Rev. L. Myron Boozer will preach in the United Evangelical church Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Practical Gospel themes will be presented. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

The young ladies of the Sorosis society will give an entertainment at the Armory tomorrow night. It is hoped they will receive a good house. A small fee of cents will be charged, the proceeds to be used in making a payment on the society's piano. A fine program has been arranged.

A party is to be given this evening at the residence of Mrs. Delilah Honck in honor of Mrs. Adelaide Fullerton, who has just returned from a business engagement at Siletz. Cards and dancing will be the features of the evening. Mrs. Fullerton expects to leave for Portland next Monday.

Mrs. M. A. Gage, of Clackamas county, who attended the Farmers' Short Course, recently held at the O. A. C., has contributed a very interesting article to the Pacific Farmer, on her experiences here during the course. She speaks in flattering terms of certain branches of learning at this great institution.

The Garrow brothers, Will and Joe, expect to start in a little over a week for McCloud, Calif., where they will have employment during the season with a large lumbering company. They were engaged at the same place last year. Their father is superintendent of the plant and he left a few days ago for McCloud.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed over the result as given out by the census officials at Washington. The figures are set at 909 for Independence. This seems so palpably wrong that steps will undoubtedly be taken by the city authorities and business men to take a census of their own and disprove the official count.

In a recent letter to a friend, Miss Gussie Turney, who taught so long in the Corvallis schools, states that she is now the upper teacher in the schools of Oxnard, Calif., and receives a flattering salary. She now holds a life diploma as a teacher in the state of California, and this degree entitles her to teach in any grade of the union.

Numerous residents, intending to take passage on the Modoc for down-river points, have been disappointed during the week. It was learned that the steamer was disabled somewhere on the lower river and is obliged to undergo repairs, but it is presumed that she will again begin her run next week. According to report, the steamer Ruth will arrive tomorrow and make a special trip.

C. Elton Blanchard, who was principal of the Corvallis public schools a number of years ago, is now studying medicine in Chicago.

Miss Delpha Heanel, of Monroe, is in the city attending examinations for a state teacher's diploma. Miss Heanel has just completed a successful term of school near Oregon City.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Carl G. Hodas and Miss Margaret Krepp which will occur at St. Mary's church in this city, Monday morning, February 18th, at 9:30 o'clock.

During the past few weeks numerous reports have been spread, stating that various logging enterprises have been stopped on account of extreme low water in the various streams.

Miss Leota Howard, the leading lady of the "Under Sealed Orders" company, which appeared in Corvallis a short time ago, is an Oregon girl, having been raised at McCoy, Polk county.

The many friends of Mrs. Elmer Samuels will be pained to learn that she still remains in a very critical condition from a severe attack of pleurisy. Friends of the family hope for her speedy recovery.

Mr. D. C. Sherwin, of Kings Valley, was in Corvallis, Wednesday. Mr. Sherwin has traded his farm in the valley to a Mr. Allen for property near Tacoma, Wash., and will leave for that state as soon as his deed arrives.

A peculiar breakdown occurred to Kyle's dray just in front of the GAZETTE office yesterday morning. It had just reached this point, heavily laden with freight, when the spokes flew out of the hind wheel, leaving the hub and tire clean.

At a meeting of the Albany city council Tuesday night, the committee on ordinances were instructed to report an ordinance at the next meeting for the purpose of tolling the steel bridge over the Willamette river and submit a schedule of toll for same.

Roman Zahn was out from his Alsea home during the fore part of the week. This was his first trip to Corvallis since he took his bride over the mountain, but he is looking well, and if appearances are not deceiving, married life is not a mistake with Roman.

Game Warden Quimby has received a letter from Homer Davenport stating that the cartoonist will soon arrive in Portland. He comes for the purpose of stocking Oregon with Reeves pheasants. Davenport is considered the greatest breeder in the world.—Telegram.

The council met Monday night, but little business came before it. The committee appointed to investigate the bill of Lawyer Watson for attorney's fees in the water case, reported in favor of paying $200 for his services. Mr. Watson's bill is for $300. Bills amounting to $553 on the general fund, and $5.10 on the street fund were allowed.

Bicycles are a good thing in more ways than two, but he who rides a "silent steed" should at all times exercise a little caution. A few days ago, Miles Starr, who is obliged to use crutches to get around, was going out the college walk to the administration building, when one of the students came tearing along down grade, and, although Mr. Starr did his best to avoid the bicycle rider, they collided. This resulted in a heavy fall for both parties, but, luckily, neither was hurt, the only damage done was to one of Mr. Starr's crutches.

Roy Heater, the well-known athlete, from Newberg, Or., is setting an awful mark for pole-vaulters. He is now attending the university, at Eugene, and broke the Pacific coast record for pole-vault a few days ago by clearing eleven feet. This vault is one and one-fourth inches better than the P. N. A. outdoor record which is held by Mr. Heater. The Pacific outdoor record, 11 feet 8 inches, is held by Cutler, of the Palo Alto High School, but it is the general opinion that Heater, under the careful training he will receive this year, will clear 11 feet 6 inches.

