She states that he has been convicted of a crime and that the time of appeal from such conviction has passed and according to law she is entitled to a legal separation from her husband.

Prune men do not seem to have so much confidence in the price keeping up as they have hitherto possessed. In California the future of this year's crop is not encouraging. In few places do they grow as fine prunes as in the Willamette valley. In California, in running prunes through the grader, it is stated that prunes in the 30-40 box mildew before it can be filled. Such a thing never happens in Benton.

There was a creditors' meeting Wednesday in the matter of J. A. Gellatly, who is insolvent. Balfour, Guthrie & Co., of Portland, held a mortgage of $2,500 on his place. This is the heaviest claim against Mr. Gellatly and was represented by Mr. McKenzie. The meeting was held in Referece Burnett's office. There are all told some 60 or 70 small claims represented. As the result of the meeting George Eglin was elected as trustee to handle the estate.

It is strange what pretty tricks some people will stoop to in order to defraud someone. The Gervais Star, in an article on hops, relates the following: In a lot of hops recently bought by McKinley Mitchell from T. J. Mahan, sixty-two pounds of brick were discovered. It was a case of spite and cussedness, and is liable to land the perpetrator in jail. The hops were grown on V. A. Manning's place and Mr. Manning having been informed of the matter at once saw Mr. Mitchell and explained matters, refunding the value of the hops made up by bricks.

A few days ago a couple of young men showed up in Corvallis, one of whom had his finger taken off just back of the nail by getting it fast in the sprocket wheel of his bicycle just prior to "showing up." They engaged board in Corvallis for a few days, stating that they were to remain here until they could "hear from their folks." They did not state who or where their folks were, and after having a meal or two on "tick" they disappeared and nothing further was heard of them. They had a Corvallis medical man to dress the injured finger, and he, too, was anxious about his fees. The young fellows were all-right, however, for just as their creditors were about to despair of seeing them again, they quietly appeared and made good their obligations.

Persons wanting cider, and having apples can take them and have them ground for cider. This will only cost the man who furnishes the apples three cents per gallon. Mr. Kisor reports very fair patronage so far, and it is to be hoped it may continue.

Henry Stone started his dryer up again a couple of days ago and began the work of drying his prunes over. This is really too bad, and entails a lot of extra expense. Just how many will have to be put through the dryer the second time is not known, nor is it known how it happens that such a thing should have occurred anyway. It is an unfortunate affair to say the least, but Mr. Stone is determined to market his fruit in first-class condition.

The twelfth local teachers' institute of Benton county will be held at Fairmount school house, a week from tomorrow, October 20. Supt. Denman is making considerable preparation for an enjoyable and instructive session and he hopes that all teachers of schools, and patrons as well, will attend and assist in making the institute a success. He has secured the assistance of Prof. J. M. Martindale, city superintendent of the Albany schools, and County School Superintendent Jackson, of Linn county. In this manner he expects to bring together the educators of both counties. The program will be found elsewhere.

In the case of Sam Sun, wherein the celestial found himself in trouble as the result of his hop business suit has been instituted in the circuit court. Sam owes David O. $209 and costs in certain legal proceedings. The hop crop he raised is advertised for sale this afternoon to satisfy Mr. Osburn's claim. A rental of $300 is due Mr. Cooper, in whose yards the hops were raised. H. F. Fischer is said to hold a mortgage on the crop for picking money advanced. As the result of all this legal tangle the case is to be carried to the circuit court. It is thought that Yates, Yates & Gibson will represent the defense.

C. I. Oleman, of Kings Valley, arrived here yesterday from the Good Samaritan Hospital, of Portland, where he had been for the removal of a cancer from his tongue. This serious operation was performed by Dr. G. F. Wilson who removed the whole tongue, taking it out clean at the roots. So skillfully was the work performed that he was able on the fifth day after the operation to eat, be up, and even able to speak a good many words, and is now able to talk considerably, so that those who hear him are surprised. It seems all most a miracle that he can utter a word without a particle of tongue. He says it is due to the great skill of Dr. Wilson; and he also states that the kindness and care that is given by all people connected with the hospital is all that could be desired. He is stopping with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Birrell. He has many friends in Corvallis who will be pleased to learn that he is doing so well.

