LOCAL NEWS.

Positively the last week—Goods at cost at Ladies' Bazaar.

Mr. George B Keady and family leave Wednesday for an outing of two or three weeks in the Alsea.

Dr. Cathey and Professor Horner were expected home from their hunting trip last evening. It is reported that they had killed three deer.

Jaké Hurlburt smoked a cigarette while hauling a load of hay to the barn on his farm south of town, last week. The iron work of the wagon was saved.

Mr. Allen Wilson left Friday for Turner, Oregon, where has accepted employment, and will probably take up his residence. His family will remain in Corvallis for the present.

R. E. Gibson, Punderson Avery and Joseph Yates, who have been hunting near Grass Mountain for a week or more, returned Saturday evening. They had a fine outing and got five deer.

The owner of the Edgemoor street car line is considering the advisability of taking up the track. A street car line in a small city is more of a nuisance than a convenience. We speak from experience.

R. L. Taylor and Frank Maxon left Corvallis Saturday night after 11 o'clock, were across the Alsea mountain by 2 o'clock Sunday morning, fished all day and were back in town in time for supper Sunday evening.

Sheriff Burnett, wife and son, Miss Julia Warrior and Geo. Paul returned Sunday evening from a day's fishing in Alsea. They caught all the fish they could eat. It may be well to state that none of the party are hearty eaters.

Jesse Spence, F. Sheagreen and Virgil Watters, who attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Workmen, which convened in Selem last week, arrived home Thursday evening. They report a splendid attendance and an enjoyable session.

Dave Osburn and William Baker took their families and departed for Alsea Saturday. Superintendent Denman and sister accompanied by Miss Minnie Hodes, left yesterday morning to join them. The party expects to be out about two weeks.

Frank Baker and Bert Griffith, charged respectively with burglary and larceny, were taken to Lincoln county by Sheriff Ross last Friday for trial. Owing to the lack of jail facilities in that county these gentlemen have been guests of Benton since last May.

The threshing machine of Knott's & Linderman was started, Friday, for a trial run on the Fisher boys' place north of town. Only about 60 bushels were threshed, but this morning they will commence operations in earnest. This is about as early as threshing was ever commenced in this county.

T. W. Dille, the bicycle man, has been spending several days at his old home at Scio. When Dille came to Corvallis he was a sufferer from four years of democracy. He was broke and in debt. He has thrived so well under McKinley, however, that he is able to go to Scio and pay off his old debts and still have money in the banks.

After a week's hunting and fishing on the Zahn place, just beyond Alsea Mountain, Carl Hodes, Ol Wicks and Clarence Whiteside returned home Sunday. Lots of fish, but no deer, is the report of their spokesman. The party had an thrilling experience. Hogs got into camp and ate up all their food, and but for the presence of mind of one of their number, who walked five miles to obtain a fresh supply, all hands might have starved.

A short time ago there was great uneasiness among the relatives of Harry Rogers regarding his whereabouts and if he was alive, as according to his last letters he was in poor health. A letter from Harry was received a few days ago by his mother, Mrs. G. Hodes, and it turns out that he is alive and well. He had been employed in the government printing office at Manila, but quit on account of poor health and went into the custom office. At the time of writing he was back in the printing office.

Nolan & Callahan's Remnant Sale.

John D Dely was a passenger to the bay Saturday.

Zach Taylor is visiting at Yaquina, the guest of Colonel J. H. Penn. Miss Hannah Towne, of Minnesota is the guest of her cousin, Miss Martha Fischer.

Watermelons have made their appearance in Corvallis. They are from California.

It is thought that the price paid for picking hops this season will be 30 or 40 cents per box.

Mrs. Sherman Wade and little daughter have returned to their home in Olex, Oregon.

James E. Durham, of the Times force, went over to the coast yesterday to remain a couple of weeks.

Ladies who visit Nolan & Callahan's don't forget looking over their Remnant Counter; some choice plums.

Professor Berchtold has been appointed vice-president of the Oregon State Poultry Association for Benton County.

Professor and Mrs. George Coote returned the first of the week from their visit with relatives in Santa Barbara, Calif.

A letter of recent date, from Asbach, Germany, is the latest work of Carl Hodes. It is very brief, but guarantees Carl's perfect health.

Lawrence S. Stovall, organizer for the United Artizans, is spending a few days in Lebanon and Sodaville in the interests of this order.

E. B. Aldrich, who has been clerking for F. L. Miller for the past month, has accepted a similar position in a mercantile establishment at Fossil, Eastern Oregon.

The numerous youngsters who are in the habit of going swimming in Marys River should be careful not to dive too deep, or stay down too long. Those things are fatal.