J. W. Lorett, writing to the GAZETTE from South Haven, Kansas, states that he shall locate in the Willamette Valley soon, and wishes a copy of this paper that he may form some estimate of this locality. This is an object lesson for merchants and citizens generally. Your local papers are the mirrors which reflect the business, social and moral conditions of the community. If business men are wide-awake and progressive the papers are full of bright, up-to-date advertisements. If the moral atmosphere is pure, the tone of the paper is high. If social conditions are inviting, the paper gives indication of that fact.

Attorney W. B. Yates went over to Toledo, Tuesday, on legal business. He arrived home yesterday.

Henry Ambler, the wide-awake real estate agent of Philomath, was in Corvallis yesterday, attending some business.

Yesterday's ballot for United States senator at Salem resulted in a vote of 32 for H. W. Corbett, and 29 for Binger Hermann.

A Valentine and basket social was given by Marys Peak Circle No. 14, at their hall last night. An excellent time is reported.

Rev. W. S. Smith, of Independence, will hold services at Newport next Sabbath. Dr. E. J. Thompson will preach at 3:00 p. m. on the same day at Oak Ridge.

Hon. R. A. Bensell and wife, of Toledo, arrived in Corvallis, yesterday. They are en route to Indian Territory, where Mr. Bensell will be interested in his duties connected with the Daws' Indian Commission.

The case of Z. H. Davis vs Eldridge Hartless and wife, an action to recover money on a promissory note amounting to $500, tried in the county court Saturday, resulted in defendant's motion for a non-suit being granted.

A Frances E. Willard memorial service will be held in the M. E. Church, South, next Sunday, February 7th, at 8 p. m. A highly interesting program has been arranged, consisting of special music, readings, etc. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The Gospel meetings which have been in progress at the Christian church will be omitted tomorrow night. The usual Lord's Day services will be held, conducted by Mrs. Ella Humbert. Morning subject, "Are we growing better?" Evening, "The books were opened and the door was shut." All will be accorded a cordial welcome.

The Oregon Weekly, the U of O paper, of Eugene, states that a number of students from the university will attend the grand ball given in the Armory, by the cadets, February 22nd. This little paper also admonishes its delegates to the oratorical contest, to be held here March 8th, to see that they succeed in arranging for the contest of 1902 to take place at Eugene.

Services at M. E. Church, South, Sunday as follows: Sabbath School at 10 a. m.; memorial services for Miss Willard, conducted by the W. C. T. U. at 3 p. m.; Epworth League at 6:30 p. m.; regular service by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Lark, at 7:30 p. m.; subject, "The Narrow and Broad Way." The public will be welcomed at all these services. Young people specially invited to Epworth League.

The report that the residence of C. B. Wells caught fire from a defective flue as a result of a fire in the kitchen stove is a mistake, as is also the statement that Mr. Wells was home at 4 o'clock. That gentleman states that the facts given in the GAZETTE were substantially correct. There had been no fire in the kitchen stove for a month or more, and he had not been in the house since about 7:30 the preceding evening.

Ellsworth Post No. 19, G. A. R., was reorganized on Tuesday evening, Feb. 12, with twenty charter members. The following officers were elected and installed: John C. Young, commander; J. W. Crawford, sen. vice commander; Levy Orin, jun. vice commander; Oliver Trees, officer of the day; Rowland Fisher, quartermaster; Harvey Sargeant, quartermaster sergeant; W. H. Howell, chaplain; J. Wheeler, adjutant. The Post starts off with a good membership and is now in good working order.

Mr. M. G. Flynn, of Fall City, was in the city this week on business. Mr. Flynn has a fine timber claim about 14 miles west of Corvallis, and he is making arrangements to build a mill on this property at the head of Greasy. This will have a capacity of 30,000. Mr. Flynn has been engaged in the lumbering business all his life. His mill will turn out yellow fir and some cedar. Yellow fir, cut high up in the mountains, this gentleman says, makes the very finest lumber. He will ship the product of his mill to Corvallis and other points over the O. & E.

Charles ("Sandy") Olds, the well-known gambler and sporting man of Portland, who was twice sentenced to death for the killing of Emil Weber, some 12 years ago, and finally escaped with one year's imprisonment, died early Tuesday morning at his residence, 255 Clackamas street on the East Side. Five weeks ago Olds suffered a serious stroke of paralysis in San Francisco, from the effects of which he never recovered and which was the direct cause of his death. He was brought at once to Portland, and for four weeks has been lying totally paralyzed, an inarticulate "no" being the only sound that he could utter. Olds' first and second trials resulted in verdicts of murder in the first degree. The trials were the most sensational in the criminal history of Oregon.

A Valuable Invention.

About a month ago it was remarked by the knowing ones that Dilley, "the fixer," was fixing something considerably out of the usual order of things that need fixing. The facts in the case have all come to light and it appears that Mr. Dilley was making a model of a turntable for T. F. Langley, the inventor.

Mr. Langley is a practical railroad man and has for a long time been engaged in solving the problem of a turn-table that will be of particular value in taking a loaded hand car from the main line without unloading the car, and it is of a principle that will be practical for larger tables. The drawing was made by E. F. Bryant, and some few weeks ago the drawing and model were sent East to Munn & Co., publishers of the Scientific American, at New York city.

