

For President: WILLIAM MCKINLEY of Ohio.

For Vice-President: THEODORE ROOSEVELT of New York.

For Presidential Electors: TILMON FORD, J. C. FULLERTON, W. J. FURNISH, O. F. PAYTON.

A MOTLEY COMBINATION.

Hon. Owen Scott, who was elected to congress from the old fourteenth Illinois district and became quite prominent in the democratic ranks...

"The Bryan men are a party of negation. They have but one positive opinion. They were forced by their leader to declare for 16 to 1. And yet on this they discounted their standing by resolving that another is the paramount issue..."

"In 1896 the great section of gold democratic, so called for want of a better name, looked forward to 1900 hoping that four years of calm consideration might restore the party to its reason. No star of hope arose. The Kansas City convention was in the grasp of one imperial hand..."

"There is an effort to shift the issues. The silver question and the Chicago platform are to be obscured by declaring that some convenient stalking horse is the paramount issue..."

Mr. Bryan's utterances against trusts in his letter of acceptance would carry far more weight were it not for the fact that the managers of his campaign are personally identified with trusts...

from other monopolies, but down in the inner consciousness of Mr. Bryan's followers will linger a doubt of the honesty of his contentions.

Senator Mark Hanna made an address to several thousand business men and their employes in Chicago, Tuesday, in which he said: "I was the first man in Ohio to recognize organized labor in 1871, and while that organization of bituminous coal miners existed we never had a strike..."

The fact that the president elected in November next will be called upon to appoint seven justices of the supreme court to replace those who will retire during his term, will cause many voters to support McKinley, who might otherwise vote for one of the minor tickets in the field purely from sentiment.
