Miller "sells" nobody. "Brown's out of town," but Ole Olson is coming.

Thursday is Thanksgiving Day. Many turkeys have been brought to town to be sacrificed.

A woman forgets she has feet when they're in the fine comfort giving shoes Miller sells for $2.50.

The Oregon Dairymen's Association will hold its annual meeting at Hillsboro on January 3rd and 4th, next.

"Kin" Fullerton arrived in Corvallis Friday evening from Alsea. He came out on a cart improvised from the hind wheels of a light farm wagon.

It was the intention of Beulah Rebekah lodge, of Albany, to run a special train to this city last night to participate in an entertainment given by the Rebekahs of this city.

Father Jurek left yesterday for Portland, where he will discuss matters of business with the archbishop, touching on his recent visit to Rome. The reverend gentleman will return home tomorrow.

A turkey and chicken Thanksgiving dinner will be given by the Home Mission Society of the M. E. church, South, in the building one door south of the J. H. Harr's store, from 12 until 2 p. m. Price 25cts.

After next Friday, November 30, it will be unlawful to shoot China pheasants. If any sportsman feels that a few more are due him this season he had better improve the little time there is remaining him.

The students' dance at the Armory tomorrow night promises to be a grand success. It is understood that they have issued in the neighborhood of 800 invitations to people in various sections of the state.

T. Carns, the Alsea freighter, was in Corvallis again the first of the week. He came out over the Alsea mountain, although the roads are in a terrible condition. At the time he crossed the summit there was about 8 inches of snow there.

Men who owned sheep and turned them out on the island above town during the summer are now wondering what became of them. Several men are a few sheep shy, and as they can't find any carcasses lying around, they fear the worst.

China pheasants are said to be plentiful, but very wild. There are few ducks yet. Geese are making their appearance now in vast numbers. A short time ago Ed and Burt Horton killed eight geese at one hunt on what is known as "Lone Pine Bar."

One of the main pipes for transmitting heat from the power house to the administration building and mechanical hall sprung a leak Friday night. As a result there was little doing out there Saturday, aside from the repairs of the pipe, under the supervision of Profs. Cowell and Phillips.

E. F. Thayer, agent for the O. R. & N., who left Corvallis in the early summer for Lewiston, Idaho, is again in charge of the company's affairs in Corvallis. He states that Lewiston is a good town, with population of 3,100 inhabitants and that his company are doing a good business at that point.

It will be interesting to musical people to learn that the Wiley B. Allen Co., the leading musical merchandise dealers of the Northwest are closing out their business in Portland. It is the calculation of the company to go into business in San Francisco, with a branch house at Los Angeles, California.

Alba Heywood and his select company of artists will appear at the Opera House in Corvallis next Saturday night. As an impersonator Alba Heywood is without a peer and he is supported by superb talent, consisting of fine lady singers, a lady violinist of national reputation and a cellist of extraordinary ability. This will undoubtedly be one of the treats of the season. It is strange how the affairs of men will sometimes shape themselves. Two years ago on Thanksgiving Alba Heywood and his company appeared in Portland, and next Thursday night they again appear there. They are to appear in the Marquam.

Walter Wright came out from Toledo and will attend school in this city.

The firemen's dance last Thursday evening was well attended and a delightful time is reported.

Henry Hopkins, of the firm of Hopkins Bros. hardware dealers, of Albany, fell dead in that city, Sunday.

The official canvass of the votes cast in Oregon November 6th, shows McKinley's plurality over Bryan to be 13,227.

Ex-County Clerk Ira Hunter, of Benton Co., and Mr. Seth Hurlburt, were over from Corvallis Tuesday.—Yaquina Bay News.

Attorney E. E. Wilson and Asa Alexander went down on the Kiger slough, Sunday, after ducks. Between them they bagged an even dozen mallards.

Three dollars buys the best hat in Corvallis, the Kingsbury. If you pay more for any other hat you are cheated. That's all. Sold only by F. L. Miller.

John Bense arrived Saturday from Portland, where he now resides, and will spend a week in Corvallis. He says he will remain in Portland with his family during the winter, if not longer.

