

Women, Remember This Fact

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are communicating with a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's ills is greater than that of any living person—male or female. A woman can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate her private troubles to a man. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they should have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examination of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without more, you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is unequalled. Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to freely communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.

All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. This is a positive fact—not a mere statement. It is certified by the mayor and postmaster of Lynn and others whose letters, all in a little book, Mrs. Pinkham has just published. Write for a copy, it is free. Thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America, which has never been broken and has induced more than 100,000 sufferers to write her for advice during the last few months.

Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Here are some of the cases we refer to:

Mrs. Pinkham Helps Two Women Through Change of Life and Cures Another of Sterility. Read Their Letters.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel that it is owing to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I am alive today. It had been some time when I had been laid for six weeks with a good doctor to tend me twice a day. My trouble was change of life, had frequent hemorrhages. Your medicine checked them, and I was able to get on my feet. I am now able to do all my work, and backache is unknown. I am forty-three years of age and enjoying good health.—Mrs. ANNIE FOSTER, Cascade Locks, Oregon.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I first wrote to you, I was in a very bad condition. I was passing through the change of life, and the doctors said I had better accept of liver trouble. I had suffered for nine years. Doctors failed to do me any good. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my health has improved very much. I will tell you the reason. I gave medicine to others and am sure that it will prove as great a blessing to them as it has to me.—Mrs. Geo. H. JUNE, 501 De Kalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I was my ardent desire to have a child. I had married three years and could not become a mother, so wrote to you to find out the reason. After following your kind advice and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I became the mother of a beautiful baby boy, the joy of our home. He is a fat, healthy baby, thanks to your medicine.—Mrs. MINA FINKLE, Roscoe, N. Y.

Two More Women Who Acknowledge the Help They Have Received from Mrs. Pinkham.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—The doctor says I have congestion of the womb, and cannot help me. There is aching in the right side of abdomen, hip, leg, and back. If you can give me any good, please write.—Mrs. NINA CHASE, Fulton, N. Y., December 20, 1897.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I followed your instructions, and now I want every woman suffering from female trouble to know how good your advice and medicine is. The doctor advised an operation. I could not bear to think of that, so followed your advice. I got better right off. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used three packages of Sanative Wash; also took your Liver Pills, and am cured.—Mrs. NINA CHASE, Fulton, N. Y., December 12, 1898.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Have been suffering for over a year and had three doctors. At time of menstruation I suffer terrible pains in back and ovaries. I have headache nearly every day, and feel tired all the time. The doctor said my womb was out of place. Would be so glad if you could help me.—Mrs. CARL VOSS, Sac City, Iowa, August 1, 1898.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the good your advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I did everything you told me to do, and used only three bottles, and feel better in every respect.—Mrs. CARL VOSS, Sac City, Iowa, March 23, 1899.

WORLDS BEYOND NEPTUNE.

The Search Now Being Made by Professor Lau of Denmark. In 1846 Adams and Le Verrier pointed out that the motion of the planet Uranus was disturbed in a progressive manner probably by an unknown planet. The planet Neptune was discovered in that year in consequence of their calculation, as every one knows.

The methods that they employed have been perfected since that time and the theory of Neptune has been critically examined by Prof. Newcomb and others to see if it yielded any evidence for the existence of unknown major planets revolving about the sun in orbits exterior to those of Uranus and Neptune. Prof. Newcomb's conclusions were that the evidence was not yet decisive either way. The problem has lately been attacked again by Hans Lau of Copenhagen, who finds evidence that two such planets exist. At least if the major planets pointed out by him do exist the observations of Uranus and Neptune which he has used (1800-1855) would represent the theoretical motions of these planets better than they are represented, supposing his planets not to exist. His two theoretical planets have these elements:

First planet—Distance from the sun, forty-seven times the earth's distance; mass, one-twelve thousand nine hundredths of the sun's mass.

Second planet—Distance from the sun, seventy-one times the earth's distance; mass, one twenty-eight hundredths of the sun's mass.

Both of these planets are thus exterior to Neptune, whose distance from the sun is thirty times the earth's distance. The first planet has a mass somewhat greater than that of Neptune, the second a mass somewhat greater than that of Saturn. Their stellar magnitude would be about tenth and hence they are easily photographed.

Prof. Pickering, director of the Harvard college observatory, has instituted a search for them on the photographic maps of the sky which are in process of construction at Cambridge. Such planets as these would have a small, though appreciable, disk, and would therefore differ in appearance from the fixed stars in their neighborhood. It is likely that if they veritably exist they could be detected by their appearance alone in the great telescopes of the Yerkes and Lick observatories.

The researches undertaken by Mr. Lau are very delicate and it is far from certain that the data are sufficient for the purpose. The method is adequate and sooner or later will lead to a complete solution.

