No Poorer for the Panic.

The papers have been filled for ten days with accounts of financial crashings and panics in New York and elsewhere. But it is well to remember the country is no poorer. These failures and declines in stocks and bonds, do not at all affect or lessen the real intrinsic value of railways,—of the road-bed, steel or iron tracks, locomotives and cars. These are in the same places, ready to do their work, carrying freight and passengers. Those who boomed up the stocks and bonds to fanciful figures, and borrowed money on them, and then could not get others to buy them at those figures, have had to unload at far lower rates or lie down; they are not so rich as they thought they were. Everything of real value is practically just as valuable as before. A few speculators, overcharged with fictitious figures, groaned aloud at coming down to hard pan.—Prairie Farmer.

Water Spout in Wasco.

A very disastrous water spout happened at Last Chance ranch, Bridge creek, Wasco county, last Monday evening at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson and three children were drowned. Several horses and cattle perished. Two teams loaded with freight were caught by the water near the mouth of Bridge creek, and washed about thirty miles down the John Day river. Nearly all the farms on Bridge creek are ruined. The rush of water continued down the canyon of Bridge creek carrying away in its course houses fences and trees; in fact everything which impeded its course. Mrs. Wilson was left alone that day, her husband being one of the judges of election at Mitchell, and when she heard the noise of the approaching flood, took her four children, the eldest about 12 years of age, and made for the high ground one distance away. In order to reach a place of safety she was forced to cross a ditch. She got three of the children across, but the fourth fell in, and before she had time to get it out, the flood of waters came and washed her and two of the children away, the oldest managing to escape. The bodies have not been recovered yet. About a mile and a half distant from the scene of the waterspout a boy and dog were found dead, but no one knew how they managed to escape from the flood or what caused their death. The orchard of C. W. Myers, one of the pioneer residents of Bridge creek was entirely destroyed, and is covered with rocks and debris. The stream struck one corner of the town of Mitchell, carrying away the residence of Mr. Sargent and other houses. To look down the creek, in the pathway of the freshet, one can behold nothing but a scene of desolation, and on the banks are bowlders, trees, drift of every description, and carcasses of dead horses, cattle and sheep. The farms are entirely ruined, and the families will take years to recover the devastation caused by a few minutes of the dread sway of the king of waters.—Ex.

W. C. T. U. State Convention.

That the cause of temperance is steadily advancing was apparent at the convention held at Albany, Oregon, which closed June 5. The new Baptist church in which the session was held, was beautifully decorated with mottoes and flowers and was crowded every evening with an attentive and interested audience.

The addresses and speeches of Profs., Ministers and especially of Mrs. Leavitt, Mrs. Hines, reports of vice-presidents and superintendents of departments were full of faith, hope and devotion to their work "For God, and Home, and Native Land," and as Mrs. Stubbs, the superintendent of evangelistic work said she "felt like magnifying her office," it seemed as one listened to each report that that special branch of the work was of the most importance, each superintendent put so much soul in her work. In our life work we should magnify our office and not let our office magnify us.

Among the ministers who were introduced to the convention and addressed them in words of encouragement, was Rev. Mr. Judy, whom many in St. Helen will remember as their former pastor; he said he did not like to hear so much talk about "woman's rights" and "woman's work" but thought we had better say our work, that God intended for man and woman to work side by side, and especially in the temperance work.

Prof. Wycoff of Albany C. Institute read an amusing extract from a N. Y. paper, after which in his address he said: "Woman, like a child that would eat grapes if you would call them cherries, will do some kinds of work more cheerfully if you call it by a new name. Women are practical—they are not trying to make any new sphere for themselves. As the times call for new modes of doing business, now modes of dress, new modes of traveling, so we must adopt new modes of doing good, follow a new fashion. Women are only doing the same kind of work they have always been doing only in a different way. She is an almoner—is endowed in certain way to do certain work, she is finer made morally, having more physical beauty, more noble, more heavenly—is spiritually endowed, hence is prepared to do this work. She finds out public sentiment—crime is protected by law, hence she is moved by divine compassion, no sooner does she stretch forth her hand to rescue than an alarm is raised.

