SOUTH SEA TORNADO

Great Devastation in New Hebrides and New Britain.

NUMBER OF NATIVES WERE DROWNED

French Traders Reported Trying to Stir Up Anti-British Feeling in Former Islands—Innumerable Craft Wrecked.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 28.—Great devastation was wrought and a number of natives were drowned by the hurricane in the New Hebrides and New Britain, December 7, 8 and 9, according to news brought by the Aorangi. At Herbertshohe, while the settlement was asleep, a tremendous sea carried lighters, boats, ketches and wreckage of all descriptions ashore. Innumerable craft were wrecked. The steamer Stettin, the steam yacht Elberhard and the government steamer Stephen were wrecked by running to Matupi for shelter. The wharf steamer Kingfisher was totally wrecked and the government wharf washed away. December 8 the stone breakwater surrounding the New Guinea wharves gave way and vessels inside were all wrecked, with losses amounting to 100,000 marks. A number of natives were drowned and many injured.

The Aorangi brings news of a fire at Greta mines, N. S. W., in which five lives were lost. Rescue parties worked all night, but were driven back after every effort. Finally the mine was ordered sealed down in an effort to fight the fire, and the men were abandoned to their fate.

On arrival at Sydney from Victoria the bark Deffance reported passing a derelict vessel of from 300 to 300 tons, 100 feet long, keel outward, evidently wrecked a month ago, in 34 south, 168 east.

The Sydney Mail publishes a statement from its New Hebrides correspondent stating that French traders and sailors have been at those islands endeavoring to stir up anti-British feeling among the natives of the New Hebrides. The allegations are made that the French traders have represented to the natives that England's power is waning, and have promised them various privileges for allegiance to French interests. It is said that the natives are being encouraged in various acts of lawlessness against British traders, and that a native murderer of an English skipper named Captain Nasmith was shielded from punishment by the captain of a French ship. Serious trouble is predicted in the New Hebrides.

While the steamer Titus was at the Gilbert group, at Butaritari island, November 18, some excitement was caused by a terrific report. The natives heard it and were terribly frightened, but they could offer no explanation. The opinion was expressed that it was due to a severe volcanic disturbance on some neighboring island.

Spanish Drydock Not Wanted.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The naval board, headed by Judge Advocate General Lemley, appointed to decide on the advisability of purchasing the large floating drydock in Havana harbor from the government of Spain, reports that to place the dock in thorough shape and to prepare it for a voyage would involve an expenditure of over $500,000, and that a dock could be built new at a figure not greater. Admiral Endicott, chief of the bureau of docks and yards, has recommended that, as there is no present necessity for the acquisition by this government of such a dock, the tender of the Spanish government for its removal to the United States shall not be accepted. Secretary Long has approved this recommendation.

GUISSIPPE VERDI DEAD.

Composer of Some of the World's Finest Operas Passes to the Great Beyond.

Rome, Jan. 28.—A special dispatch to the Patria says that Verdi, the composer, is dead. He was born in 1813 near Parma, at the foot of the Apennines. At 11 he was the organist of Roncole, his native village. He first married the daughter of the conductor of the theater of La Scala. For 50 years he has made the villa of St. Agostino, near Busseto, his favorite residence. After the death of his first wife he married Mme. Strepponi, who played in the first performance of his "Nabucco," at Milan, over 55 years ago. Verdi's father was the keeper of an inn, a fact which would seem to prove the theory of some men of science that all human beings are born of equal possibility. What Verdi has done for mankind cannot be measured. "Ernani," "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore," "La Traviata," "Aida"—these names tell the story of what joy and peace and pleasure the genius of the Italian of humble origin has brought to his kind. His compositions have been very numerous. As early as 1847 he wrote the "Mamadiere." It was composed for Jenny Lind, and was sung at Her Majesty's theater in London with the great soprano in the principal part. "Trovatore" is his most popular opera. "Aida" is his greatest work, but opinions vary on this point, as they vary about the greatest of Shakespeare's plays. Signor Verdi did other things than write music. He was a member of the Italian parliament, and served his country in the capacity of minister of public instruction. France gave him the legion of honor, Russia gave him the order of St. Stanislaus, Italy the order of the crown, and Egypt the order of Osmannieh. Australia presented him with a cross of commandiership of the order of Franz Joseph. Of late years Verdi wrote works that are almost as well known as his earlier efforts. They are "Othello" and "Falstaff." The latter was written when the author was 79 years of age.

