It may be interesting to some of our local athletes to learn that at the Chautauquan Assembly, soon to be held in Oregon City, there are to be a series of field events conducted. The events are open to all, and there is evidence of perfect fairness, both in conducting and judging all contests.

On the highest authority it is reported that the California hop crop will be about 10,000 bales short this year. Should this prove true it will have the effect of brightening the prospects of our local hop growers, inasmuch that a crop that is short of the demand will always cause a rise in prices.

Willie E. McElroy, one of the foremost cornetists of Chicago, has a march entitled "March of the 2nd Oregon." The march is dedicated to General O. Summers and his gallant men, and it is fast becoming a favorite in the East. The composer is a son of Prof. E. B. McElroy and wife, who now reside in Eugene.

The boys of O A C report a fine time during their three days' encampment between this city and Philomath. The only thing that transpired to mar their enjoyment was a sudden attack of cramp colic suffered by Cadet Hamilton. His condition became such that his comrades brought him to town for medical attendance. He is at present feeling about as well as ever.

Neil Newhouse returned Friday from a trip to Portland and Seattle. He has been looking in the chances for business in the sound country. Niel recently disposed of his interest in the 500-acre tract of hardwood timber near Dallas, Polk county, to Samuel Whitesides, one of Neil's partners. Mr. Newhouse has not yet determined in what enterprise he shall engage in the immediate future.

The students of the O A C are having examinations this week. It is their intention to take a well-earned holiday Saturday, June 16, and to this end they have arranged an excursion to the coast on this date. The O A C Cadet Band will be in attendance to render the air melodious. The train will start from Albany at 5:30 a. m.; Corvallis 6:15 a. m., and returning leaves Newport at 6 p. m. Fare for the round trip is placed at $1.50.

Many of our exchanges contain an account of a large sturgeon recently caught in a fish trap on the Columbia river, and turned back into the river again, as the Washington laws prohibit the taking of sturgeons at this season. The account concludes with the statement that the fish weighed 700 pounds. This must be a curiosity, abnormal in some respects, that it could be taken from the river, transferred to the scales, weighed and turned loose again without bodily harm. Quite a fish story.

Mrs. J. S. Booth went to the coast yesterday to spend a few weeks at Nye Creek.

Miss Bessie Barker arrived in Corvallis yesterday from Astoria where she holds a position in a store. This is her old home and there are many friends here who will unite in making her vacation most pleasurable.

Mention was made a couple of weeks ago of the fact that Bert Barnett, son of Monroe's postmaster, had gone to Idaho for the benefit of his health. A few days ago his death occurred. The remains are to be interred there, according to authority obtainable.

E. R. Sheppard and Ivan Brown, who have been attending school at the O A C and who were sent as delegates to the Y. M. C. A. convention recently held in Pacific Grove, California, returned last Thursday. They had a very enjoyable as well as profitable trip.

J. M. Nolan was most agreeably surprised when he entered his residence Saturday evening, after closing up the business of the week. He found a number of ladies and gentlemen awaiting him. The surprise was in honor of the tenth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan's wedding. A most enjoyable evening was passed and everything was as "Merry as a marriage bell."

The board of directors of the public schools of Corvallis met Saturday to consider the matter of selecting teachers for the ensuing school year. Miss Letty Wicks, Miss Hortense Grefroz and Mrs. May Nelms were selected. Among the applicants from abroad Nick Tartar, of Polk county, and Miss Ida Maxwell, of Halsøy, were selected. Mr. Tartar will likely be given charge of the eighth grade. The board meets again Saturday night for further consideration of this matter.

"Uncle Collins," of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has undertaken to dictate to the City of Corvallis what she shall or shall not do in the matter of running the sewer, now in course of construction, under the S. P. track. His agents have given notice that consent must be asked in this matter before it is safe to proceed any farther. What may be the result is not known, but the sentiment of the authorities in this city seems to be to manage the affair without any consultation with the "Uncle" of the Southern Pacific.