She must do more than to keep the home, she must know the danger that threatens her home. She must crush the vipor that endangers her babe. Crush this avalanche of intemperance. If the vote will do that, let her vote.

I would not have you put your trust in princes if they are legislators. We must have better legislation, it is good as far as it goes. You may punish crime, but you can't make people pure, woman can do that. No legislation can prevent a man using his own eyes. The endowments of woman are more of Christ's spirit, she has finer spiritual sensibility, stands near to human suffering. Through her influence the demon of the inebriate are cast out."

Mrs. Leavitt said, "woman's work was to train the child in her hand whose capabilities place him with the angels—when sin enters the world it binds us, and gags us, then tells us to do this work. God knows what he wants us to do, and has been showing us in picture lessons all along the walls of time.

The time is coming when all shall govern themselves.

Woman's vote is the last hope of prohibition, as Neal Dow says, 'the short cut to prohibition.'

Let us have the privilege to use the talents God has given us to destroy the work of the Devil." We give but a few of the ideas expressed, as it is impossible for any but a professional reporter to do justice to the addresses. Mrs. Leavitt is particularly fitted to respond to addresses and answer questions, having an inexhaustible supply of mental resources and executive ability, so quick to think and decide questions of debate. In her lectures she has no shoal place for an amateur reporter to breathe and take notes but her thoughts flow on in a stream of deep water.

The music, vocal and instrumental was very fine, Prof. Donaldson singing a number of solos. An interesting feature of the last evening was the procession of the Albany Band of Hope wearing beautiful sashes, and under the supervision of Mrs. Blaine, marching and singing to the music of the piano, presenting Mrs. Leavitt and Mrs. Hines with bouquets of flowers, who each addressed the children; after a number of recitations from the little ones, also one by the lovely five-year-old daughter of Dr. Colbrath of Lafayette, came an address by Mrs. Leavitt, "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

The state officers were re-elected, Mrs Hines, president, Mrs. Riggs vice-president, Mrs. Cartwright recording secretary, Mrs. Cook corresponding secretary, Mrs. Blaine treasurer. Mrs. Stubbs also re-elected supt. evangelistic work. Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Riggs, delegates to the national convention of the W. C. T. to be held at St. Louis Mo., next October. The next annual convention of the Oregon W. C. T. U. is to be held at East Portland.

The delegates from Columbia county were Mrs. M. E. Adams, appointed by president of the 1st district, Mrs. Riggs, and Mrs. J. A. Stewart elected by the St. Helen W. C. T. U., arrived in Albany at noon the 4th, and were met before leaving the train, by the committee and escorted to the church and introduced to the officers and delegates thence to the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Clark, where they enjoyed their society and that of their two interesting daughters, and were royally entertained, feasting on, besides other delicacies, angel cake and strawberries.

The delegates were all treated with the utmost kindness and attention by the hospitable people of Albany, a city of fine residences, many churches, and a profusion of flowers, they having conveniences for irrigation, making their gardens luxuriant in growth.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Coweman Notes.

FREEPORT, W, T, June 6, '84,

EDITOR COLUMBIAN:—As we do not see much in your paper from this part of the country, we thought a few words from here would be of interest to the to the readers of your paper, This part of Cowlitz county has made rapid strides in improvements in the last two years. Every land holder here is trying to see how much he can do in the way of improvement.

As to roads, two years ago the road from here to Freepurt was almost impassible, now we have a pretty fair road, and a large force have been working on it for a week, and it will not be long ere we will have as good roads as any part of the country.

There has been several claims taken in the last six months by enterprising parties who appear to take right hold with a will and all seem determined to make this part of Cowlitz county as good as the best.

