A GRAVE ERROR.

Much faultfinding has been indulged in by the critics of the government as to what has been by them called the "Porto Rico Bill." The criticism referred to was occasioned in many instances because the critics did not understand the purport or intent of the bill. The bill laid a duty upon certain classes of merchandise going to and from the United States and Porto Rico. It was erroneously supposed that the duty was levied for the purpose of enabling the United States to speculate off of the necessities of the people of Porto Rico. But this is a grave error, because the bill provides that tariff so collected shall be all turned over to the government authorities in charge of administering the government of Porto Rico to be used to defray the expenses of their own government, and not a cent of it to be used for the benefit of the United States proper. The following are portions of the bill referring to the point mentioned:

Sec. 3. That on and after the date of the passage of this act all merchandise coming into the United States from Porto Rico and coming into Porto Rico from the United States shall be entered at the several ports of entry upon payment of fifteen per centum of the duties which are required to be levied, collected, and paid upon like articles of merchandise imported from foreign countries; and in addition thereto upon articles of merchandise of Porto Rican manufacture coming into the United States and withdrawn for consumption or sale upon payment of a tax equal to the internal-revenue tax imposed in the United States upon the like articles of merchandise of domestic manufacture; * * * Provided, That on and after the date when this act shall take effect, all merchandise and articles, except coffee, not dutiable, under the tariff laws of the United States, and all merchandise and articles entered in Porto Rico free of duty under orders heretofore made by the secretary of war, shall be admitted into the several ports thereof, when imported from the United States, free of duty, all laws or parts of laws to the contrary notwithstanding; and whenever the legislative assembly of Porto Rico shall have enacted and put into operation a system of local taxation to meet the necessities of the government of Porto Rico, by this act established, and shall by resolution duly passed so notify the president, he shall make proclamation thereof, and hereupon all tariff duties on merchandise and articles going to Porto Rico from the United States or coming into the United States from Porto Rico shall cease, and from and after such date all such merchandise and articles shall be entered at the several ports of entry free of duty; and in no event shall any duties be collected after the first day of March, nineteen hundred and two, on merchandise and articles going into Porto Rico from the United States or coming into the United States from Porto Rico.

Sec. 4. That the duties and taxes collected in Porto Rico in pursuance of this act, less the cost of collecting the same, and the gross amount of all collections of duties and taxes in the United States upon articles of merchandise coming from Porto Rico, shall not be covered into the general fund of the treasury, but shall be held as a separate fund, and shall be placed at the disposal of the president to be used for the government and benefit of Porto Rico until the government of Porto Rico herein provided for shall have been organized, when all moneys theretofore collected under the provisions hereof, then unexpended, shall be transferred to the local treasury of Porto Rico. * * * Provided, however, That as soon as a civil government for Porto Rico shall have been organized in accordance with the provision of this act and notice thereof shall have been given to the President he shall make proclamation thereof, and thereafter all collections of duties and taxes in Porto Rico under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the treasury of Porto Rico, to be expended as required by law for the government and benefit thereof instead of being paid into the treasury of the United States.

The republican party since its organization has been one of progress and of high capabilities for the upbuilding of this great country. At all times when internal dissension and discordant elements have attracted public attention; or when the contending armies of the civil war, nearly forty years ago, were devastating the country; or when engaged in war with a foreign foe, the republican party has at all times been found equal to the occasion, and the best talents of its best men at all times have not been found wanting to make this one of the grandest nations on the face of the earth. These reasons, as well as many others, should furnish plentiful food for sober thought and convince the voter that he should be counted voting for and with this grand old party. The young man should especially be found in its ranks, because it is important that he should get started right; and to the middle aged and old man it is more important that he should change the error of his way and become associated with the party of progress at as early a date as possible.

Senator B. J. Mulkey is a candidate for re-election to the state senate from Polk county, and it is of interest to the state at large, as well as to his county, that he should be elected. Senator Mulkey is an unusually bright young man of integrity and sound judgment. He is a good speaker and his voice is to be heard in the front ranks advocating every reform in the interest of the state. He was one of the committee that prepared the school law which passed the last legislature, and to his voice and energy is due in a large measure its success. He tried very earnestly for other reforms which were not so successful, but may be should he be elected again, which it is earnestly hoped will be the case. The state needs such men as Senator Mulkey in its legislative body, and we earnestly hope we will see him in the next senate.

A fitting example of Aguinaldo's conception of government was shown when one of his army officers, Captain Arguelles, was sent to negotiate with the United States authorities. On his return he told the truth to Aguinaldo about the good and friendly intentions of the United States, and because of this the latter deprived him of his rank, dismissed him from the service, and sent him to prison for twelve years. And yet the critics of our government compare Aguinaldo to George Washington.

Election Notice.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 21st day of May, 1900, at the council chambers in the city hall, Corvallis, Oregon, an election will be held for city officers as follows, to-wit: One police judge, one chief of police, one treasurer, one councilman, first ward; one councilman, second ward; one councilman, third ward.

Notice is also hereby given that an election will be held at the same time and place by the legal voters of Corvallis, Oregon upon the question of issuing and selling bonds of the city of Corvallis in a sum not exceeding $10,000.00 for the purpose of paying some of the outstanding warrants against the general fund of said city. Those favoring the proposition of bonding the city as aforesaid will vote "For bonds," those voting against such proposition will vote "Against bonds." Which election for election of officers and voting on said bond proposition will be held at 9 o'clock in the morning and will continue until 6 o'clock in the afternoon of said day without closing the polls, and Caleb Davis, Wm. Crozes and John H. Simpson will be the judges, and J. H. Gibson and E. R. Bryson will be the clerks of such election.

The part of this notice relating to such general election is published by order of the city council, and the part pertaining to the issuing and selling of bonds is published under and by virtue of an ordinance of said city council; both, said order and ordinance, being passed by said city council on the 9th day of April, 1900, directing me, as police judge, to give notice of said general election and of said proposition to issue and sell bonds as aforesaid in the Corvallis Times and the OREGON-GAZETTE, two newspapers of Benton County, Oregon. Dated this 10th day of April, 1900, at Corvallis, Oregon. E. P. GREFFOZ, Police Judge of the City of Corvallis.
