LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. E. P. Grefroz, and little sons leave today for a short visit in Independence. Roman Zahn, a substantial citizen of Ales, has been spending the week in Corvallis. Luke Thornton left Wednesday for a visit at his old home at St. Joseph, Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris are home from a five weeks trip through the East and South. Rev. L. M. Booser will preach in the Mt. View school house Sunday afternoon at half past two. The Home-Read, published at Salem promises an illustrated article descriptive of Clatsop County. The winter term of the O A C closed yesterday, and the students are enjoying a vacation of a week. Capt. A. W. Rose left Wednesday for Clatsop, where he expects to spend the summer on his ranch. Mrs. J. R. Hughes and children, have joined Mr. Hughes in Portland, where they will hereafter reside. Grover Hedrick, after an absence of two years at Gold Hill, is back in Corvallis to remain permanently. The church at Wells Station is being painted and made neat and attractive. R. A. Bowman is doing the work. Mr. N. W. Allen lies dangerously ill at his home near Philomath. Small hopes are entertained of his recovery. Work on the Bundy bridge over the Long Tom is progressing rapidly, and Contractor Stora expects to have the work completed by April 5th. There will be communion service and reception of members at the Oak Ridge Presbyterian church Sabbath at 3 p. m., conducted by Dr. Thompson. A kind welcome to all. Mrs. Dentler left Saturday for Pittston, Pennsylvania, where she will join her husband, Captain Dentler, and together they will leave for Puerto Rico, where the captain expects to be stationed for another year. Rev. L. Myron Booser will preach in the United Evangelical Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30. Sunday school at 10 a. m. K. L. C. E. at 6:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Hon. H. B. Miller, lately appointed consul at Cebu, China, leaves for his new post of duty about the latter part of next month. He will be accompanied by his daughter, Laura, the balance of the family remaining in Eugene. Dennis Stovall will deliver a lecture in the interest of the Macabees in this city about April 13th. He has established a record as a platform speaker and the opportunity to hear him will be overlooked by no one. He is now in Astoria. A letter from the Nash boys, who are now at Dawson, states that they leave shortly for Cape Nome. Festival at a time had interests worth $150,000, but being unable to meet his payments and some other obligations, lost the bulk of all his holdings. Communion service at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. A very cordial welcome is extended to all who wish to join in this service. Strangers in the city without a church home are kindly invited. Sunday school at 10 a. m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m., and evening service at 7:30. Mrs. Cornelia Kelsay and daughter, Anna, wish us to express their heartfelt gratitude to the Knights of Pythias, Spanish War Veterans, Ladies Emergency Corps, Cadet Battalion, Judges Barnett and McAdams, Dr. Thompson, Bay Noble and the good people of Corvallis, for the kindly care and beautiful services accorded their beloved son and brother, Lyman. For some time past Mr. E. B. Horning has been greatly annoyed by someone taking flowers from his garden in which he takes much pride. He had the offenders, a couple of young ladies, spotted, and Wednesday caught them in the act. He read them a fatherly lesson and the mortification they felt will probably prohibit a repetition of the offense, and is a warning to others. Agent Hays for Wells Fargo, this city, had a queer visitor Tuesday. It was an old hat that has traveled by the courtesy of three different express companies over a good portion of the United States. Where it was started from is a mystery, but it is covered with tags placed upon it in the various offices throughout the country. Thanksgiving day it was at La Fayette, Kentucky, and bears a message from some jubilant football team. Christmas found it in California. It was started from Corvallis with appropriate ceremonies. It is rumored that Hon. G. W. Colvig, of Grants Pass, father of the popular student at the O A C, may be the next joint senator from Josephine and Curry counties. Mr. Colvig has served twice as representative and once as senator from Douglas county. He has served the public constantly in one way or another for the past 25 years always successfully and satisfactorily. Men of experience like Mr. Colvig are needed in the two law making bodies of Oregon; and it would be very gratifying to Mr. Colvig's friends in this part of the state to learn of his election to the office of joint senator.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will give a "Hat Trimming" social at the church Saturday evening, March 31. Refreshments will be served and 10 cents admission pays for all. All are cordially invited. At its meeting tomorrow the subject for discussion by the Grange will be "Foultry." Everyone, whether a member of the Grange or not, is invited to be present and take part in this discussion. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock.