Miss Stella Robinson, the efficient deputy grand secretary of the grand lodge of Eastern Star, left this afternoon on an official trip to Corvallis and Albany, and also to visit friends.—Eugene Guard.

Edwin M. Stone is in receipt of a letter from J. A. Taylor, of Portland, stating that the order sent from Portland, Oregon, recently for 100 pairs of English partridges, was placed in Europe some time ago and the birds are expected to arrive early in December.

Prof. Clyde Phillips and Walter Keady drove over to Albany Saturday to get a section of steam pipe that had been ordered from Portland to replace the one that bursted Friday morning and disconnected the heating plant and various buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jolly left this week for Portland. Mrs. Jolly has been in poor health for some time, and she will enter a hospital in that city, where an operation which is deemed necessary will be performed. They expect to be absent about a month or six weeks.

R. J. Cockerel and T. J. Therpe left Saturday for Wolf Creek, down in Josephine county. They are going to contract to supply wood to the Southern Pacific R. R. Company. Mr. Cockerel and others from this section had similar employment at Wolf Creek last winter.

Every imaginable thing has been done by the O. A. C. students to make their dance tomorrow night a grand success. From present indications this dance will be one long remembered. The Albany band will furnish the music and it is expected that they will be accompanied by quite a number of people from our sister city.

The local dramatic company will soon begin rehearsal on a play which will be presented just before the holidays. Nat Goodwin's success, "A Gold Mine," has been chosen as the vehicle for entertainment. It is well adapted to the possibilities of amateurs, and a pleasing production may be expected from our clever local performers.

The Eastern Star Lodge of Albany anticipate a grand time tonight. They are to do some initiatory work and have invited the Eastern Star of this city and Salem to visit them on this occasion. The matron of the Albany lodge is soon to retire from office and it is her desire that the Eastern Stars of this city visit her while she reigns. A special train will run this evening and it is thought that about fifty members from Corvallis will go over. A carload from Salem will also attend.

Ralston Cox, secretary, and T. E. Wilson, treasurer, of the Mutual Aid Society, of Portland, arrived in this city Saturday, and will remain over Sunday. Their main object in visiting Pendleton at this time was to get acquainted with the people. Since their arrival they have appointed Charles A. Frazier, local representative for the society, than whom a better selection could not have been made. They were surprised at Pendleton's evidence of prosperity and felt great confidence in the success of their association in this section.—Pendleton Tribune.

A good well story is told by Walter Smith, who is farming the Booneville place. Walt says that he has a well that furnishes an inexhaustible supply of water during summer; but every year about the first of October it begins to fail. It has acted in this manner for several years and at the present time he can only draw about two buckets of water without stopping. Shortly after the holidays its supply begins to increase. All through the dry summer season it furnishes an abundant supply of pure water, but in the winter season it fails. This is a peculiar state of affairs.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER.

John M. Osburn Files Petition in Bankruptcy to Save Property.

John M. Osburn, of Corvallis, farmer and fine-stock raiser, a resident of Benton county for 40 years, Friday filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States Court. His liabilities amount to some $46,000, and his assets about $48,000. His liabilities are mostly secured by mortgage on his lands and his cattle, and his assets consist of his farm, farming utensils, stock, etc. In connection with his bankruptcy petition, Mr. Osburn filed a petition asking the court to have the property put in possession of the United States Marshal until a trustee can be appointed.

He further states that several citizens of Corvallis, whom he names, recovered a judgment against him for $4,600, and placed it in the hands of the Sheriff, with instructions to levy upon his cattle and personal property, and the sheriff took the same into his possession. The same persons purchased a chattel mortgage from the First National Bank of Eugene and placed it in the hands of the sheriff and directed him to sell the property at private sale.

Petitioner alleges that it is absolutely necessary for the preservation of said property and the protection of the rights of his creditors that the court shall take charge of all the property and hold the same pending the appointment of a receiver. Judge Bellinger made an order directing the Marshal to take charge of the property and hold it and keep it together till the appointment of a trustee.—Oregonian.