H. H. Harvey has gone to Portland, S. N. Bixby has the machinery on the ground for his mill.

The health of the country is good,

We have read the COLUMBIAN and like the ring of its editorials, and think it a spicy sheet, and just the paper that every farmer in Columbia and Cowlitz counties ought to take. And we often think that they would be better and wiser if they would read the paper more than a great many do. And again we believe in home patronage. We would say to one and all before you send off for eastern papers, subscribe for your home paper, give it your support and we will guarantee that its editor will try and make it a paper that you will be proud of, and not ashamed to send back to your friends in the east.

Joseph Day has sold his place and gone to Jackson county, Oregon. Jesse Beck has sold out and gone to California.

LEO.

WOODLAND, WASH. TER,
May 31, '84.

Weather warm, water rising, boys sparking, or rather girls I should say for this is leap year.

Strawberries have come and are going going, gone.

At singing school last Sunday Oh! was'nt that mustache beautiful? at least some of the ladies thought so.

Yesterday was Decoration Day and quite a number of the Woodlandites went to Vancouver, we saw them pass by, that is, my chum and I.

Mrs. Lizzie Mathews has returned home from Portland.

Della Copeland is convalescent.

Jake Robinson we think is improving, you would have thought so too if you had seen the way he was fanning that widow. We don't blame you Jake we would do the same ourselves.

Mrs. Ferguson, and Frank Emkins were married last Thursday.

We saw the smiling face of George Spencer one day last week at Pekin.

We understand that A. Lee Lewes, and Gill Horton, two enterprising young men of this place are in the Photograph business at Steilacoom, we wish them success.

David Myers talks of leaving us and settling in Vancouver, we wish you a bountiful repast, David.

Judge Beall of Kalama was on a visit at F. Lee Lewes' the past week.

Dr. J. N. Adams killed quite a large bear just above Woodland the other day

We should think the young ideas were learning how to swim by the way we saw Harry Lee Lewes and Resin Delay exercising themselves one day last week.

Au revoir.

WINNIE WOODFERN

Any town of 300 inhabitants can find ample security and protection against fires, by purchasing a horse-power fire engine. Send to Preston, Nott & Co. for circular advices, so says the Commercial Herald, and so say we. St. Helen ought to attend to this at once.

LOCAL NEWS

We took our family and went up in our hack to attend the concert at Bayview school-house last Sunday, which was Children's Day. The house was crowded, and beautifully ornamented with flowers and evergreens. Mr Gill, the Superintendent, conducted the exercises. There were many pieces repeated by the Sabbath School children and by those of adult age. The whole was interspersed with excellent singing. It would seem to be invidious to mention some without mentioning all. We forgot to get a programme, but to enjoy it one must have been there. It will be long remembered as an enjoyable time by all present. There was a big delegation from the Upper Scappoose and St. Helen. In some future paper we will print a programme, for we deem it worthy of preservation in the archives of Columbia County. Mrs. J. L. McNulty presented Blanche with a fragrant cross of roses and two charming bouquets. Mr. Gill felt very thankful to the Executive Committee for the interest they took in getting up the affair which was creditable. Will some one send us an Order of Exercises so we may give an interesting sketch of each performance and give all the folks, little and big, their just dues.

O. M. Hofsteater and Co. will go to Rainier on the 14th and to Freeport on the 23d. They have made quite a success of it in making landscape pictures, gave us an elegant view of River Street St. Helen, taken on Election Day. It took in the whole street clear from T. Cooper's butcher-shop to the Court house They have taken many pictures of various residences in St. Helen, which all appear finely executed. They are all the time increasing their facilities for picture-making, sparing no expense, having lately laid out $200 in improved apparatus &c. &c.

Miss Annie Perry has returned home on a visit, and brought a young lady with her from Astoria. Mr. Hanthorn's wife sent Mrs. Perry a most magnificent bouquet, and Mr. Hanthorn a nice luscious salmon from his cannery, which as Mrs. Perry states is one of the nicest and most cleanly places she ever visited. Her son Newton is one of the employees of the cannery. Potter, Beegle and other young St. Helenites fishing in that vicinity visited Newton last Sunday.