HANGING OF STICKEL.

Washington Man Who Murdered Three People—Confessed His Crime.

Kalama, Wash., Jan. 28.—Martin Stickel was hanged in the jail yard at 9:37 o'clock Friday morning, for the murder of W. B. Shanklin, near Kelso in November, 1899. Stickel was taken from the cell at 9:45 by Sheriff Huntington and four attendants. He walked to the scaffold unassisted, and ascended the steps with steady tread, showing that he was determined to die like a man. He stepped to the center of the trap door, stood erect and said: "Gentlemen, I bid you good-by. God help you; God forgive me. This is the last time I will see you on this shore. Jesus help you all; Jesus take me; take me now."

By the time the last words were spoken, the sheriff and his attendants had strapped Stickel's legs together, his hands to his sides, placed the black cap over his face, and the noose around his neck.

At 9:57 Sheriff Huntington grasped the lever and suddenly sprung the trap. The condemned man fell seven feet, and his neck was almost instantly broken. At 10 o'clock doctors pronounced life extinct. The body was cut down and placed in a coffin, to be turned over to the murderer's mother and brother. It will be taken to Canton for burial.

The hanging was private. Everything worked like clockwork. There was no trouble in any respect. The spectators were very quiet. There was no talking or demonstration.

Stickel was born in Adams county, Iowa, February 9, 1870. He had resided in this section about 12 years. The condemned man slept well last night and ate a hearty breakfast.

Death of a Hero of San Juan.

New York, Jan. 28.—After suffering for more than two years with Cuban fever, Alfred Rosetsky, who is said to have been the first American soldier to ford San Juan creek, where the fiercest of the Spanish fire was directed, in the battle of San Juan hill, has just died in a Newark hospital. He contracted the fever in Santiago, and was a mere skeleton when he got home. At San Juan Rosetsky fought in troop C, Sixth cavalry. His clothes were out by bullets, and while he was ascending the hill with a number of other soldiers, a shell exploded close by them. A lump of earth struck the young soldier in the side, knocking him senseless. After the battle he was personally complimented for his courage by General Wheeler.

ASLEEP AT HIS POST

Engineer's Carelessness the Cause of a Bad Train Wreck.

FIVE PERSONS WERE INSTANTLY KILLED

Mistook the First Section of a Passing Train for the Second—Fireman and Forward Brakeman Were Also Sleeping.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 30.—Five persons were killed and one severely injured and two engines and 10 loaded cars were wrecked by the mistake of a train crew this afternoon between Petroleum and Volcanic Junction, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. The engineer was asleep at his post and mistook the first section of a passing train for the second. Thinking both had passed he pulled his train on to the main track and sped onward to what would seem to have necessarily been his death.

All five men killed were pinned under the wreck and at a late hour tonight only one of the bodies had been recovered.

The accident occurred in a cut on a curve on a heavy down grade and at the end of a bridge. The third section of No. 87 was on the siding at Petroleum with orders to wait there until the second section of No. 98 had passed east. Engineer Davidson who escaped with slight injuries was the engineer on No. 87 and went to sleep on the siding. When the first section went by he thought it was the second and started out onto the main track. His fireman and forward brakeman, both of whom were killed, must also have been asleep, for they allowed him to take the train out. The conductor of the first train No. 98 after he passed, saw Davidson pulling out and tried to warn him to stop, but failed. The conductor of fourth 87, seeing the third section pull out ran forward after it as fast as possible his engineer whistling down brakes and the conductor of the wrecked train ran over the tops of the cars until he reached the car next to the last one wrecked in his attempts to stop the engineer, but none of them attracted his attention in time. Conductor Lang managed to jump in time to save his life.

