THE COLLEGE CADETS.

The Military Department of the Institution To Be Greatly Improved.

The military department at the OAC will be a more prominent feature of our agricultural college this year than ever before. This is not only due to the particular circumstances that have made our history during the past two years, and to the fact that many of those whose military training was received at our college played an important part in the drama of battles beyond the sea, but also to the fact that the battalion is larger this year than common during the first term, and the boys who receive their drill an hour each day, during the school year can now see and understand the value of a military training. It is by an act passed by our national legislators that the military department of our agricultural college is maintained, and Uncle Sam realizes full well that the money he expends each year in training his boys to shoulder and shoot a musket, is judiciously expended. It trains them to walk with a military bearing, with an aspect more of that becoming a man, it trains them to command and obey, it makes them hearty and healthful, in truth it makes men of them, and the more men we have in our country, the stronger and better will our nation be.

Commandant Frank Edwards has organized the cadet battalion into three companies and a band, and drill is practiced each day in the spacious armory. There are already 170 men in the battalion, 10 more than were enrolled during the first term of last year. There are also 11 men of the volunteers who are excused from drill, pending orders from the department at Washington to give grades in drill without further instruction, making a total of 21 more than during the entire first three months of the last school year.

The officers of the battalion for the coming year are: First lieutenant, C. A. Saunders; second lieutenant, W. R. Dilley; color sergeant, Archie Kruse; color corporals, Fred Stump and W. J. Morrison.

Company "A"—Captain, R. D. Burgess; 1st lieutenant, Fred Walters; 2nd lieutenant, Arthur Frazier.

Company "B"—Captain, J. G. Elgin; 1st lieutenant, Harry Buxton; 2nd lieutenant, A. J. Bier.

Company "C"—Captain, Jas. McCaustland; 1st lieutenant, E. B. Aldrich; 2nd lieutenant, H. E. Penland.

The boys appear regular at their drills in the armory and when the weather permits dress parades are held on the campus drill grounds. An usual there are several squads this year, and many a poor fellow has been reminded of the fact that a soldier's life is not the softest snap on earth. When he has to stand for half an hour with his heels together and his back as rigid as a poker, with his eyes straggled to the front, and his hands hanging down below the pockets where they love to rest so well, the raw plebe at the OAC can talk of the horrors of war with the best of them; but then it makes a man of him, he knows it and all are satisfied.

The boys marched in procession and escorted the body of Dolph Witzel to the depot on Tuesday last and they will appear in uniform as a military organization, at the memorial services to be held in honor of the late Captain Geary at the opera house next Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. William Mackay, a former Corvallisite, now a missing lady from the Klittas district in Washington, is in the city in the interest of her mines. Mrs. Mackay made handsome profits from interests she invested in British Columbia mines and she has since become a quarter owner in one of the undeveloped mines of Klittas county, Washington. Mrs. Mackay is endeavoring to dispose of stock in the mines to interested Corvallis people. That it would be a paying investment present indications seem to prove conclusively. Recent news from Klittas tells of a large smelter to be built near the new mines. This news is most significant and indicates that there is something up there.

WANTED. Twenty tons of cast iron; old stoves; any castings; also your patronage. Bring your showpieces and have them ground, you will save money. All work guaranteed. FRANKLIN IRON WORKS.

Make Me A Country-Jake.

The following poem from the pen of Dennis H. Stovall, appeared in last Sunday's Oregonian and is being reprinted generously by the press of the state. It is in this particular style that Mr. Stovall excels and the one to which he must look for recognition:

Recollections bright of those olden times, Haunt today my memory's wake, Of the old homestead in the fern and pines, Where meadow larks sing and the ivy twines, Where I used to sport near the columbines,

Oh carry me, carry me back today, Just for my memory's sake; Back to the meadow where I used to play, Back where the wheat and cat-tails sway, Where sunbeams frisk in that merry old way,

Oh I want to be hisler just for a day, My soul to those hither scene takes; To sniff the sweet scent of the new-mown hay, To lounge in the shade at the heat of day, To dive in the swimming hole over the way,

Oh, make me a country-jake. Golden are the memories of that long ago More golden than riches make; Where the bull-frog sobbed so solemn and slow, And the wood-owl hooted so sad and low,

Crickets were merry,—no cares did I know, For I was a country-jake, To those good old scenes I long to be nigh— Scenes that fond memories 'wake,— In the sweet fragrant grass I want to lie, To gaze up lazily at the blue sky, And watch the buzzards as they circle and fly,

While I am a country-jake. It is but a memory closed with a sigh. As I from a reverie 'wake, A fancy, as my mind to old scenes fly, I hope 'twill be more when age hovers nigh, I hope that to please my tired soul and I My angelic robes in that sweet-by-and-by Will be 'togs' of a country-jake,

Read Subscriptions. To all parties who have subscribed money to pay for improving the county road south of Corvallis, will please pay the same to the First National Bank of Corvallis, to be placed to my credit. E. WOODWARD, Judge County.

Here are some of the terrible things which, according to an exchange, are likely to befall a delinquent: Last week a delinquent subscriber said that he would pay up Saturday if he lived. He's dead. Another, 'I'll see you tomorrow.' He's blind. Still another one said: 'I hope to pay you this week or go to the devil.' He's gone. There are hundreds who ought to take warning by these procrastinators and pay up their subscriptions now.