The C. & E. R. R. is attaching air brakes to 25 freight cars. "Janney couplers" are also being attached. This is the coupler made necessary by an act of congress, to prevent accidents in coupling cars.

Herman Zahn came over from Alsea Saturday. He has just received a letter from his brother Roman, who is now in Schneidemuehl, Germany. Roman said nothing about coming home.

Last Saturday, Carolyn Anita and Earl Harkin left for Loomis, Wash., to join their father. For the past five years they have been living at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. P. P. Greffoz in this city.

Alex Samuels arrived Monday morning from Portland on his wheel. He will visit for a week with his brother, Elmer. Alex is now employed by the H. C. Crocker-Crocker Co., of Portland, as billing clerk.

Miss Lyle Lawrence entertained the young ladies of the Corvallis College Sorosis, who are tented at Gladstone, Thursday evening. A delightful time was had and all voted Miss Lawrence a royal entertainer.—Telegram.

It is becoming quite the "proper thing" to go over to Alsea. Saturday evening a number of Corvallisites went over there, and after fishing all day in the neighborhood of Zahn Bros., returned Sunday night. The party was composed of the following gentlemen: Ira Hunter, Charlie Chipman, C. W. Leves and E. W. Phillips.

Friday afternoon, at her residence in this city, Mrs. Agnes Thompson was given a party in honor of her 68th birthday. About fifteen ladies were present and a few very pleasant hours were passed in conversation, during which delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Thompson has been quite feeble of late, but on this occasion she felt quite well.

Professor Herbert Condon, of the University of Idaho, accompanied by his wife and child, arrived here from Moscow yesterday. Mrs. Condon will visit here with relatives, while the professor will probably divide his time between the mountains and the coast.—Eugene Register. Prof. Condon was formerly clerk at the O. A. C. during the incumbency of President Miller.

If there is a man in Benton county who knows how to get right up close to the printer and win his affection, it is Rube Kiger, and the fact that he doesn't try to do it makes him all the more irresistible. Last Friday he appeared at our office with a couple boxes of his luscious Early Hale peaches, which he presented to the force, and for the next hour the printers held their annual feast.

The medals to be presented by the state to the volunteers who served with the Oregon troops participating in the Spanish war or Filipino insurrection, except the Engineer Corps, are now ready for distribution. Saturday they were turned over by Butterfield Bros. to Adjutant-General Gantenbein for this purpose, and were being arranged alphabetically. To all those residing outside of Portland the adjutant-general desires to state that he will mail medals upon an application for the same in writing, giving clearly the address to which it is desired that the medals be sent.

BEN GOODWIN'S LETTER.

A Soldier Tells What Our Boys Are Doing in the Philippines.

Ben Goodwin, of this county, who served through the war with Co. M, 2nd Oregon, is now a sergeant in Co. K, 40th Regt. U. S. V. In a recent letter to H. L. Holgate, which Mr. Holgate sends to the GAZETTE from Washington, D. C., he describes some of his experiences with his new regiment of which he is justly proud. Mr. Holgate suggests that Ben would doubtless highly appreciate it if his Co. M. (2nd Ore.) comrades would send him greetings and news from homeland. A portion of Sergeant Goodwin's letter follows:

CAGAYAN, MINDANAO. You will doubtless be interested in the soldiers' news from here—the most southern island of the Philippine group. We are about 1,000 miles from Manila. I will tell you a little of our fighting. We left Manila February 15th, bound for Southern Camerins, a province of Southern Luzon, and arrived off the coast of our destination February 20th. We landed, but what a landing it was! The transport was compelled to anchor more than a mile from shore at high tide. The soldiers were then put aboard the small lifeboats and started landward, but before we reached the solid shore the tide went out so fast that we were compelled to abandon the boats and wade through the mud and water. I hardly know how we succeeded in making any headway at all through that mire, for we sank in until it covered our cartridge belts. The mud was as thick as printers' paste, but we struggled through it and in the face of a terrible rifle fire poured at us by the insurgents on the shore.

We reached land where we had to combat the rebels hand to hand, for our ammunition, thickly coated with mud, was useless. However, we drove them back, until we reached a small stream, where we took off our cartridge belts and washed them. Replacing them in our belts, we pushed forward, entertaining the "goo-goo's" with Krag music. With empty stomachs we pushed, scrambled, and fell through the heavy bush which afforded the enemy such excellent shelter. Major Case, formerly captain of Co. F, 2nd Oregon Vols., was in command and he certainly did the work nobly.

