LOCAL NEWS.

Take your roses to the carnival Thursday evening and see if they don't win a prize for you.

Tonight there is to be a faculty meeting at the O. A. C. Its business is to arrange matters for the closing exercises at O. A. C.

A. F. Peterson arrived home Saturday night from three months' trip through Eastern Oregon and Idaho. Mr. Peterson has not determined yet just what he shall do in the immediate future.

Mrs. Ora Porter, nee Spangler, is expected up from Oregon City in a few days to visit relatives and friends in this city until after the O. A. C. commencement. She is a member of the alumni.

Frank Glass arrived home Friday from a trip to Southern Oregon. He has been visiting his old friend Leslie Lilly and the latter came home with him and will remain here for a week or such a matter visiting relatives and friends.

W. H. McMahan is now sole proprietor of the brick livery stable. He purchased the concern last week of John Stewart and assumed control Friday. Mr. McMahan is an energetic business man and will undoubtedly make a success of this business.

The Benton County Flouring Mills will begin to remodel the plant and place new machinery in about ten days. After about a month's work the mill will again be ready to grind and the capacity will be increased from 75 to 110 barrels per day.

From what can be learned, it seems that Arthur W. Bowersox, who suddenly lost his mind, of whom mention was made in our last issue, was kicked on the head during March by a horse. On the advice of friends and his physician he was taken to the asylum at Salem Friday.

John D. Daly, of this city, who is a state delegate to the republican national convention which convenes in Philadelphia, June 19th, left yesterday for the scene of action. His old home is in New Jersey, and he will visit there a short time prior to the meeting of the convention, which will probably be in session for about three days.

Grover Headrick went to Salem yesterday. He had the promise of work down there, but his health was such that he could not accept when he was needed and as a consequence he has nothing in view at present. He has relatives there with whom he shall stop awhile. In case his health does not improve he intends going over to his father's home in Alsea to remain during the summer.

W. H. Mahoney who was formerly in the employ of the O. P. R. R., and stationed in this city, spent Sunday in Corvallis. His wife accompanied him. Mr. Mahoney is now traveling auditor for the Southern Pacific railroad and is looking after affairs in Oregon. He is also a member of the Benton County Prune Co. and takes great interest in the affairs of the big orchard.

The big picnic which was to have been given a couple of weeks ago at Calloway's grove, and had to be postponed on account of rainy weather, is now set for June 16th. It is to be given under the auspices of the schools and the United Artisans. Everything possible will be done to insure a good time to all, and the O. A. C. brass band will be in attendance to dispense music that will be sure to please everybody.

From the following it will appear that a lady of Corvallis, while visiting in Albany recently had an exciting experience. The lady, we learn, was Mrs. Lafferty. Last evening Mrs. J. A. Weaver and Mrs. C. C. Parker and a lady guest from Corvallis, were out driving with Mr. Parker's team, and when near Penniwinkle the team became frightened at a horse tied to a tree and which was tangled up in his rope. The team shied off the grade and the carriage was overturned, throwing the occupants out, badly bruising Mrs. Parker and throwing Mrs. Weaver against a barbed wire fence, cutting her arm badly. Dr. Wallace and Davis were called and attended their injuries. It required six or seven stitches to sew up the wound. The car came on up town and were aught."—Herald.

Chester Mason arrived home from Portland Friday.

Mrs. T. D. Campbell, of Independence, arrived in Corvallis Saturday and is visiting relatives.

R. M. Davison arrived in this city Thursday from Salem. In a few days he will ship his household effects to Salem. Ralph holds a good position at the asylum.

It was rumored that the encampment of the National Guard would be held in Albany this year. Such is not the case. It will encamp at Salem from July 7th to the 15th.

The State Barbers' Commission will meet in Portland about the middle of July. They will travel through the valley, holding conferences in the different towns as far south as Ashland.

The marriage of Dennis Stovall and Miss Odessa Reed is announced to take place June 14th, at Grants Pass, the home of the bride. Both of the young people are well known in this city and a host of friends hope for their success on life's stormy sea. They will make Baker City their residence, as Dennis has a good situation at newspaper work in that city.

Although earlier in the season it was feared that the fruit crop of Benton county would be a total failure, it is now believed that there will be considerable of a crop. The fact that the market will not be glutted seems to give assurance of better prices, so that those who have fruit to sell will not suffer the great financial loss that was at one time feared.

There is to be a grand school picnic given Saturday at Brown's bridge, half way between Corvallis and Philomath. Supt. Martindale, of Albany, will be present and address the multitude. There will be a game of baseball played by the O. A. C. and Philomath teams. Some hope is entertained that the O. A. C. cadets may attend in a body and drill. The services of the Bell fountain band has been secured for this occasion and will be appreciated beyond a doubt.

