NOTICE.

The new postage law goes into effect on the first of July. We desire that all our exchanges should be sent to us regularly as before, no matter what the postage cost us.

For the very best photographs go to Bradley & Robinson's Galleries without STAIRS-ASCEND IN THE ELEVATOR, 129
Montgomery, street, San Francisco.

One runaway last week
Everybody is out hunting.
No fights in town this week.
Harvesting has commenced.
Everything is quiet in town.
Ten new subscribers this week.

The sun has come out like itself again.
One fawn caught since the game law run out.
What's the mania in Polk county? Croquet.
The quail law will cease to operated on the 30th inst.

Measles haven't very nearly out here, we haven't heard of any new cases this week.
The Good Templars are flourishing finely in this place.
Call at Lee's on the corner for your goods.
There was not even a fire-cracker fired here on the fourth.

We have received the July number of Wood's Household Magazine.
We suggest that the supervisor get at the bridges down this way as one of them is entirely impassable with teams.

The Salt Creek hunting club was out on the first. The President and party with him, killed four deer, and the Vice-President and his party killed eight deer, making twelve in all.
The hunt was made on the Yamhill, and were we not in such a terrible hurry to close our writing and get away to court, we should like to give full particulars, some of which were both ludicrous and interesting. We promise however to give particulars of the next hunt, if furnished us.

DIED.

At the family residence, near Mouth
Polk Co, Oregon July 1st 1873, of the influenza, Nellie May, infant daughter of Preston and Isabella E. Holman, aged two months and one day.

Our little Nellie's gone to rest,
Her suffering all are o're;
How sweetly there on Jesus' breast,
When pain can harm no more.

A flower was she indeed too fair,
To grow on earthy ground;
'Twas Jesus plucked her from our care,
To place her in His crown.

Our hearts with anguish sorely bleed,
Since darling Nellie's gone;
In prayer submissive still we plead,
Thy will not ours be done.

The Adeline for July is a capital number, both as regards its Art and its Literature. It opens with a full-page illustration, printed in tints and entitled "Catch Him!" It represents two children, the elder of whom, a girl, is holding her little brother up to a rose-bush, on which a butterfly is about to alight. This is one of Mr John S. Davis's studies of child life, and a very excellent one, too. "Moonlight on the Shenandoah" is the title of the first of a series of five illustrations drawn by Mr D J Woodward, whose themes are the scenery of the Old Dominion, which is chiefly selected in this instance from the region around Harper's Ferry and the Shenandoah. They are picturesque and beautiful. Mrs Eliza Grout transports us back to Old New York, in her spirited sketch of "Hell Gate Ferry," which is one of the most characteristic local drawings ever contributed to the Adeline. The poems are "The Song in the Dark," by Mary E Bradley; and "So basilant at supper," by Margaret J Preston.
Music, Art, Literature are intelligently and independently discussed. Altogether the number is remarkably good. Subscription price $5.00, including Chromos "Village Belle" and
"Crossing the Moor." James Sutton & Co, Publishers, 45 Maiden Lane N Y.

Wood's Household Magazine for July is ahead of any previous number, and when we consider its usual standard excellence, this is rare praise indeed. It is illustrated and only at one time is devoted, and its table of contents shows a wonderful adaptation of articles to the individual members of the family circle. Sim's Little Girl," a temperance story by Mary Hartwell, Weather-tough Block," by Karl Kiso, How the Vow was Kept," by H V Osborne, A Luncheon at Large," by Rev F W Holland and the "Disparagement of Independence," by J B Keley, D. D. are among the more noticeable articles.
The Childrens Department is crowded full, and contains a poem, in baby-talk, which without doubt, will be very acceptable to the little ones. The price of the magazine is one dollar a year. Address

First, It has complied fully with the Oregon Estate Law.

Second, Its contracts in Oregon are backed, under a re-insurance contract, by its own and the united assets of the Home Ins. Co. of New York and the North British and Mercantile Ins.
Company of London, aggregating $22,500,000

Third, It can carry large risks, as its policies are re-insured by the above mentioned Companies, so that the PHENIX alone can carry the same line that all three companies would take separately.

Fourth, It requires but one set of proofs in case of loss; thus giving the security of three Companies without the trouble of dealing with separate Corporations.

On these solid merits, visit
Capacity to carry the largest risks,