Andrew Porter passed through Corvallis a few days ago with several gentlemen en route to the Siletz country. Mr. Porter is a surveyor and it is thought that the gentlemen with him have an eye open for the location of timber land, and that the above-mentioned gentleman is to assist them with his knowledge regarding the lay of the land. A portion of Siletz reservation is to be thrown open and the surveyors are expected to begin work about July 1st. Shortly after this it will be open for script.

Rev. L. F. Stephens preached a sermon Sunday at Camp Edwards, where the O A C cadets were encamped. There was a large attendance, as many people from the city and country had congregated there for an outing. The boys are general favorites at home, and are of such interest to the public in general that the managers of the Sunday Oregonian felt justified in giving them a two-column write-up with cuts of the officers. About 5 o'clock Sunday evening the cadets broke camp and marched to O A C. They looked very war-like with rifles, knapsacks and blankets. Many of the O A C cadets are already looking forward to the encampment of 1931.

A SECRET MOVEMENT

Something on Foot that may Prove to Our Advantage in the Future.

For a number of years the people of Yaquina Bay and the country adjacent to the railroad line of the Corvallis & Eastern have entertained hopes that some day the line would be extended east, and eventually become a factor in trans-continental traffic. From certain things that have transpired there is reason to believe that the managers of this road are keenly alive to the fact that the building of the Columbia Southern railroad from the Deschutes river south will mean an encroachment on the territory that the extension of the C. & E. would traverse. In the eastern part of the state the Sumpter Valley railroad is extending its line toward Central Oregon, while on the south the California, Nevada & Oregon line has crossed the state, and a couple of companies have been incorporated for the purpose of securing a hold on the commerce of the great interior country.

The mysterious party of surveyors that left The Dalles some time ago has been identified with the C & E. It is headed by T. H. Curtis. The information is gleaned from a reliable party who billed most of the goods that the survey party did everything possible to "blind" their movements. The head men even boxed their instruments in the shape of merchandise so that their purpose could not be guessed. They took along two months' supplies, and went into the interior prepared for business.

Since leaving The Dalles they have not been heard from, and some people very much interested have been inclined to doubt their existence. But mysterious as their actions have been, it was impossible to keep everyone ignorant of their movements, and the chances are they will soon be heard from in the vicinity of Prineville.

The Corvallis & Eastern is as much interested in Central Oregon as the Columbia Southern. It was the original purpose of the company to extend its line into the heart of Oregon. It had run surveys through Prineville to Ontario on the eastern border of the state. In fact, it shipped in scrapers and other grading material which are still on the ground. The work was not continued owing to the hard times, it is said.

But the revival in all kinds of business has reawakened interest. The Corvallis & Eastern now extends east from Albany almost to the summit of the Cascade Range, and it is but another step to Prineville—the natural key to the heart of Oregon. It is said that the road has already surveyed an excellent pass through the mountains, and can be extended without much trouble. The party of surveyors recently sent in has for its object either the relocation of the old surveys, which perhaps might have run out, or else the locating of permanent surveys for the purpose of constructing the line immediately. Each of the roads interested is moving as secretly as possible in order to steal a march upon its competitors, but it is likely an open warfare for territory will soon be inaugurated.

Attention Co. O.

After mature deliberation, we, the committee on arrangements appointed by the Veterans' Association of Benton Co., believe it to be to the best interest of the association to postpone, indefinitely, the reunion announced at this place for the 15th and 16th of this month.

Died in Jail.

