TEARL KELLOGG.

God gave us a beautiful little girl, For her spotlessness we finned her Pearl, But the angels saw car precious prize, And lured her with smiles away to the skies And then in anguish of spirit I cried,

" Mother in Heaven who dost abide, When my baby comes to that world from this Meet her, and give her a welcome kiss."

And there came through the pure u sull'ed air. Like balm an answer it seemed to my prayer "I met your beautiful little girl, And she lies on my breast, your spotless Pearl

I hover her 'neath my angelic wings, And sweet is the song your baby sings, Your ear could detect the Millifluous tone, "Mid the chorus of angels around the Throne."

Heretics on the jetty system are informed by the New Orleans press that the largest steamship which ever visited that post passed the jetties with ease. It was the Silverton from Loudon, 4913 tons; 338 feet long; The Egyptian Montirch, 3916 tons, also ran through.

The "Northwestern Miller" is the or gap of the Minneapolis milling interests, and no doubt expresses the opinion there that Walla Walla wheat shipments are not likely to develop in that direction because it costs more laid down here than the fine hard wheat of Minnesota or Dakota" This implies that Walla Walla grain will be shipped to the European market via Columbia river for some time vet .- The Com. COAL CREEK, Dec. 27 '83. Ept. of the Columbias -I liaving been a resident of your county for some time and Bavilia moved to Coal Creek, $2 00 I thought I would give you a few items of Coal Creek country. Coal Creek is a fine stream for logging, and there is a great deal of logging done on it. It tripties into the Columbia River about three miles above Oak Point. There is a tine wood dock at the mouth of Coal Creek owned by Mr. John Wiest, and Wiest and Bros. are repairing their log-chutes which were carried out by the rise in the creek a short time ago. They intend running quite estetts vely in the Spring. They have a large team which Professor Wilson is master of. Mr. Anderson is running another large logging camp just above Mr. Wiest. Mr. Belmont is fishing just below the thouth of the Creek, and Mr. Howard is fishing on a larger scale, and up the Creek a little further are all Germans, and rustlers you know. There is Ordways' railroad 11 miles below us; they employ about 75 men.
