A letter from Mrs. E. R. Lake, dated at Washington, D. C., asks that the address of their GAZETTE be changed to Corvallis. This would indicate that Prof. and Mrs. Lake will be home very shortly.

Miss Leona Smith arrived home Wednesday, from Portland, where she has been pursuing her studies at St. Helen's Hall. She came home to spend Thanksgiving with her parents and will remain several days.

Everybody has heard of the horse cannery located at Linnton, Oregon. The owner, Samuel Kinsman, has decided to convert this establishment into a fruit cannery, as he found that the people would just as soon not eat canned cayuse.

A farmers' institute will be held at Logan, Or., December 19 and 20. Dr. Withycombe and Prof. Kent, of the O A C, will have charge of the institute, and it will be devoted largely to subjects relating to dairying, which is becoming a leading industry at Logan.

John Holt and family of Scio, arrived in Corvallis Tuesday. They have taken up their residence near the C & E depot. Mr. Holt's object in coming here was to give his children the advantages of the educational facilities of this city. Two of his children will attend the O A C.

Taylor & Smith killed three hogs, Wednesday, that weighed altogether 1,250 pounds on foot. The remarkable part of the item is that the hogs were less than a year old. The largest one of the three weighed 480 pounds. They were raised by Jos. Hite and for their age were hard to beat.

There has been twelve new telephones added to the local system of this city.

Mrs. John Springer is seriously ill at her home near Pailom with rights disease and dropsy.

The program for the annual meeting of the department of superintendents, to be held by the school superintendents, in connection with the State Teachers' Association at Albany, December 27, indicates that much of the time of this department will be given to discussion of needed legislation regarding the school system of this state. Supt. G. W. Denman, of this county, will deliver a discourse on "Desirable Modification in the State Course of Study."

Two census bulletins have recently reached this office. One was issued by the census department at Washington, D. C., November 16, and relates to the population of Hawaii by islands and districts. The total population is 64,011. Another bulletin, issued November 20, gives the population of Florida at 528,542. Florida shows a gain of 35 per cent. increase of population during the past ten years, while Hawaii shows an increase of 71.1 per cent.

Frank Maxon and family departed, Monday, for Arizona. They have resided several years in Corvallis and he has been employed in the barber shop of R. L. Taylor. This is the second time Mr. Maxon has moved his family from here to Arizona. E. W. Fuller now occupies the position vacated by Mr. Maxon. Mr. Fuller is a newcomer to this section, having recently arrived in this state from Minnesota. At present Mr. Fuller's family are residing at Dallas, Polk county.

Monday service will begin on the Corvallis-Monroe route. Mr. Ellsworth was awarded the contract for carrying the mail at $648 per year, as mentioned in a former issue. In connection with this service is a free delivery system, and the carrier is obliged to place mail in boxes placed along the route by the various residents. When mail is placed in boxes along the route, it is always at the individual's risk. The mail is to arrive from Monroe by 10:30 a. m. and on his return the carrier does not depart from this city until after he has received the mails that arrive on the afternoon trains. At present Mr. Ellsworth will carry the mails on horse back.

An enthusiastic plea for a wide expansion of rural free delivery is made in the annual report of W. M. Johnson, first assistant postmaster general. He says the extraordinary development of this system during the past 12 months under the stimulus of appropriations of $450,000 for the fiscal year 1899-1900, and $1,750,000 for the fiscal year 1900-1901 is conclusive as showing that hereafter it must be a permanent and expanding feature of the postal administration. The service may now be extended as swiftly as congress may direct, or as the means permit, until it covers all the portions of the United States now reached in whole or in part by the more primitive methods of the postal service.

Chicken fanciers should not forget that there is to be a first-class poultry show in this city from December 18 to 22. Let everyone interested in high class fowls lend a hand to making this exhibit a success. The only way to do this is to get your birds ready for entry. If they are worthy they will take a premium, and if not they will at least add to the attractiveness and interest of the show. It is only by getting the fowls together in numbers that comparisons can be made. Comparisons are necessary for the education of anybody desirous of improving and up-building their business, no matter what its nature may be. Charley Small, of this city, is assistant secretary of the association. Any parties desiring information can apply to him. Let everyone exhibit his birds.