A sudden death occurred in the county jail at 10:30 Friday night. The deceased was known as Thos. Murphy. He was incarcerated in the county bastille about five weeks ago for stealing a coat and vest of A. Baxter, a farmer living in the north end of the county. Murphy was awaiting the action of the November term of court. The life of Murphy is veiled and nothing was known of him until he was apprehended by the sheriff on the charge of theft. Since his incarceration he has stated that he is a native of Pennsylvania, and that he followed the business of a professional cook. He was not a bad appearing man and there was something about him that suggested better days. He was aged about 52 years. He first complained of feeling ill Friday morning and shortly after noon Sheriff Richard summoned Dr. Altman to attend him. The doctor attributed death to neuralgia of the heart and did what he could for the sufferer during the short time that he survived after medical aid was called. The remains were taken to the morgue, from which place they were buried in the Masonic cemetery. Services were held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning and were conducted by Dr. Thompson. It is well to state here that there is a movement on foot to have a part of some cemetery set aside for the burial of unknown citizens, that they may not be interred in the potter's field.

Rose Carnival.

The Opera House was well filled Thursday night with people who were interested in the rose carnival. The entire house was beautifully decorated with choice roses. On one side of the stage there was a flag and on the other a shield, both made of roses. In front of the stage there was a small arbor constructed of beautiful roses. Along the south side of the Opera House there was a fence of laths covered with ferns and evergreens in imitation of a hedge. Behind this the refreshments were retained. On the opposite side were placed all samples of fancy needle work, point lace, battenberg work, etc., some rare samples were exhibited. The first prize for choice roses was awarded Mrs. N. B. Avery, and Mrs. W. T. Wiles received prize number 2. A nice literary and musical program helped to make the carnival one of rare merit. It is generally thought that next year it will be best to hold the carnival earlier in the season, for, although there was an abundance of rare and beautiful roses on exhibition, had it been a few weeks ago roses could have been obtained with less effort.

A Creditable Affair.

The graduating exercises of the city public schools took place at the Opera House Friday evening. There was quite a large class of graduates and those who gave orations acquitted themselves in a manner most creditable to themselves and Prof. Pratt. Karl Steiner was valedictorian and did exceedingly well, speaking distinctly and understandingly at all times. The invocation was by Rev. Noble and the address to the class was made by Rev. Boozer, both of which were excellent. Victor Moses contributed a trombone solo, accompanied by Miss Mamie Cauthorn; Miss Lulu Spangler sang a solo, and Ruthyn Turney rendered a violin solo. Miss Edith Gibson was the accompanist for the last two numbers. The entire program was very nicely given and was highly appreciated by the large audience. The graduating exercises of schools and colleges are always well attended by the citizens of this city and on this occasion the Opera House was packed until there was hardly any standing room.

A HOUSE-BREAKER.

A Revolver Causes His Hands To Be Lifted for Mercy.

Constable Looney, of Monroe, arrived in Corvallis Saturday noon and turned over to Sheriff Rickard a prisoner giving his name as Francis Pryor. He was caught in the act of housebreaking and given a hearing before W. J. Kelly, justice of the peace of Monroe, who bound him over in the sum of $400 to appear at the November term of court. He broke into the store of Adam Wilhelm at Monroe. According to the information at hand it seems that Bennett Wilhelm has been running the flouring mill the fore part of the night, quitting at midnight. At the hour of 12, Friday night he went off shift as usual and went to the store where he and another man slept. Not feeling sleepy he concluded to read for awhile, but was disturbed by different noise. These disturbances he first attributed to stock that might be at large, but it finally dawned upon him that some party was forcing an entrance to the store. Securing a revolver and taking a good position, Bennett awaited the fellow's entrance when he bade him throw his hands up. The request was hurriedly complied with and Francis Pryor found himself a prisoner.

Francis Pryor is not of prepossessing appearance by any means. He was fairly well dressed, but has a decidedly tough look. He is of medium size, dark complexioned and about 30 years of age. Little is known of him and he has only been at Monroe for a short time.