The regular monthly rhetorical were held at the college last Friday afternoon and as usual attracted a large attendance. After these exercises an exhibition in athletics was given at the armory by the young ladies in the physical culture class of Prof. Erwin Lea. Especially good was the work in dumbbell exercises. Something new to the Corvallis people was the fencing exhibition by a class of young ladies who displayed much ability. The program concluded with a game of indoor baseball by nines composed entirely of young ladies, and much amusement was afforded.

Corvallis has a cabin of Native Daughters, the eighteen to be organized in the state. It was instituted last Monday evening by the Grand President Sarelia G. Miller, and the name Martha Avery Cabin was chosen. It has already an excellent membership and its officers are among the most influential ladies of the county. Their names follow—President, Helen Crawford; vice president, Mrs. Della Wagoner; 2nd vice president, Miss Hortense Grefroz; 3rd vice president, Mrs. Mae Irvine; past president Mrs. Esther Reed; secretary, Edna Grove; financial secretary, Mabel Davis; marshal, Rosalie Grefroz; inside sentinel, Bessie Irvine, outside sentinel, Hattie Hoover; trustees, Mrs. Mary Hoover, Mrs. Gertrude Irvine, Miss Hattie Hoover, Mrs. Martha Avery, after whom the cabin was named, still resides at the same place in the south part of the city where she took up her residence in 1847. Another meeting will be held April 9th in Burnett's block.

Native Daughters Organize.

Professor Ginn's Concert. The concert by Professor Ginn's class in vocal music at the Opera House Friday evening was liberally attended and heartily enjoyed. The program contained twenty-one numbers, including solos, duets, trios, quartets, choruses and comic songs. Those from abroad who assisted were Jas. Dunn, John Hunter, and Frank Bates. Their quartet, "Jolly Jonathan", in which Prof. Ginn assisted was one of the gems of the evening. Other numbers worthy of special mention were Mr. Wragge's solo "The Soldiers Parting", after which he was compelled to respond to two encores; the trio "Softly Roam", by Miss Martha King, Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Ginn; the quartette "Call John" by Mrs. Ginn, Miss May Hochkiss and Messrs. Tedrow, Underwood and Ginn. Prof. Ginn's work in this chorus was especially pleasing. A duet "Song That Mother Sang" by Miss Hochkiss and Mr. Collie Cathey, with double quartette accompaniment, was beautifully rendered. Miss King's solo "Our Heroes Welcome Home," delighted everyone. Mrs. G. B. Schmidt acted as accompanist.

Give This Your Attention.

Procrastination on the part of voters in registering is going to cause trouble and annoyance on election day. If this negligence effected only those who are delaying compliance with the law, the matter would not be so serious, but those who have not the requirements are to suffer as well. It is the duty, then, of everyone to agitate the question and urge voters to register. Considerably over half the time allotted for this work has passed and only about 1000, or little over one-half of the county vote has been recorded. All who do not register will have to meet the requirements of blank "A's" and this work will consume the attention of the judges and clerks on election day that only a small portion of those who have registered can vote between the hours set for this purpose.

Looking For Landmarks.

Jacob Wortman, a pioneer river man, pioneer banker of Yamhill County, now president of the First National Bank at McMinnville, will leave this morning on the steamer Ruth for Corvallis, says Tuesday's Oregonian. Mr. Wortman is making the river trip at the invitation of the owners of the Ruth, and is looking for old landmarks, as this is his first trip on the Willamette in 35 years. Mr. Wortman began running boats on what was termed the "Upper river" from Willamette Falls to Corvallis and Eugene in 1853, and continued on the river until 1865. He took the first boat to Eugene that made that point. This was the James Clinton. Mr. Wortman's first boat was the Oregon, which ran from Oregon City to Corvallis and Eugene. This boat was wrecked in 1854 below Salem. He then ran the Franklin, then the Clinton, and afterwards the Elk, the Onward and the Surprise. The fare at that time was $30 from Oregon City to Corvallis. "Steamboats in those days," said Mr. Wortman, "were very poor, and the machinery crude. There was no canal around the falls, and the Willamette was divided into the upper and lower river. About the time I quit the river, some good boats began to be built here. There was no canal around the falls in those days, and the passengers and freight were transferred."

High Rate of Taxation.