L. G. Kline.

After an illness of several weeks, Mr. L. G. Kline died at his residence in this city shortly before noon; last Monday, brief mention of which was made in Tuesday's GAZETTE. His death was caused jointly by a complication of kidney troubles and old age.

Mr. Kline was born in Kalish, Poland, September 10, 1828, and was little past 72 years of age at the time of his death. When quite a young man he went to England where he made his home for a number of years. He came from there to the United States in 1850 and settled in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was wedded to Adeline Hill, March 9, 1856. He came to the Pacific Coast via the Isthmus in 1864, and arrived at San Francisco. In September of this year he arrived in Corvallis. He has resided here continuously ever since.

Mr. Kline was a tailor by trade and opened up a business of this kind in connection with general merchandising. For nearly twenty years he continued in business in various business locations in the city, but in January, 1884, he retired from active life and turned the enterprise over to his son, Simon. He was a very successful business man and amassed considerable wealth. Looking after this competency has occupied him the greater part of the time since 1884.

The funeral occurred at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the family residence. The services were conducted by Rabbi Mosesson, under the auspices of Barnum Lodge, I. O. O. F. The interment occurred at the Jewish cemetery, in Albany, and the funeral party was conveyed there by a special train. The remains were laid to rest by the side of the deceased's late wife, whose death occurred something over a year ago.

During his business life in this city Mr. Kline was much esteemed by his patrons, and later in life, when the pressure of business affairs was not so great and he had more leisure, the social side of his nature was shown. L. G. Kline will long be remembered for many estimable traits of character and a most kindly disposition. Thus has ended a life most worthily spent, and with it, one of the connecting links of the Corvallis of the past and the Corvallis of the present. Mr. Kline is survived by three children, Moses Kline, of Portland, S. L. Kline and Miss Pauline Kline; the latter two both of this city. He also leaves two grandchildren in San Francisco.

For Sweet Charity.

The GAZETTE is in receipt of a letter from Clarence Owsley, editor of the Galveston, Texas, Tribune, stating that he, at the time of the storm, Sept. 8th, had in press a very handsome publication entitled, "Picturesque Galveston." It is a book of something over one hundred pages, printed on 80-pound coated paper, filled with views of this, one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It was to have been issued this week by the business men of Galveston as a souvenir advertisement of that city. Mr. Owsley has tendered the profits of this publication to the Galveston Relief Committee, and under their auspices the book will be sold to the general public at $2 a volume. Probably 2,000 or 3,000 volumes were saved from the elements. Of course the first orders received will be the first orders filled. Orders received after the edition is exhausted will be returned with the cash. The offer of the Tribune has been approved in behalf of the Galveston Relief Committee, by Chairman W. A. McVitia. The volume is well worth the price asked. Besides, purchasers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are contributing to the relief of thousands who were left homeless and destitute by the hurricane. Address all orders and make checks payable to the Galveston Tribune.

Our fellow townsman, W. E. Yates received yesterday the following characteristic epistle from Prof. E. R. Lake, dated Lake Baunstaed, Switzerland, September 25: "Saw your double today, a big German with a beer mug, holding a litre, and a pipe three feet long, sitting in the shade talking local politics to his fellow townsman." Mr. Ivan Daniel, proprietor of The Book Store, asks us to deny the story which is current, that he discontinued keeping the Examiner for political reasons. He discontinued keeping the Examiner for business reasons—there was no call for it. However, he has re-ordered a few copies and if anyone desires a copy they will be on sale after October 14th.

Many Corvallisites will recall with pleasure the lecture delivered in this city some years ago by Will Visscher. The following from his pen in the October Worwan's Home Companion is characteristic: Speaking of three "cheers," I am reminded of an incident in a Catholic church in Chicago some years ago. Three Protestant ladies had called at the church during a meeting that was being held in furtherance of some charitable purpose in which they were interested, and when they came down the aisle, all the pews being occupied, the priest in charge said to an attendant, "Three chairs for the Protestant ladies." The attendant misunderstood, and called out, "Three cheers for the Protestant ladies!" The cheers were given with a will, and it was all the holy father could do to stop the exuberant reception before the attendant could call for a "tiger."