The many friends of Mr. John M. Osburn, of this place, will regret very much to learn that he has deemed it necessary to file his voluntary petition in the United States court asking to be adjudged a bankrupt. Mr. Osburn has for over a third of a century been a resident of this community. Since early manhood and long prior to his coming to Oregon he was a dealer and raiser of stock. For the last twenty years he has engaged in raising and selling fine registered Durham cattle; the original stock having been bought in the East and shipped across the continent. He has sold the offspring of these fine cattle to stock raisers all over this country thus improving their herds. By an unfortunate chain of circumstances, Mr. Osburn of late years became more extensively involved than prior thereto in trying to help others, and recently several parties who had signed a note with him took it up, and obtained judgment against him in the last term of circuit court and levied upon the cattle. As Mr. Osburn was not able to pay the claim at once, this resulted in his filing the petition named. Mr. Osburn's recent failing health is also a source of much anxiety among his friends, United States Marshal Hauser arrived in this city last Saturday, and is said to have taken charge of the stock.

"Brown" Was Delightful. Those who attended the performance of "Brown's in Town," at the Opera House, last Friday evening, got full returns for their money, and were entertained beyond their fondest expectations. The play is one of the brightest of recently written farce comedies, and the performers are clever and fit nicely into their parts. The story is complicated yet consistent, and there is not an objectionable line or gesture. Miss Jessie Mae Hall captivated her audience with her first speech, and she grew in favor as the play proceeded. Of the gentlemen, Mr. Chas. Horn easily takes first place, although every role was artistically rendered. The eccentric character parts presented by Miss Weil and Mr. George Ebner deserve special mention. These roles, which are usually thankless, and yet demand so much of a performer, were most cleverly handled.

Manager Groves promises us an equally enjoyable evening with "Ole Olson" which appears here December 4th.

Woodmen of the World. Joint meeting of Circle and Camp on Friday, November 30th, 1900. Members of the Circle and their husbands, or escorts, and members of the Camp with their wives or sweethearts, together with members of other Circles and Camps who may be in the city will meet in the Woodmen Hall, promptly at 8 p. m., and have a good time. COMMITTEE.

The Twentieth Century Club.

This is a new club recently formed in Corvallis for the pursuits and the advancement and refinement of the citizens of this city. The first of a series of lectures is to be given next Friday, at 8 p. m., in the parlors of the Episcopal rectory, and will be delivered under the auspices of this club by Prof. A. E. Bernays, B. A., K. C., of Oxford, England. He is acknowledged to be perfectly capable of entertaining an audience of culture and is endorsed by many eminent authorities. One of the most cultured principals of Chicago, remarks of Dr. Bernays, in the Inter-State School Review: "That was the best educational meeting I have attended in years." Col. F. W. Parker says of him: "I can recommend him as a gentleman, and in scholarship as far above the ordinary." Prof. R. G. Moulton says in the Chicago Union: "I have seen a good deal of him (Dr. Bernays), and he appears to me a representative of the Oxford man at his best, with the broad culture that the old universities give. He is clearly a man of ability and intellectual resource." Tickets to these lectures may be obtained of Arthur Stimpson, O. A. C. librarian, or Robert Withycombe at Allen & Woodward's drug store.

Silver Wedding.

Friday evening a delightful surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Lee Henkle at their residence in this city. It was the occasion of their "Silver Wedding" and the prime movers in the affair were members of the W. R. C. and the United Evangelical church. The attendance was large, the surprise of the couple was genuine, and everything took place as arranged and passed off in the most enjoyable manner. Many nice presents of silverware were given Mr. and Mrs. Henkle. Rev. L. M. Booser made the presentation speech in a most pleasing manner. Choice refreshments assisted materially to make this a memorable occasion for all who attended.

The silverware presented consisted of an elegant cake basket, a butter dish, a set of teaspoons, a butter knife, a sugar shell and pickle fork. The groom presented his bride with his photo encased in a silver frame, in the form of a breast-pin. A friend of the groom jokingly presented him with a "16 to 1" silver dollar. The whole affair took place as planned and was a delightful surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Henkle. Although their daughter, Miss Bertha, knew of the intended surprise, she said nothing about it, thereby proving that a woman can keep a secret.

Corvallis-Eugene-Motor.