Hofsteater & Co. are taking some very fine pictures of St. Helen. They have not confined themselves to picturing the human face divine, but also take some pictures of landscape. They are well fixed to do the best kind of work. For a background in their gallery they have a splendid sea-view by a first-class artist.

Mr. Gunderson, author of a life of Christ, has been accused of the not very Christ-like occupation of felling trees to block the highway in the vicinity of Fishhawk in the lower end of the county; Mr. Cameron was up here on Wednesday to have him arrested. Mr. C. has built a very fine house in that vicinity.

We have received D. W. Prentice & Co's. Musical and Home Journal for June. It is enlarged, and a great credit to the enterprise to Mr. Prentice. The music in this number is "The Children of the City," and "In the Sunshine."

All for 10 cents, or 75 cents per year. 107 First Street, Portland,

Miss Ida Watts is having grand success as a teacher at Bayview school. This young lady is a native of Milton, and was born near the time of our advent into Webfoot. She is the youngest of the Watts family, and is a charming and intelligent young lady.

Transow & Morrow, of Portland, have painted a most elegant sign for A. H. Blakesley. It spans the sidewalk in front of the hotel. The name given is "Oriental Hotel." It as well as the sign are ornaments to St. Helen, and a credit to the proprietor.

The Democratic party will have to bestir itself if it beats Blaine. It is expected New York and Massachusetts may kick, but most people, Democrats and Republicans alike, think "Blaine and Logan" will sweep the country like a hurricane.

We were lately at George Frantz's. He has lately been building him a fine wagon. We were liberally treated to delicious cherries and made exceedingly welcome. Mr. and Mrs. Frantz have a fine family growing around them.

Rosa Edmonds came out with Blanche and staid all night on Monday. Annie Beegle came out last week. These are very nice little ladies, and seemed to enjoy themselves. Birney today brought out the Allen boys for company.

Nehalem Valley has a tri-weekly mail Charles Perry has been carrying the mail lately for Mr. Konkle.

After the concert on Sunday we took tea at Mr. Gill's, and helped ourselves to cherries His house has the finest outlook of any house on the Scappoose. Everything about the premises looks flourishing. His garden is in a forward state.

Amos Slavens has 35 acres on his ranch in grass. He and his boys have slashed 35 acres more, and will soon have one of the finest farms in Columbia county. They are an enterprising family, and very public-spirited.

In No. 2 of the Practical Educator, a new paper lately started in Portland by Prof. James, may be found Prof. Lyman's lecture, "The Conflict of Forces" delivered May 28th. before the Teachers' Institute at St. Helens.

Mr. Joseph Copeland has bored for water 25 feet in front of his residence on Scappoose. He unfortunately struck a quicksand. His intention is to build soon near his present residence which he will append as a kitchen.

A Mr. Matthews, brother of H. L., has charge of the Chinamen slashing on R. S. Fullerton's place. Mr. Wilson moved them up, bag and baggage. Mr W. occupies the house near the R. R. on this end of the Dann place.

A near female relative of Mr. Reese, the school-teacher, has broke her leg, and he has been compelled to return to Carrollton for a season and has employed Mr. I. N. Lafferty to take his place in the Public School.

Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Adams called on Mrs. McElhany when in Portland, and learned that Nettie Graham and Deseret Marton were neighbors in Portland and enjoyed each other's society very much.

There is much danger of boys getting drowned in the vicinity of the old Pacific wharf particularly when steamers are passing Three young hopefuls passed in their checks there in days gone by.

The mist complains of dull times, it will get so thin it will soon be imperceptible to mortal eyes. The publication of that paper just for spite, must be quite an expensive arrangement to somebody.