Some Causes Leading to an Increase in Taxes During the Past Five Years. CORVALLIS, March 14, 1900. EDITOR UNION-GAZETTE.—Will you kindly inform your readers through the columns of your paper, the causes leading to the higher rates of taxation in the last five years, and the remedies best calculated to reduce them? A SUBSCRIBER. There are so many tendencies leading to higher rates of taxation, that it is not practical to mention all of them at this time. It will have to suffice to mention only a few, which more particularly affect this county, yet similar tendencies have occurred in nearly all other counties of the state. The legislature of 1891 passed a law subdividing the office of county clerk of Benton county, making separate offices of recorder of conveyances and county clerk to take effect July 1, 1892, which was followed by another act at the session of 1893, giving to recorder of conveyances, county clerk and sheriff each fixed salaries to be paid out of the general county fund. Prior to that time the services of those officers were paid for in certain statutory fees by the parties employing them for each item of service rendered. In this manner the officers were paid their salaries without expense to the general taxpayer not employing them. The division of the county clerk's office making a separate office for recorder of conveyances and county clerk to take effect July 1, 1892, for the reason that Lincoln and Benton were so county, the late B. W. Wilson, assisted only part of the time by a deputy, did all the work of that territory, which is now being done by a clerk in Lincoln county, and a clerk and deputy and a recorder in Benton county. After the officers named were provided with definite salaries there were no officers or person directly interested in seeing the fee bill kept in force, hence the legislature, as usual untrue to the interests of the people, passed a law which repealed the old fee bill, thus relieving the litigants and others receiving the services of the officers from paying adequate fees for the services rendered, which the taxpayers pay for those services and receive nothing adequate in return. In 1891 and 1893 the legislature, without notice or knowledge to the taxpayers, raised the salary of the county judge to nine hundred dollars per annum, when prior to that time competent and serviceable parties had been elected to fill that office on a salary of five to six hundred dollars per annum at a time when Benton and Lincoln counties were one, all seemed to the public that this salary was raised in direct betrayal of the confidence of the people, who had elected the county judge upon his promises of faithful endeavor to economy and reform in reducing expenditures of public money. A few years ago the office of school superintendent had been performed at a salary of about three hundred dollars per year by several parties who did good public service, but also performed the duties of teacher or principal in some of the public schools of the county. Later the salary of school superintendent was raised to eight hundred per annum, and again at the last legislature in 1899 it was raised to $1000 per annum to take effect in July, 1900. This salary was also raised without any previous knowledge or notice to the taxpayers of the county aside from a favored few. Until a short time ago the county clerk made two copies of the tax roll in expensive books supplied by the state, when the original roll made by the assessor should suffice. Also the delinquent roll had to be copied again when an extra column on the original roll should be ruled to carry the taxes after they become delinquent, which should be made to suffice for the delinquent roll. Besides there are so many other expensive methods in advertising and levying upon property to collect taxes, and other impractical and useless complicated details established by law for conducting public business which are too numerous to mention in this already too long article. The old mortgage tax law while in existence caused the local taxpayers of Benton county to pay many thousands dollars into the state treasury which was never repaid to Benton county by the foreign and other mortgages upon which the state tax was assessed, and could not be collected. The remedy in part is to elect members to the legislature who will not consent to raise the salaries of officers or multiply and create public offices which out the people first having ample notice, and make it so understood by those who

HIGH RATE OF TAXATION.

Some Causes Leading to an Increase in Taxes During the Past Five Years. CORVALLIS, March 14, 1900.

EDITOR UNION-GAZETTE.—Will you kindly inform your readers through the columns of your paper, the causes leading to the higher rates of taxation in the last five years, and the remedies best calculated to reduce them? A SUBSCRIBER.

There are so many tendencies leading to higher rates of taxation, that it is not practical to mention all of them at this time. It will have to suffice to mention only a few, which more particularly affect this county, yet similar tendencies have occurred in nearly all other counties of the state.

CITIZEN BRYAN.

He arouses Curiosity but Enthusiasm is an Unknown Quantity.

Curiosity and the opportunity to enjoy a holiday took 400 or 500 people from Corvallis to Albany to see Citizen Bryan, Wednesday. The city was crowded with visitors, for besides the attraction offered in the person of Mr. Bryan, the republican convention for Linn county was held in Albany the same day and delegates and others in large numbers were in attendance.