The Third Battalion steadily worked its way up to the town of Nueva Caseris, which has been one of the worst hot-beds of rebellion on the island, while the 45th Infantry, which had been landed further up the bay, swung around between the high hills and the town to cut off the retreat of the rebel soldiers. When their movement had been accomplished we opened up a heavy fire on the long line of insurgent earthworks. The insurgents made a good stand, killing and wounding several of our boys, but fell back just as our fellows were about to charge bayonets on the trenches. When we entered the town we found their dead lying in heaps of ten and twenty and the buildings were badly damaged. The scene presented to us was a terrible one.

The soldiers were soon at work cleaning up the town, putting buildings in repair, and policing the streets. The 40th remained on guard here until March 24th, when our regiment boarded transports and steamed southward to this island of Mindanao. The first port to be opened was Surige, where we met with no resistance. Two hundred armed soldiers cheerfully gave up their guns to Major Case, who was the first to land and treat with the natives. They received him royally and seemed to be very favorably impressed with him and the terms of agreement he presented. Company B then went ashore and took possession of the town, under command of Capt. Hendricks. Major Case then came aboard and we steamed on.

The next place to be visited was Cagayan. The natives here were averse to giving up their "holy possessions" but made no forcible resistance and the town was soon under American rule, the native soldiers fleeing to the hills when they sighted our transports. The third battalion 40th infantry, under Major Case and consists of companies I, K, L and M. The other companies of the regiment went to garrison little towns along the coast, which were peaceful and which still are.

The insurgents here, however, attacked us one night taking us

ATTEMPTED JAIL BREAK.

Henry Kuebli Seeks to Obtain His Freedom by Demolishing His Cage.

An unsuccessful attempt at jail breaking was made Saturday night by Henry Kuebli, who has been a guest of Benton county against his will since last May. He has for a cell mate a gentleman by the name of Pryor, who is awaiting trial on a charge of burglary. Pryor, who seems to be much in dread of Kuebli gave a note to H. L. Martin when that gentleman went in to give the prisoners their supper Saturday evening. The note was addressed to Sheriff Burnett, and warned him that Kuebli intended to break jail that night. Mr. Martin together with Asa Alexander watched the jail until ten o'clock and hearing no disturbance, went home.

An hour later George Denman and Ivan Daniel stood talking on the corner near the jail, when their attention was called to much hammering within that building. They speedily notified Mr. Martin, Nightwatchman Wells and Samp Henderson, who was acting as deputy in the absence of Sheriff Burnett, and together with Mr. Howell and son, Frank, they bore down on the county bastille.

On entering it was discovered that Kuebli had made a fire out of some paper and a portion of the jail furniture and was in the act of consigning a heavy mattress to the flames. The prisoner's intention seems to have been to heat the bars of the cage red hot and break them with an old hatchet which had come into his possession somehow. He had succeeded in starting one of the hinges on the door to the cage, but these structures are so made that it is almost impossible to break out of them. When discovered Kuebli layed down on his bunk and not a word could be gotten from him. Pryor passed a note to one of the party asking that the hatchet be taken from Kuebli and saying that he feared him.

May 10th last, Kuebli stole the team and wagon of Mrs. S. A. Cooper, which was hitched to a rack at Wade's corner, and drove into Marion county, where he was overtaken the next morning and brought back. He was given a hearing before Justice Holgate, and was bound over in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the November term of court, in default of which he was lodged in jail.

Married.
At Albany, on Sunday afternoon July 22, Rev. E. J. Thompson of this city officiating, J. R. Cooley and Miss Jessie V. Cox were united in wedlock.

Miss Cox until a recent date resided in Corvallis. Both of the young people are graduates of the O. A. C. and are very highly respected in this community. The wedding was a delightful home affair. Very few invited guests were present, among whom was Miss Minnie Burnett, of this city. After a most delicious wedding lunch Mr. and Mrs. Cooley departed for Brownsville, their future home, where Mr. Cooley is secretary of the Eagle Woolen Mill Company. A host of Corvallis friends congratulate them.

Additional Local
The death of Mrs. J. J. Haskins occurred at her home near this city Friday evening at 5 o'clock. Interment was delayed in order that her daughter might arrive from Kansas, to be present at the funeral, which will occur tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church; Dr. E. J. Thompson will officiate. Mrs. Haskins was 69 years of age. She was an Oregon pioneer and a grand, good woman.

Postmaster B. W. Johnson has succeeded in improving the mail service between this city and Portland. By the new arrangement, all the mail that has accumulated in Portland during the day, together with the eastern mail for Corvallis which arrives before 4 p. m., will come up to Albany on the evening local and with the mail from that city will arrive here at 8 p. m. This will give Corvallis two mails a day from Portland, and will shorten the time in receiving an answer to correspondence by 36 hours.