John W. Simpson went to Polk county a few days ago on business.

A large selection of Rings, especially Opals, at E P Greffoz's—The Leading Jeweler.

Herbert Pygall arrived home Tuesday evening after an absence of a couple of months.

The total enrollment at the public schools reached 382 this week. This is said to be somewhat larger than the enrollment at the corresponding period last year.

Ex-Senator Hatch, of Polk county, now deputy collector of customs at St. Michaels, Alaska, passed through Corvallis, Monday, en route for the bay, where he will look after property interests.

Messrs. Finch and Holland were over from Albany, Tuesday, perfecting arrangements for the excursion from this city to Albany on the night of Co. G's military ball. Something over thirty tickets were sold in this city.

The steamer Gray Eagle passed down the river Wednesday morning towing a very large raft of logs to the pulp mills at Oregon City for C K Spaulding. The well known river navigator, Captain Smith was in command of the boat.

Thanksgiving vacation began at the Oregon Agricultural College at the close of school Wednesday afternoon. It will end with the opening of school Tuesday morning of next week. The vacation was made longer than usual this year, in order that students from abroad might spend Sunday with their parents.

Recorder Elgin received a letter a few days ago from R. D. Burgess, a member of the graduating class '00, O A C. Mr. Burgess was in Allegheny City, Pa., at the time of writing and was attending the medical college of that city. Mr. Burgess is again at his old home after an absence of 14 or 15 years.

At its regular meeting last Tuesday evening, the Albany city council had a lengthy discussion over the question of what is to be done with the wagon bridge across the Willamette at that place. The general expression of the councilmen was that unless the charter is amended so that a toll can be placed upon the bridge, it will have to be closed, and that a mass meeting should be called to discuss the question.

Word was received in this city a few days ago relative to an accident that overtook A H Hathaway at his place on Big Elk. It seems that Mr. Hathaway was employed rolling logs and was working alone, when a log rolled on him, breaking his leg. According to report, he was pinned to the ground and remained in this distressing condition for two hours or more before he was discovered and assistance rendered.

Exercises appropriate to Thanksgiving were held at the public school Wednesday afternoon. A program consisting of recitations and songs was rendered, which was greatly enjoyed by the 100 or more visitors present. A vacation will be enjoyed by the pupils until Monday morning. During the afternoon a collection for the benefit of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, of Portland, was taken up. It was liberally responded to, several boxes of clothing, etc., and some money being subscribed. Every Thanksgiving, donations of this nature are asked of the charitably inclined, for the benefit of this worthy institution.

A rather remarkable thing happened in the chicken line in this city a few days ago. After a brief illness a choice hen from the flock of A S Cameron "kicked the bucket." Mr. Cameron and other members of the family have kept well posted on the many dreadful things that happen to disease the flesh of hen kind, and Mr. Cameron decided to investigate the cause of death. At the post mortem examination it was discovered that the hen carried two perfect eggs, each in a separate shell, and around these shells was grown another very large shell which enclosed the two eggs. Each of the eggs were of average size, but when united by this outer shell were of a size that would make an ostrich proud.

Was Granted a Divorce.

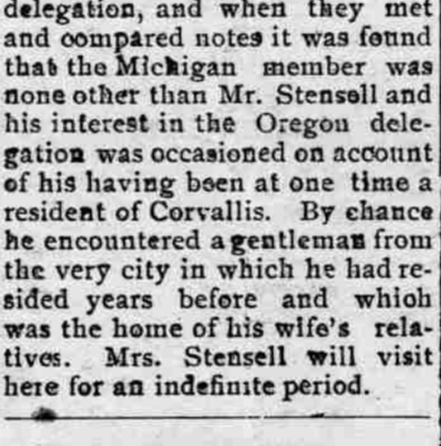

Frances Thornton has been granted a divorce from Luke Thornton, in the state circuit court at Oregon City. The couple were married in Missouri, in April, 1874. The plaintiff, by her attorneys, set forth in her plea that the defendant, disregarding his duties as a husband, had for a long time past and since their marriage, had been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment, and had rendered her life burdensome and unbearable, and that the defendant would frequently burst forth and become angry and use vile and abusive language and illtreat her in a shameful manner, and that this defendant failed, neglected and refused to provide for her and her children.