The last trains tonight were passed around the wreck by way of Mountaineer and the Ohio River Railroad.

BROKE THROUGH ICE.

Sixty Skaters on Large Pond Near Brooklyn—Two Boys Were Drowned.

New York, Jan. 30.—Sixty skaters, including many women and children, broke through the ice on a large pond back of Evergreen cemetery, today, and in the wild struggle for life two boys were drowned. The ice over the center of the pond, where the water was deepest and where the skaters were assembled in greatest numbers, suddenly sank.

The whole crowd was panic stricken. Men and women fought to save themselves and children suffered in the unequal struggle. The screams of the skaters were heard by men employed in a factory near by, and they ran to the pond. They dragged long planks with which they were pushed toward the center of the pond. Along this footing a life line was formed. Effort was first made to rescue the women and children. By twos and threes they were taken from the water and hustled along the planks to the shore.

The police reserves and surgeons arrived in ambulances and succeeded many of the half-drowned skaters. The bodies of the two boys were recovered.

She Turned on the Gas.

New York, Jan. 30.—In a flat in West Thirty-sixth street, there died as the result of inhaling illuminating gas a woman whose son says she came of one of the most distinguished families of Tennessee. She was Mrs. Anna Terry, the widow of Dr. C. C. Terry, a graduate of the Harvard medical school, and until his death, eight years ago, one of the most distinguished surgeons in New England. Dr. Terry's death was accidental, his brain having been pierced by the foil of a fencing master with whom he was engaged in practice. Mrs. Terry was found dead in bed. The house was redolent of the odor of gas, and the stopcock in Mrs. Terry's room had been found turned on full. A policeman, who was summoned, reported the case as one of apparent suicide.

The Danish Antilles Deal.

Copenhagen, Jan. 30.—It appears that only a single member out of the 15 comprising the finance committee of the Folkething opposes the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States. The objector is starting a newspaper campaign in favor of their retention, but the finance committee of the Landsting will shortly report in favor of the sale of the islands. The agitation of the inhabitants of the islands against their sale is largely artificial, and, therefore, of not much weight.

New Steamer Left for Honolulu.

New York, Jan. 30.—The American freight steamer Hawaiian, of the New American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, sailed on her maiden trip from this port this afternoon for San Francisco and Honolulu. MUST SERVE IN THE ARMY.

Finns Will Be Enforced to Conform With Russian System.

Governor-General Bobrikoff has lately issued instructions to the governors of the provinces in Finland urging a stricter enforcement of the ordinance of last July regarding public assemblies. The complaint is made that this ordinance is evaded under pretext of amusements and entertainments. Among the amusements which require permits may be reckoned gatherings in which social, scientific and economic questions are discussed or where addresses are made. Assemblies which are permitted must be watched over by the police, whose duty it will be to suppress demonstrations.

In order to meet the boycott of unpopular officials by houseowners and hotelkeepers, Governor-General Bobrikoff has purchased, for $250, a dwelling house in Helsingfors. For the purpose of cultivating closer relations with Bulgaria, the government has entered into an agreement with Prince Ferdinand's government reducing telegraph tolls from 40 to 23 centimes a word, and introducing an international money order system similar to that in vogue in Russia.

He had been residing in this city for the last nine years, and was employed in the railroad shops under the name of Charles Eaves. He has a wife and stepson. In his signed confession, he claims that it was his intention to return to Texas next year and stand trial for the killing. He says the quarrel between himself and Presley, who was the stepfather of his former wife, occurred over some building material. Presley picked up a large stone to throw at him. He struck at Presley's arm with a club, to make him drop the stone, and the latter, in dodging, was struck on the head and died. Hyatt claims that he feared he would not get a fair trial, as all the witnesses were relatives of Presley, so he fled.
