CHINA'S PARTITION.

The question, Will China be divided? is the issue which the war with that country brings to the front, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In a large degree the answer to this lies with our nation. The report that the United States has been asked to join with the European powers in the partition, and to signify what part of China it would ask as its own portion, is probably not correct. There is not the slightest doubt, however, that the only thing which stands in the way of China's partition at the Kansas City convention yesthe present moment is the con- terday. The day was given over sent of the United States. It is to organization and demonstraeasy to see that the Chinese Gov- tion. Most of the continental Eurepean nations will probably suggest division of Union the empire, and will be more than willing to allow the United States a share of the territory as the price of her cousent to the partition. On this point the position of this country may be stated with the utmost confidence. The United States will neither enter into any alliances with the rest of the nations, nor will she accept any territory in China or any other part of Asia. The military aspect of the Chi-nese problem, notwithstanding the dark outlook which it has today, will be soon settled. Then will come its purely political phases, and these will be much more delicate and difficult than the features which are at this moment at the front.
