was a palpable violation of the Constitution. They have, with hands unwarmed, instituted immigration Societies and made large appropriations therefor which can be of no benefit to the State; and propose to send, at great expense, both men and women to all parts of the American Continent, to Europe, China and Africa, for the purpose of inducing if possible, the immigration to our State the paupers of the old States and of Europe; the Hotentots from Africa to increase our voting population under the new naturalization laws, and the Chinamen for the purpose of improving our society, and establish if possible the worship of idols. All this and more they have done in the name of General Grant, who during the whole time has been drunk at Long Branch from sipping wine and eating tobacco. The people of Rome, indeed, became weakened by their corruptions and riotous living, but their depravity when compared with that of the Grantite, sinks out of sight, and would put to blush the most degraded Patriarch of Rome.

THE PROOF.—We said in a former issue of the REPUBLICAN, that the Grant Republican party were insincere in their professions of equal rights, and we proved it. A bill was introduced into the House, where that party which boasts so much of equal political rights has a large majority, proposing to give women the same right to vote, if they desired, as men. This bill was almost unanimously voted down. The bill was then so modified as to allow them to vote upon the question of license or no license for the sale of liquor, and that even was spurned by a Republican House in the face of their own declaration in their national platform, that "equal civil and political rights should be guaranteed to all." We appeal to, and demand of the friends of equal rights, who have been by plans iniquitous and connected in the dark, inveigled into the support of this hypocritical party, to encourage them no longer; but come out and be separate, mingle no longer, we beseech you, with their abominations, touch not nor handle the unclean thing, for we warn you again that it is like a whited sepulcher fair without, but within, full of rottenness and all manner of deceit.

Corvallis has a calf only eight months old that weighs 420 pounds.

AGAIN WE FURNISH THE PROOF.

When in the canvass last spring, we told the people, that the present Republican party was being run by monopolies, and that Ben Holladay and his paid attorneys claimed that the people of the State had parted with their sovereign power to regulate or control the carrying trade of this State, by regulating the rates of toll upon rivers and railways, and that unless they rose up in their majesty and put down these corrupt plans already laid, to reduce them to poverty no remedy would be obtained in the next Legislature, against these impositions and usurpations, the Grant party denied, and charged us with misrepresentations; how now stands this dark account? Do the people now see who were right and who wrong? here are the facts a bill was presented in the House where there were thirteen majority, which proposed to restrict corporations and companies in this State, who are operating railroads and running steam boats in their tariff upon the people to reasonable rates, at least not allow them to run up at pleasure to ruinous figures, and really proposed to limit them to about their present rates, so far as railroads were concerned, and not allow Mr. Holladay or any other monied man or company of men, to raise their rates at any time they pleased, and compell the honest yeomanry of this country, to pay into the coffers of these unscrupulous money sharks, a sufficient amount of money to constitute a corruption fund, adequate to purchase the scallawag vote in our cities, and thus elect their own hirelings to office and rob the people. The bill came up on its final passage and Mr. Caples and Mr. Speaker Mallory, both made flaming speeches against the bill and the rights of the people, and said that the people had absolutely parted with their sovereign power to regulate these rates, that the power had passed into the hands of these monopolies in Oregon, that they could charge just what they pleased, and that the people were left remediless. So a Republican House defeated the bill by a vote of sixteen to thirty-two thus proving and demonstrating every charge we had made against this party of thieves to be true in fact. We leave this Elephant upon their hands to dispose of as they see fit and with it; its champions, Caples and Mallory.
