The children of the late Mrs. Mary Allphin wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and following the death of their dear mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Hodes returned from San Francisco, Wednesday. While in that city they saw many old Corvallisites, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Kline and family, Mr. Irving Lea, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zeis and a number of others.

Orin Hamlin, a driver on Huston's dray line, committed suicide in Albany, April 1st. Unrequited love is said to have been the cause of his trouble. Hamlin spent his boyhood days in Corvallis, where his father died years ago. He was a hard-working fellow, about 25 years of age.

About two years ago a Harvest Souvenir, descriptive of Corvallis and Benton county, was gotten out in the GAZETTE office. The advertising committee of the Citizens' League desire to secure as many as possible of these souvenirs for distribution, pending completion of a pamphlet which the committee is preparing. Parties having copies will perform a service for the county by leaving them at Bryson & Woodson's office.

Squire Rycraft was in Corvallis, Saturday, on his way home to Alsea, after an absence of three and one-half months in Indiana, whither he had gone with his brother, who desired to spend the remainder of his life with his sister. The old gentleman is dissatisfied with Indiana, however, and contemplates moving to California. Mr. Rycraft reports a great movement of immigrants toward the Pacific Northwest. Nearly 2,000 were on the same and other sections of the train that brought him west.

Albany is in a peck of trouble over the wagon bridge across the Willamette at that place. The last legislature amended the city charter by making the bridge across the Willamette a toll-bridge. At a meeting of the city council the bridge was ordered repaired, preparatory to beginning the collection of toll, at an expense not to exceed $4,000. Last Tuesday, J. B. Tillotson, a contractor, commenced suit against the city, asking for an injunction preventing the collection of toll on the ground that it is a free bridge; also to prevent the repairing of the bridge except by contract, and stopping the city from going further in debt. As the county will not keep up the bridge, the suit puts the city in an unpleasant position.

Professor Frank Rigler, city superintendent of the schools in Portland, and Prof. Burnham, of the same system of schools, have been engaged to take hold of the summer normal school work at Newport this season. Both of these gentlemen have a national reputation as public school men, and they will give character to the work they are about to undertake at the seaside. Their school of methods will be by far the best on the northwest coast this season and it is believed will attract from Washington, Idaho, Montana, and the northern part of California. Prof. Smith, of the Oregon State Normal, will give invaluable assistance to this work. The round table instruction, consisting of painting, music, amateur photography, etc., will be placed in charge of competent instructors, and the seaside course of ten lectures will be immense. The summer normal will probably open about the 15th of July, while the lecture course will begin about the 2nd of August. This is an opportunity to permanently establish a great summer school at Oregon's noted watering place.

G. W. Bigham, the new soda water man is making the dirt fly while cleaning out a building on the east side of Main street for a pop factory. Mr. Bigham has begun to invade the Portland field with his products and expects to carry on a lively competition with Portland pop makers—Oregon City Enterprise. Our "Soda" is evidently hustling as lively in Oregon City as he used to in Corvallis.

Commissioners' court was in session during last Wednesday and Thursday, and numerous matters of importance were given attention. A petition, containing signatures of citizens representing two-thirds of the taxable property of the county was presented to the court, favoring the establishment of a free ferry. This matter had not been acted upon at the time of our going to press.

The liberal premiums offered for county exhibits at the Oregon State Fair this year will afford every county in the state an opportunity to exhibit her resources. There is no question about the great number of home-seekers coming to the state this year, and the State Fair will afford them an excellent opportunity to judge for themselves of our resources. For this reason alone every county that makes any pretension to general agriculture should make a good showing. The premiums offered on county exhibits is $1,000, divided into five parts as follows: First premium, $300; second premium, $250; third premium, $200; fourth premium, $150; fifth premium, $100. The Southern Pacific Company hauls all exhibits to and from the fair free of charge, and a very liberal rate is made on all other lines in the eastern portion of the state.

Not War; but Business.

If farmers continue to bring egg to Corvallis in anything like the quantity they did last Saturday, they won't have one to bless themselves with Easter morning. Last Saturday 2,330 dozen—27,960 eggs—passed into the hands of Corvallis merchants. Every dozen of these eggs brought 15 cents and as a result the farmers went home with $349.50. They did not take this amount of money out of Corvallis, however. That isn't what they came to town for. After they completed their shopping, it is highly probable that they carried away $500 worth of merchandise, groceries, etc., leaving in exchange eggs and other produce, for a good part of which Portland merchants will in due time send a money equivalent to Corvallis.

The observing will understand why our merchants are paying 15 cents a dozen for eggs when other places are offering but 12 1/2 cents. It's business. It is not cut throat competition; not war, but a business proposition. They believe that the farmer is entitled to 15 cents for his eggs; they are able to pay it and make money in the long run. There is wisdom in their course. The fact that the merchants are paying 15 cents per dozen for eggs, has been so widely advertised that farmers are attracted here from Peoria, Junction, Harrisburg, Halsey, and numerous places in Linn, Lane, Polk and Lincoln counties, to do their trading, who, heretofore, have never traded in Corvallis. Let us repeat again: Corvallis merchants are friends of the farmer; not enemies of one another.

Oui, Oui, Monsieur.

When a man is the victim of a circumstance that has a tendency to blight his life for a time, he is about the last person on earth to relate his experience. A gentleman who visited the Paris exposition last year recently told of an amusing experience he had in "Gay Paree." While passing along the street one day he concluded that he had better get shaved. Accordingly he entered the first barber shop he came to and took a chair.