The court made the following conclusions: That the plaintiff is entitled to a decree of divorce and entitled to the sole care, custody and control of her six minor children and owner of real property in Benton county, Oregon.

The Thorntons were residents of Corvallis for several years. A son, "Bud," was a member of the 2nd Oregon and saw service in the Philippines. The family left last summer for Oregon City, where Mrs. Thornton engaged in the hotel business.

From Michigan.

Mr. Lena Stensell, nee Kisor, arrived last Tuesday from Michigan, accompanied by two small children. Her husband and eldest child remained in the East. It is several years since Mr. and Mrs. Stensell left Corvallis to make their home in Michigan. Mr. Stensell was quite well known in this city, having been a clerk in the Occidental hotel for several years, while his wife was raised in this county. The mention of Mr. Stensell's name recalls an interesting incident, related by Mon. J. D. Daly, of this city, on his return from Philadelphia, where he had been as a member of the Oregon delegation at the republican national convention held last June. According to Mr. Daly, while in Philadelphia, he was sought for by a member of the Michigan delegation, and when they met and compared notes it was found that the Michigan member was none other than Mr. Stensell and his interest in the Oregon delegation was occasioned on account of his having been at one time a resident of Corvallis. By chance he encountered a gentleman from the very city in which he had resided years before and which was the home of his wife's relatives. Mrs. Stensell will visit here for an indefinite period.

Ole Olson
"Has Made Millions Laugh."

Amusement lovers are now awaiting the coming of our old and tried Swedish friend, Ben Hendricks, in "Ole Olson," at the Opera House next Tuesday night. "Ole Olson" is advertised as "the play that has made millions laugh," and in its present revised form it is destined to make those same millions laugh again. Buy it has never caused a blush. The comedy is of the polite kind, containing nothing in the least suggestive, nor is it even coarse; but it is none the less extremely funny. The specialties introduced during the performance are numerous and original. The singing of the National Swedish Ladies' Quartette will doubtless prove an especially enjoyable feature. Reserved seats 50 and 75c. Sale opens on Saturday.

A nice present for old folks is a pair of spectacles or eye-glasses; a large variety to choose from at E P Greffoz's—The Leading Jeweler.

F. Klecker was out from Alsea yesterday. He had with him the skin of one of the cougars killed recently by himself and Dick Zahn. The animal measured 6 1/2 feet from tip to tip. The cougars were after Dick's goats, and had not Mr. Klecker discovered them just when he did, they would have wrought havoc with those animals. One of the cougars had two claws missing from the front foot, and as Dick found two claws in his trap something over a year ago, it is believed that this was the gentleman that lost them.

In point of attendance and enjoyment the dance given by the officers of the cadet battalion at the Armory last Wednesday night is said to have been the most successful affair of this kind ever held in that building. Ninety-five couples took part in the grand march, and over 125 spectators were in the gallery. Forty or fifty persons accompanied the Albany band from that city and attended the ball. Promptly at 12 o'clock "Home, Sweet Home," was played, and the dancers departed for their respective homes.

Thanksgiving Day brings its trials to many a housewife. An amusing thing occurred in this city the day before Thanksgiving, and in order not to give the identity of the heroine away, her name will not be made public. However, she is an accomplished cook and spent the greater part of Wednesday preparing a quantity of mince-meat. When it was done to a turn she placed it in a dish out on the porch to cool. An officious little red-colored dog happened along, and, when discovered, had carried off the greater part of the mince-meat and buried it in a manure pile. The dog belongs to Walt Smith.