The June number of the College Barometer reached our desk a few days ago. This is the last number of Volume 5 and it presents a neat appearance as it ever did, and this is praise sufficient. It contains considerable well-written matter that is of public interest and is a credit to all who are connected with its publication, from editor-in-chief to printer. During the next few months many people will miss this popular journal, as it takes a vacation until the doors of the O. A. C. are again opened to the students of the state.

Commencement day at the O. A. C. will be on the 20th inst. and preparations are already being made for the final exercises. The past year has been successful in educational results at the college; there has been over 400 students enrolled, and there will be a large graduating class. There will be a series of entertainments given by students of the different years; the first of these enjoyable times will be given by the junior class. And from the date of their "good time" there will be a series of treats until the alumni concludes the social work of the school year.

"Dilley, the fixer," and his assistant started out Saturday evening for the Santiam, where they fished during Sunday. They had fair success, but if "the fixer" had succeeded in landing the fish he lost, we could all have eaten of it. The struggle between Mr. Dilley and the fish was long and fierce and was considered a draw. After all was over the fish lay on the top of the water and took his breath, while Dilley sat on the bank and watched him. Have "the fixer" relate the story with all attention to circumstance and detail and you will have heard the best fish story of the season.

W. H. Mahoney who was formerly in the employ of the O. P. R. R., and stationed in this city, spent Sunday in Corvallis. His wife accompanied him. Mr. Mahoney is now traveling auditor for the Southern Pacific railroad and is looking after affairs in Oregon. He is also a member of the Benton County Prune Co. and takes great interest in the affairs of the big orchard.

GROCERY selling in a department store no longer attracts attention because of its novelty, but for the reason that the best of food products costs less there than the exclusive grocer charges. This store is easily in the lead in this respect. Our grocery department is appreciated by well posted buyers because it offers an opportunity to supply the family needs in this line at closest prices. Country produce taken.

U. of O. Won the Inter-Collegiate Meet After a Thrilling Contest.

Defeated, but still undaunted. This is the position of supporters of the orange today. The stoic manner in which she takes defeat—and the fate have been most unkind to the O. A. ## Elizabeth Taylor.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor occurred in this city May 31, 1900. Funeral services were held in the Christian church last Sunday and were conducted by Rev. L. F. Stephens. The remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Porter county, Ind., March 29, 1847, and was a little more than 53 years of age when death overtook her. Her maiden name was Harlan and at an early age she went to Iowa with her parents. Here she resided the greater part of her life. She was married in Cass county, Iowa, September 4, 1870, to R. L. Taylor and there resided until August, 1889, when they came to Oregon.

Early in February last she began to suffer from a fibrous tumor and in April Mr. Taylor took her to the Good Samaritan hospital, Portland. After an examination the surgeons concluded that it was useless to operate on her, so she was brought home to await the inevitable. Until the last month her suffering was not acute, but just prior to her death she underwent great pain. Her husband and four children survive her, and were all at her bedside to the last. The children are Mrs. Ollie Baldwin, Roy Walter, Chester and Harlan, the youngest being 15 years old.

During life Mrs. Taylor was a good Christian woman and made many friends who will be sad indeed to learn of her death. She had been a faithful follower of the Christian church doctrines for the past 35 years.

A Local Rabbitry.

In former issues of this paper articles have appeared on the Belgian hare industry, now gaining ground in different sections of the state. There has been quite a considerable inquiry as to cost of production and percentage of profit arising from a venture at the rear of the "Leporine." Local interest has caused one of our townsmen, John Simpson, to engage in the business and he now has a rabbitry started on a small scale. His son, Eugene, who is at present in San Francisco, recently sent three Belgian hares to Corvallis as a starter.

They are the finest breeding and have pedigrees. In California the raising of Belgian hares seems already to be looked upon as an industry of great promise, and people are readily engaging in it, both as a means of profit and pleasure. Breeding as rapidly as the Belgian hares do, it will only be a short time before Mr. Simpson will have a rabbitry established in Corvallis that will be of interest to many citizens, insomuch that it will demonstrate the profitable side of the industry. Eugene Simpson has written his parents that he will be home during the summer and he and his father calculate to give the Belgian hare business a most thorough test.

Cal Thrasher will leave tomorrow for Marion county where he will be engaged for the next ten days in the interest of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Porter returned Saturday from Portland where they had been to consult specialists regarding Mr. Porter's health. It was feared he was suffering with diabetes, but the physicians whom he consulted do not think his case so bad as that. Both he and his wife are encouraged to find that his malady is not so bad as they had feared.