An Interesting Coincidence. In 1884, just after Commodore Schley returned from rescuing the survivors of the Greely Arctic expedition, the Massachusetts Humane Society presented him with a handsome medal for his achievement, and Benjamin W. Crowninshield, one of the Bay State's great orators, was sent to Washington to make the presentation speech.

On the way to the capital Mr. Crowninshield fell in with an old and prominent resident of Boston, who took the privilege of asking the orator what his mission in Washington was. In reply the old gentleman was shown the medal and told what was to be done with it. "Strange coincidence," mused the venerable gentleman from the Hub. "Forty-four years ago, in 1840, I rode over this same line and met Gen. Winfield Scott. I was as inquisitive then as now, and asked him where he was going. He said that a son of his friend Mr. Schley, had been named for him, and that he was going to Maryland to see the baby. Nearly half a century is past, and now I find you going to Washington to carry a medal to the man that Gen. Scott visited when the man was an infant."

Tired Eyes.

Few persons, when traveling by train, allow their eyes to rest. If they do not read they watch the scenery. When reading you try to hold the book or paper steady, but the types jiggle irregularly back and forth as the result of the motion of the car and the shakiness of your hand. Your eyes also do a deal of dandling, not only in pursuit of the bobbing letters, but in addition because you also are shaken about more or less by the motion of the train. Imagine the effect on the muscles of the eye! First, the eye itself has an unsteady rest; second, it is trying to fasten itself on that which is more unsteady still. Reading is not the only ill that your eye on this close to the car—or lowers, fenceposts, culverts, trees—and the effect is as bad as would be brought on by reading. A headache is the first warning, but that becomes common after a while, and is not heeded any more than the headache that follows unwise eating. There is closer connection between the stomach and the eyes on one side and a headache on the other than most people imagine.

The Great Towns of Europe. While the population of Europe, estimated at 175,000,000 in the beginning of the century, rose to 216,000,000 in 1830, 300,000,000 in 1870, and is now nearly 370,000,000, there has been a still more remarkable increase in the number of towns with over 100,000 inhabitants. There were only twenty-one of these in 1800 (with 4,500,000 inhabitants), 42 in 1850, 70 in 1870 (with 20,000,000 inhabitants), and 121 in 1896 (with about 37,000,000 inhabitants). In 1801 France had three towns with over 100,000 inhabitants, while England and Germany had two each, but in 1871 the figures were: England, 18; Germany, 10; and France, 9; while in 1896 they stood: England, 30; Germany, 28, and France, 19.—London Times.

The Human Brain. A German biologist has calculated that the human brain contains 300,000,000 nerve-cells, 5,000,000 of which die and are succeeded by new ones every day. At this rate we get an entirely new brain every sixty days.

The World's Suicides. The number of suicides throughout the world is 180,000 yearly, and is on the increase. The greatest number happened in June, the fewest in September, and nearly one-half between 6 a. m. and noon.

What we need is more unwritten poems and unsung songs.

DURING THE GOLD FEVER.

Ninepins Were Played with Bottles of Champagne in Melbourne. Gold threatened to become as common as silver in the days of Solomon. In one year $12,000,000, in eight years $95,000,000, were won. Some men at Golden Point made as much as $400 each a day. Another exceptionally lucky party unearthed thirty-four pounds of gold in one day. No wonder that such "pockets" were termed "jewelers' shops." Occasionally a nugget worth $10,000 was unearthed. The result of this sudden influx of wealth almost without labor, and with risks which are infinitesimal as compared to Klondike, was the temporary demoralization of the population. Melbourne, in the height of the gold fever, has been described by one who knew it well as "a fevered, drunken, delirious pandemonium." The lucky ones—and there were thousands of them—squandered their riches in the most reckless fashion. Some of their fantastic tricks would scarcely be credited were they not attested by witnesses still living.

The game of ninepins, were they played with bottles of champagne, for which he who broke least had to pay; dozens of the same costly wine were emptied into tubs, and drunk from tin pannikins, spirits and beer being added to give "body" to the beverage; one man, in imitation of Caligula, shod his horse with gold; sandwiches made of banknotes were devoured; silver wrapped up in banknotes was thrown to popular actresses instead of flowers; in fact, money was so plentiful that the reckless diggers could not "knock it down" fast enough. They thought they only had to dig a few feet in the earth to get plenty more, and for a time it almost seemed as if this were so. Such were some of the characteristics of Victoria's hot youth.—Pall Mall Magazine.

THE SHE WAS A PROVIDENT BRIDE. How a Young Woman Saved Money for a Wedding Tour.