A couple of days ago Mr. Langley received a very encouraging report from the Scientific American people, who state that the invention is patentable and from an examination of the records it is shown that there is nothing patented that covers this particular field. Munn & Co. will proceed to secure a patent for Mr. Langley. Some of the best mechanics and machinists in Corvallis have examined the invention and are loud in their praise of the novel turn-table. Mr. Dilley says it is the most meritorious invention that he has yet made a model of, and he predicts that it will attract the railroad men to its use.

Before Judge Grefroz.

A case which attracted numerous spectators and made work for the lawyers, was tried before Police Judge Grefroz yesterday. The City of Corvallis appeared as plaintiff, and Lee Den, a Chinaman, as defendant. Lee Den was arrested upon complaint of Chief Flett for permitting a habitually vicious dog to run at large. Many witnesses were introduced by both sides.

The city attempted to show by the evidence of Mrs. Broders, Lee Henkle, H. L. Martin, Mr. Gleason and others, that the dog was vicious. Mrs. Broders testified that the animal had thrown her child down and would have bitten it, but for interference, and her evidence was strongly corroborated. Mr. Gleason stated that the animal had attacked him. The defense introduced P. Avery, Adam Assell and Ned Smith, who have had occasion to pass the animal often, to prove that it was not vicious. The defense also claimed that the dog was not the property of Lee Den, and that gentleman and Sam, another Chinaman, swore to this effect. Chief Flett, however stated that Den had acknowledged ownership.

The jury consisted of John Bier, Wm. Cress, T. W. Dilly; S. N. Wilkins, W. P. Lafferty and W. T. Small.

Tomorrow's Great Game.

The game of football between the faculty and freshmen of the O. A. C., on the college campus tomorrow afternoon, promises to be one of the most exciting, if not scientific, contests ever held anywhere.

Each team is composed of stars of varying magnitude, and the captains claim that their men will play individually and collectively. Following is the line-up:

Three Questions. Before purchasing a piano or organ there are a few questions it is well to consider. First: Is the instrument made to use or simply to sell? Second: Is the tone, action and finish first class? Third: Is the price reasonable? Cheap instruments are expensive at any price. Why? Because they never give satisfaction, being constructed of the cheapest material hastily thrown together. To secure the value of your money there is one certain way. Buy an instrument which has not only an established reputation for years, but which has kept up with every improvement of modern times. If you then would like such an instrument with a tone, action and finish unsurpassed, I have them, and can furnish you any at the lowest price. Call around. MORDECAI GOONDOGH.

To Protect Dairy Industry.

Senator Looney's bill, framed for the protection of dairy industries of the state and for the protection of those who buy or consume dairy products, has passed the senate without opposition.

The bill provides for the election of a dairy and food commissioner by the people, the salary of the office to be $1,800, with an allowance of $1,200 per year for expenses and $900 per year for a deputy. The commissioner is required to visit each creamery and cheese factory in the state at least once in each year, to give practical and theoretical instruction in dairy matters, to keep an office in Portland and to prosecute violations of the law.

The proposed measure requires that all adulterated foods, drinks, medicines and fertilizers shall be plainly marked as such; that all bills of fare shall state the facts regarding adulterated food therein mentioned; that in dining-rooms in which bills of fare are not used notices must be posted stating what adulterated foods are used; that reworked or remolded butter shall be marked "process butter" or "tab butter" as the case may be, and that no diseased, unclean, impure or unwholesome food, drink or medicine shall be sold or offered for sale.

The bill defines what adulterated foods are, provides for full weight of rolls of butter, prohibits the sale of oleomargarine; unless it is plainly marked as such, requires that dairy cows must not be kept in unhealthful stables, and provides that all unwholesome adulterated foods and drinks shall be seized and destroyed.

Buried Here.

The death of Henry Emriek, at the advanced age of 76 years, occurred in Portland Monday morning, Feb. 11. Nervous trouble is reported to have been the cause of death.

The deceased was born Dec. 28, 1824, in Ohio. He came to Oregon in 1859, and settled in Benton county in 1861. For the next forty years Benton county may be said to have been his home, although he resided at various places for short periods during this time. The remains, accompanied by relatives, arrived on Tuesday's train from Portland, and early Wednesday morning services were held in the Episcopal church, conducted by Dr. MacLean. The interment took place at the old family burying ground a few miles south of Philomath. A large number of relatives survive him, and besides those residing in Corvallis, many are located in various parts of the state.

Salvation Army News.

Captain Kaelton, who has labored in the Salvation Army in Corvallis for some time past, will preach his farewell sermon in this city next Sunday. Numerous conversions have been made as a result of his efforts here, but home duties call him away at this time.

Tomorrow night a swearing in of soldiers will occur at the army hall, to which all are invited.

TOMORROW NIGHT IN THE COLLEGE CHAPEL

The young ladies of the Sorosis Society will give an entertainment consisting of Recitations, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The whole to conclude with the bright farce "Young Dr. Devine". An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged and the proceeds will be applied on the purchase price of the piano recently acquired by the society.