Mr. T. C. Watts, our newly elected sheriff, presented us with an egg measuring 7¼ inches one way, and 6⅞ another. These are the eggs-traordinary eggs that St. Helen's hens lay about election times.

John Beaver when he came down from East of the Mountains had the rattle of a rattlesnake he killed fastened in the top of his hat, and yet is not a rattle-headed young man, but very steady.

Mrs. Cooper, wife of T. Cooper, took an overdose of laudanum for a decayed tooth the other day, and was with difficulty brought back to life by the combined skill of Drs. Moore and Stewart.

We have received a lot of barberry seeds from New Hampshire. We trust we shall be able to furnish plants for $1.00 apiece. These make a preserve fully equal to the cranberry.

G. W. Harris has Lindley Shintaffer as partner in Pinckney's hotel at Columbia City. We understand they are doing a good business, and have quite a number of boarders

Mr. Clarence Garrison's little children were sick the most of the time they were up East of the Mountains. When they got back to Columbia County, they immediately got well.

Mrs. Moore, wife of Judge Moore, dispenses an elegant hospitality at her residence on St. Helen Street. Our family were there at supper the last day of the Institute.

Esq. Perry has had a severe siege scouring the woods for a cow he hobbled. The last seen of her she was in the vicinity of J. T. McNulty's and had broken her rope.

Mr W. H. Whitney cuts the close crop to hair with the greatest ease, he has the tools to do it with. A grand thing in political times and hot weather to keep the head cool.

Mr. C. J. Curtis got pretty well set down when he ran for justice of the peace. He got 48 votes, was dropped out of the tail-end of the political dung-cart.

Our year is almost up, and we wish those owing us would forward back dues as we are in need of the money. This is No. 45, seven more weeks ends this year.

The news of Blaine and Logan's nomination was received here with much enthusiasm. Anvils were fired by the citizens of St. Helen to testify their joy.

Mr J. W. Campbell informs us the Strachans' crops on Bunker Hill are growing finely, and promise an abundant yield.

J. S. Davenport has got a big ice, and an ice cream freezer, so he can make delicious ice cream I scream with delight these hot days at the very thought of it.

The Bayview schoolhouse will have a belfry and bell. The grounds around the building are ample and its location is very beautiful as regards the scenery.

There is a preparation of wheat called "Germ Middlings" manufactured at Eugene City, which is said to be superior to oatmeal or cracked wheat for mush.

The monster ferry-boat which costs $300,000, will be ready for use in about six weeks and then there will be through trains from Portland to Tacoma.

Mr. J. C. Mason has already made many improvements on the late Harris place. We were up there on Sunday and had a rare treat of cherries.

Cora Miles has been very sick with a tooth broken off when attempted to be extracted, and a dentist from Portland is expected to give her relief.

Mr. R. C. Campbell was up lately from Rainier. Mr. Campbell is a very sociable gentleman; he sent our youngsters home a lot of oranges.

Mr. William Beaver is building a new barn for Richard Coxon his farm on the Scappoose. He will soon commence burning logs on the same farm.

Mr. Robert Bonser informs us business it lively on the R. R. in his vicinity. The rumbling of the cars is often heard at our office.

There has been a revival under Rev. Mr. Hanna's labors at Knappa, and two members have been added there to the Presbyterian Church.

It is said there will be an attempt to get Mrs. Foster, the great female orator, soon expected from the East, to come to St. Helen to lecture.

Considerable many fields of grain have been taken already by the freshet on Sauvie's Island. The water is said to be now at a stand.

At the ratification meeting of Blaine and Logan in San Francisco, George L. Woods made the most magnificent speech of the occasion.

The next legislature will stand 12 Republican majority on joint ballot so a Republican U. S. Senator is likely to succeed Slater.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beaver have become the happy father and mother of a nice bouncing girl that weighed 9 lbs. at its birth.

There is a big village of tents just above the Dann place on Scappoose, and the "heathen chinee" are thick as flies thereabout.