A promising young lawyer who has an office in the Girard Building has just made the delightful discovery that his fiancée is also a lawyer. The young man's sweetheart resides in Germantown, and for several months past he has called upon her regularly twice a week. When he first met the girl, two years ago, he was, of course, extremely anxious to make a good impression, and he lavished many presents upon her. The girl's parents are quite well to do, but she disapproves of any sort of display or prodigality, and when, in the natural course of events, the young man proposed and she was accepted, she felt it to be her privilege and her duty to read him a little lecture on "Economy." She called his attention to the fact that every time he called he had been in the habit of bringing flowers and candy to the value of a dollar or two. She suggested that in the future he should discontinue the presents, handing over a silver dollar instead whenever he came to see her.

She laughed, for he thought she was joking, but she speedily assured him that she was much in earnest. So he paid his dollar regularly, and finally came to the conclusion that the money was being devoted to charity. The wedding day was set for next month, and an extended tour was contemplated. Unfortunately, the young lawyer recently took a "flyer" in stocks, and dropped so much money that he had to notify his fiancée that their wedding trip must be dispensed with. The dear girl laughed at him, and leaving the room for a moment, presently returned with a satchel containing 256 silver dollars. Their plans will not be changed.—Philadelphia Record.

HIS SINGING RELEASED HIM. Prisoner Tries His Voice and Is Discharged From Custody.

A few years ago a young man dressed in tattered clothes was locked up at the Desplaines street police station charged with disorderly conduct. Though his clothes were torn and his hair unkempt made his appearance look like that of a tramp, he was not. In the eyes of the policeman who arrested him for doing nothing he looked like an ordinary beggar.

He was taken to the police station regardless of his pleadings and put in a dingy cell, where he spent nearly two days, and had it not been for the police captain he might have stayed there longer.

It was while the other prisoners were being tried in court and the police captain was sitting in his private office looking over reports that a sweet tenor voice was heard singing "My Old Kentucky Home." The moment the sweet notes, which were coming from the cell, struck the ears of the police captain he listened a moment and dropped the reports he was reading on his desk until the song was finished.

When the song was finished the captain ordered the prisoner to be brought before him. When the singer, who was the shabby-dressed young man, appeared before the police official, the latter asked the young man to repeat the song, which he did.

When he had finished the officer looked at him a moment and said, "Young man, you have a good voice." When the captain asked him where he lived and what he did he bowed his head as if in sorrow and refused to answer. When the police official learned under what charge he was being held a prisoner he ordered his release. The singer, after thanking the captain, strolled slowly out of the police station into the street and wandered away. His identity is still a mystery.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Singular Monstrosity. A writer in Science describes a curious monstrosity which has come under his observation. This is a cock with no signs of spurs upon the tarsi, but with a couple of well-developed spurs upon the head, on either side of the comb, giving the creature the appearance of being horned. These mock spurs are not attached to the skull, whatever they may originally have been, but are loose. Instances are on record of spurs being grafted on to combs, but so far, no similar case is known to have occurred in nature.

PERUNA. Many a woman, sick and weary of life, dragged down by weakening drains, painful irregularities, depression, and the hundred and one ailments which affect women only, has found in Peruna a bright star of hope, which has changed her misery to joy, her suffering to health.

No woman need suffer from the derangements peculiar to her sex, if she will give Peruna a fair trial.

The majority of weaknesses which make woman's life a burden, spring from a simple cause. The mucous membrane which lines the pelvic organs becomes weakened and inflamed, owing to strain, cold, overwork, etc. This causes catarrh, congestion, inflammation, painful irregularities, depression of spirits, irritability, weakness and suffering. It shows in the lagging lines of the face, the dull eyes, the sallow complexion and angular form.

After all, we know but little about this world of ours. A Mechanical Resuscitation. Professor Laorde, of the Academy of Medicine, Paris, and M. Auguste Mouchel have devised a little machine for restoring persons in a state of suspended animation to life by the method of "lingual traction," a method now used with great success in cases of drowning, lightning stroke, electric shock and suffocation. The tongue is drawn out rhythmically, so as to stimulate the breathing organs, and this method has been effective in cases given up as hopeless, but only after a very long application. The friction sometimes needs to be kept up for three hours before resuscitation, and, as the new machine is worked by an electric motor and quite automatic, it saves much laborious exertion, and can save life where the usual methods would fail.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it, and thereby requiring constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, J. C. Croquet is found to be a more suitable and convenient relaxation.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation. To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous. The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and to strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time, and Miss Alvina Weller, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. No longer put off treatment. Buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The judges of the license courts in Philadelphia have come to the support of public morals and decency by declaring their opposition to saloons having side entrances and rooms upstairs for the accommodation of women.

God alone knows how much heaven loses when a young man takes his first drink.

No External Symptoms. The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement. "We regard it a great tonic and blood purifier."—E. D. Durr, Princeton, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new rich pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.