SALEM WON.

The Indoor Baseball Game between Salem and O. A. C. was Hotly Contested.

In one of the best games of indoor baseball ever seen in Salem, the team from O A C was defeated by Salem Y. M. C. A. last Friday night, by a score of 20 to 18. Of the game, the Statesman says: "The visiting team was slightly handicapped in that it has been accustomed to playing in an armory about 185x70 and the cramped quarters of the local gymnasium worked to the team's disadvantage in both team and individual work. However, the visitors put up a splendid game, excelling the home team in team work. The college boys would surely have won the game but for some unfortunate fumbles, at critical stages in the game. In the Corvallis team the work of Small, the pitcher, was the best, while Hamilton, a Salem boy, at short stop played very effectively and made not a single error."

"What the Salem team lacked in team work was supplied in individual playing, which with the errors of the collegians, gave them the game by a narrow margin."

"Grant Elgin, of Corvallis, and E. W. Holman, of Salem, umpired the game with utmost fairness to both sides and their rulings met with the approval of all."

The floor space was so limited that only eight men were played by each team. Nothing more than a one-bagger could be batted and luck, under the circumstances, played an important part. Before going to Salem however, the college boys were aware of the conditions and had no excuses to make. They were scheduled for a return game with the Y. M. C. A., and if that organization failed to provide suitable conditions for a fair contest, the collegians simply had to do their best, and that is what they did.

Dr. Cathey Resigns.

While I appreciate the kindness of my Prohibition friends in nominating me for the office of County Treasurer, yet as a physician in active practice, I cannot allow myself to be drawn into politics nor anything else that will divert my attention, in the slightest degree from my professional work. I must therefore respectfully decline the nomination. B. A. CATHEY.

CITIZEN BRYAN.

He arouses Curiosity but Enthusiasm is an Unknown Quantity.

Curiosity and the opportunity to enjoy a holiday took 400 or 500 people from Corvallis to Albany to see Citizen Bryan, Wednesday. The city was crowded with visitors, for besides the attraction offered in the person of Mr. Bryan, the republican convention for Linn county was held in Albany the same day and delegates and others in large numbers were in attendance.

For two hours Mr. Bryan talked from a platform on the court house square, and had an audience of 1000 or 1500 good natured people, one-third of whom at least were ladies.

The most surprising thing, in the light of his reputation as a platform speaker, is Mr. Bryan's inability to arouse enthusiasm or even hold the interest of his hearers. Few who were in Albany, Wednesday, heard his entire speech. The crowd was constantly changing; some going, some coming. Those who stood within hearing of his voice, and the most distant auditor was not fifty yards from the platform, were not attentive. A good natured conversation on subjects other than politics was being indulged in by friends who met in the crowd. No applause interrupted the speaker, no shouts of approval followed the close of his address. Measured from the standpoint then of swaying or enthusing his hearers, Mr. Bryan is not an orator. Nor is he a polished or scholarly speaker, for his language is the language of the street, slangy in composition and full of errors in pronunciation. He is a fluent talker, displays wonderful physical endurance, and his voice though high-keyed is clear and distinct.

For argument he conjures up perils which do not and cannot exist and like Don Quixote chooses wind-mills for adversaries. His wall of words falls like "A" thrice told tale tickling the dull ears of a drowsy man." The best answer to his cry of hard times, was the happy contented expression on the faces of his hearers, and the fact that all were well dressed and could afford to withdraw from the battle for existence and enjoy a holiday. That these people had money to spend and would spend it was realized by the people of Albany for they contributed handsomely to the fund to secure this attraction and arranged for the excursion train to remain at Albany several hours after Mr. Bryan's departure that an opportunity might be given the visitor to increase the per capita of circulation in Linn's county; seat.

Mrs. Mary Lilly.

Last Monday morning at her home near Wren, occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Hardy Lilly. These simple words record the passing of another pioneer, for Mrs. Lilly had been a resident of Benton county since the autumn of 1851. Tuesday's train conveyed the remains to the depot carried the funeral party to the Odd Fellows' cemetery, where all that was mortal of Mary Lilly was laid to rest by the side of her husband, whose death occurred eighteen years ago. The ceremony, Tuesday, was conducted by Dr. Thompson.
