

THE GOVERNOR'S PLAINT.

Friends of Governor Geer will be much surprised upon perusing his late message to the legislature now in session. Many passages and subjects treated remind the reader more of a political campaign speech than a seriously considered and thoroughly digested state document.

Attention is called in that remarkable document to the fact that the state has bought 620 acres of land in Union county for the purpose of building a branch asylum thereon, and after the supreme court had decided that it would be unconstitutional to erect the branch asylum on the land, it has been urged in some quarters that it would be an act of justice and good policy to erect an agricultural college on this tract of land.

Again, he says, "An experiment made at the Station at Corvallis had as well been made in Kansas so far as any fact has been developed that will be of any value in Eastern Oregon." This is a very remarkable observation when it is considered that the sugar beet factory now located in Union county was attracted to the state from the bulletins published and circulated broadcast by the Experiment Station at Corvallis.

It is a well recognized fact that in all bacteriological work that there is nothing known to be more efficient in destroying germs and spores than dry heat, so that the advantages of the hot air methods are...

responsibility for the maintenance of an experiment station under said act devolves upon the governing board of the institution thus designated.

In short, the burden of the governor's plaint is that the state has paid out of the taxes collected from its citizens twenty-five thousand or more dollars for 620 acres of land in Union county, besides considerable sums for litigating the question to convince Union county that her ambition to move the asylum to that locality could not be gratified.

President Benjamin Ide Wheeler's enthusiasm over college athletics is fully justified by the facts. It is undoubtedly true that "athletics have done a very great deal for our college men," that they do supplement mental culture, with a necessary physical culture, and that it is the element of sport and competition that gives them their value.

To Prevent Smut on Oats. A preliminary bulletin on the prevention of smut on oats, has just been issued by Prof. E. F. Pernot of the Agricultural College. It says many methods have been tried for the purpose of killing the spores which are attached to the seed oats, and while some have been found good, others are almost worthless.

The hot water method, if properly performed, is very effective, but if improperly or carelessly done there is danger of attenuating the spores instead of destroying them. The water to convey heat, it has no other virtue, so in order to obviate the necessity of so much apparatus and trouble in drying the seed, one sample was treated with hot air in a laboratory hot air sterilizer.

In treating the oats, they should be spread in thin layers on the dryer trays, in order that all may receive the same exposure to the heat. If they were placed in the heater in sacks full, those in the center would receive little or no heating; or if they were placed in heater in large piles, it would be necessary to stir them continually, as in roasting coffee or peanuts, in order that they may receive equal exposure to the heat.

It is a well recognized fact that in all bacteriological work that there is nothing known to be more efficient in destroying germs and spores than dry heat, so that the advantages of the hot air methods are...

FOR GOLF RASH

Heat Rash, Inflammations, Itching, Irritations and chafings, undue or offensive perspiration, and many other summer troubles, are cured by cooling, purifying, and refreshing as a bath with CUTICURA SOAP, followed in the severer forms, by gentle sootings with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients.

It requires no experience to dye with Putnam Eadeless Dyes. Simply boiling your goods in the dye is all that's necessary. Sold by Graham & Wells.

Next year an extensive experiment with different seed grains will be conducted to test how full the virtue of hot air as a preventive of smut.