Pryor's personal effects would not bring much if sold at auction. A razor, pocket comb, some chewing gum, one dice, two memorandum books, a purse containing six cents and several photos were found in his possession. Three of the photographs are of young women; one is the work of a photographer of Waterloo, Iowa; another is issued from a photograph parlor in Pleasant Hill, Oregon. He also had W. S. Tomlinson's card and other valuables. Throughout his memorandum books were notes that proved him to be very systematic in affairs of a shady character. There were addresses of people of various sections of the United States; little memorandums of conversations, etc. The most incriminating thing in his books was the following insertion: "Alone, with property valued at $10,000 to $50,000." From this it is impossible to form a favorable impression of the man. It is plain that his name was at one time in the books and it is clearly seen that it has been erased. This does not look well.

On account of the date of the picnic conflicting with that chosen by the Veteran Association of Benton County, the reunion that was to have taken place in this city on June 15 and 16, has been postponed. THERE'S PROFIT IN TRADING HERE.

LADIES who wish to avoid the bother of home work, or the details of dressmaking, will be interested in our new line of dress skirts. All the fashionable fabrics of the season are included in the line, and the skirts have the fit and "hang" of the best dressmaker. Take a look at them and you will agree with us.

GROCERY selling in a department store no longer attracts attention because of its novelty, but for the reason that the best of food products costs less there than the exclusive grocer charges. This store is easily in the lead in this respect. Our grocery department is appreciated by well posted buyers because it offers an opportunity to supply the family needs in this line at closest prices. Country produce taken.

WHENEVER you find a properly organized and rightly conducted men's furnishing store in a dry goods store there you will find a successful one. Men no longer shun dry goods store furnishings, for they know they can get correct styles at close prices. We invite the attention of our customers to an especially fine and complete line of neckwear just opened.

SHOE value consists in wear, style and comfort. If any of the three are lacking the footwear is not good value. Our shoes are strictly reliable in quality, therefore long wearing; they are stylish, as can be seen at a glance; they are comfortable, because fitted by an expert. All our customers will bear out these statements. We believe this is the best place for you to buy shoes, and solicit your patronage.

Every item offered below is proof of the above assertion.

The quotations are only a very meagre representation of the values which place this store unquestionably in the lead. This store is crowded with the most complete and comprehensive stock of dry goods we have ever shown. Every line was bought at close prices, and the goods will be passed along to our customers at the usual small margin of profit which has made this store so successful and popular.

The New Spring Parasols Are Here.

This store offers many attractions to economical buyers.

A store that relies solely on low prices to win and hold trade is playing "a losing game." To win such success as this store is winning it is necessary that the low prices should represent goods of strictly reliable quality. Every woman in this city who is posted on dry goods, and who takes the time to compare goods and prices will admit that our values are superior. We make and hold customers by treating them right. We lead; others follow.

If you want a stylish spring hat for $3.00, just as good as the $5.00 kind, come here. The only difference is in the absence of the name, and "what's in a name." If you are willing to pay two dollars for a name, buy the five dollar hat. If you want to pay only for the hat, come here. Agent for Kingburry hats.

OUR glove stock is the best patronized and most popular in this vicinity, because we make a constant effort to show a larger line, and offer better glove values than any other local dealer. It is not easy to do a satisfactory kid glove business. It requires long experience, careful buying, conscientious selling and a willingness to be content with a small profit. We recognize all these requirements and conform to them. That's why Corvallis women can get better gloves here for the price than elsewhere.

BEFORE your spring gown are fitted a new corset will be needed. That goes almost without saying, for everyone knows that an ill-fitting or worn-out corset spoils the fit of the dress. Our corset woman can help customers select the proper model—one that will improve the figure. Consult her and you will be better satisfied with your corset, and the fit of your dresses.

Prices from 50c to $1.50.

RECENTLY advances have taken place in all lines of cotton goods. Before the advance we stocked up with cords of domestic—shirtings, sheetings, gingham, prints, and other cotton goods. We are now selling these goods at just about what other merchants have to pay for them at present prices. You will find this store a good place to supply your needs in this line.