The scheme of building a motor road from this city to Eugene, which has been discussed frequently in the papers of this section, but so far has not gotten beyond that stage, is again being talked of. The following appears in the associated press dispatches of November 22, dated at Spokane, Wash: "Dr. H. S. Wallace, of Junction City, Or., is here on his way from New York. He asserts that he has succeeded in placing $400,000 worth of bonds in New York for the Corvallis & Southern railway, to be built from Corvallis to Eugene for the co-operative colony, and says work may begin any day."

Dr. Wallace has been very active in his efforts to promote this enterprise, and as his trip to New York was for the purpose of placing bonds for this road, the scheme may yet assume a shape more tangible than figures and drawings.

A Nice Reception.

The Philadelphia Society gave a very enjoyable reception at the O. A. C. Saturday evening in honor of the Perian Society. Thomas Bilyeu was toast master. The toasts were as follows: "Our School Days," Miss Edith Howard.—"Dear is the school boy spot we ne'er forget, though there we are forgot." "The New Woman," D. A. Fruit.—"Earth's noblest thing, a woman perfected." "The Ideal Man," Miss Sibel Cummings—"Man is his own star, and that soul that can be honest is the only perfect man." "The dawning of a new century," Carrel Cummings—"Time rolls his ceaseless course." "Our Brother Society," Miss Elsie Canfield—"Man is the noblest growth our realm's supply." "Our Sister Society," Leo Kraps—"Welcome, welcome, with one voice, in your welfare we rejoice."

Mr. W. T. Maple, of Tangent, and Miss Anna Sloper, of this city, were married here Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held by the various congregations of Corvallis at the Congregational church in this city, Thursday morning at 10:30. Rev. Humbert will deliver the sermon.

Mr. John Osburn left yesterday for Salem, where he will consult a physician, prior to taking up his residence with his son at Gold Hill, Oregon. The climate in this section of the state, is not conducive to Mr. Osburn's health.

Mrs. E. Gerhard and daughter, Mary, leave today for Albany, where they will visit a day previous to their departure for Los Angeles, California. They will visit with relatives in that city until next April or May, when they will start for home, visiting points of interest along the route. Sunday evening a party of friends gathered at their home to tender a farewell, and wish them a pleasant journey.

Mr. Orr D. Cameron and Miss Lizzie Caine are to be married at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cameron, at 340 Sixth street, Portland, Or., Nov. 30th. Rev. G. W. Ghornerly will perform the ceremony. Miss Caine is the daughter of a prominent Multnomah county farmer, while the groom is an engineer and electrician at the O. R. & N. shops in Portland. He is well known in Corvallis.

Mrs. J. Mason leaves today for San Francisco, where the family will take up their residence. Chester left last week for that city, arriving there Thursday. Mr. Mason will leave in a week or ten days, delaying his departure only until Mrs. Mason can secure a residence. Mr. Mason has been a resident of Corvallis since 1854, and was prominently identified with the early growth of this community. Wayman has been employed in the Emporium, San Francisco's large department store, for the past fifteen months. He is now salesman and assistant bookkeeper in the grocery department at an excellent salary.

Mr. R. W. Fisher has been scouring the country around Albany for the last week or more gathering up all the calves he could find, says the Herald. The average price paid was about $12 per head. Last evening the farmers were delivering and this morning about 285 head are in the stock yards. These will be loaded this morning and be sent north on the through freight to the ranges in Eastern Washington where they will be wintered and fattened for market. If a stockman in Eastern Washington can afford to pay $12 and $15 a head for calves here, pay the freight on them to Washington, feed them through a cold winter, and make money on them, it seems as though there would be some profit to the farmer in this valley to keep his calves until they are ready to be turned off for beef.

Band Concert.

If the weather will permit, the Corvallis Band will render the following program from the Occidental balcony on Thanksgiving Day, commencing at 2 o'clock in the afternoon:

- March, "The Regulator,"—Heed Overture, "Fair Maid of Perth," Widdell Flower Song, "Hearts and Flowers,"—Tobani
- "Mexican Dance,"—Davila Overture, "Charm's,"—Ripley
- "Soldiers' Chorus," from Faust, Gounod
