Congress has appropriated $55,000 for the Cascade Locks, mouth of the Columbia River, Columbia and Willamette Rivers. There will be two revetments in shape of a half moon, built one at the foot of Suvius' Island and the one on the opposite side of the Columbia. These will be to deepen the channel by throwing the current of the River into one course. Other U. S. Senators and Congressmen accuse Dolph of possessing much check in getting appropriations. We are glad to send a man that will see that the needs of this community are substantially met. The improvement of the Columbia River is a matter of National importance, and Dolph will gain for himself a national reputation by his energy and persistence.