While arranging the preliminaries for "skinning" the barber harangued our fellow-townsmen with a lot of unintelligible "gibberish." Our citizen, not caring to admit that he did not understand French, vigorously responded "oui, oui, monsieur," when the barber concluded his remarks. The barber then touched a call-bell and in a moment a number of singing girls appeared on the scene. During the time he was getting shaved he was entertained with music, both vocal and instrumental. Paris stock went up in the estimation of the Corvallisite, and he made up his mind that a Parisian barber was the "real thing." The barber was very polite in his attentions and our friends heart warmed up considerably, so much, in fact, that when he got ready to leave the shop he handed the tonsorial artist a franc (20 cents), despite the fact that the price of shaving was only about 10 cents. Then the barber waxed violent and demanded 20 francs. Our townsman understood just French enough to know that this was $4. Protest on his part was in vain and he paid the bill rather than take a chance on his anatomy. To this day he holds Parisian barbers and their methods in contempt.

Citizens' League Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the citizens' league occurred at the court house Monday evening. Many members were present and much enthusiasm prevailed. The committee who have charge of the preparation of the pamphlet advertising Benton county, reported progress.

E. E. Wilson, who was instructed at a former meeting to continue correspondence with parties desiring to establish a one-set woolen mill here, read a letter from these parties stating that they would visit Corvallis in the near future.

The committee appointed to confer with the county court relative to the settlement of the boundary line between Benton and Lane counties, reported that an understanding had been reached between the courts of these counties and the matter was on the eve of a solution.

E. R. Lake, E. E. Wilson and W. H. Curran were appointed to co-operate with the county court in preparing an exhibit at the state fair. Last year Benton county took third place and a prize of $50. Five premiums will be offered this year: $300 for first; $250 for second; $200 for third; $150 for fourth and $100 for fifth.

Mrs. Mary Allphin.

The death of Mrs. Mary Allphin occurred at 10 a. m. Wednesday, April 3rd, 1901, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Gray, in this city. The funeral services were held at the family residence at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and were conducted by Elder Denham, of Portland. The remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Deceased was born in Platte county, Mo., February 17, 1833, and came to Oregon in 1846—fifty-five years ago. She was one of the early pioneers of Oregon and was first located in the Waldo Hills, Marion county, Oregon. There are few pioneers this left among us and soon they will all have passed to their Father.

Mrs. Allphin was ill for some time prior to her demise, which resulted from tuberculosis. She was the mother of seven children, six of whom are still living. The surviving children are, Mrs. O. A. Chitwood, of Chitwood, Or; Thos Allphin, Bezenan, Montana; Mrs. E. A. McBride, Eddyville, Or; Jos Allphin, Northport, Wash, and E. G. Allphin and Mrs. W. F. Gray, both of this city. The latter two children, together with Mrs. O. A. Chitwood and Mrs. E. A. McBride were present at the bedside of their mother when death occurred.

Mrs. Allphin had been a resident of this city since 1871. She was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist church and was esteemed by a large circle of friends for her many good, Christian-like qualities. She will be missed by numerous friends who extend sympathy to surviving relatives.

Commencement Day.

Announcements were made in chapel at the O. A. C., Wednesday morning, regarding commencement exercises. The graduating class this year will consist of thirty-three students and commencement day will be Wednesday, June 12th. Chas. H. Horner was chosen as salutatorian and Miss Ivy Burton as valedictorian. These decisions were made at a faculty meeting Tuesday, at which time it was determined who should graduate. This last term of the school year closes June 7th. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. Herbert Johnson, of Beaton, on June 9th.

A slight change will be inaugurated in the commencement exercises at the O. A. C. this year. Heretofore it has been the custom to have addresses made by three students, aside from the valedictorian and salutatorian addresses. It has been decided to do away with all student addresses, save the last two mentioned, and have an address delivered by some noted personage from abroad. This mode of procedure has been in vogue in many of the Eastern colleges and has proven very satisfactory. Music will have a place on the program this year.

Defends the Doctor.

We recently noticed in an Oregon newspaper a statement that prominent farmers of Clackamas county have criticised Dr. Withycombe's objections to the summer-fallow system which prevails in the Willamette Valley. An examination of the criticisms offered shows that they were the result of not knowing the position taken by Dr. Withycombe. If these farmers would arrange for institutes in the neighborhoods in which they live, and get Dr. Withycombe to come and have a friendly discussion on the question with them, they would find that he does not dispute the claims they make for the summer-fallow system, but points out the ultimate weakness of the system, and advises the adoption of a system which will prove at least equally as effective in immediate results upon the yield of grain crops and at the same time keep up the supply of humus in the soil and maintain permanently its productiveness. The bare summer-fallow acts upon the land as a stimulant. It increases the yield of the following crop, but it does so at a great sacrifice of the elements of fertility in the soil.—Rural Northwest.

Another Pioneer Gone.

The death of Mrs. Mary O. Brownson occurred on Friday, March 29, at the home of Mrs. J. B. Williams, at Amity, Or.

Mrs. Brownson was born in Franklin, N. Y., April 9, 1826. She experienced religion and united with the Baptist church when 16 years of age. She married Julius Brownson September 9, 1845 and came to Oregon in 1855, locating in Benton county, where she lived the remainder of her life, with the exception of a few years spent in Eastern Washington, where she lost her husband. She was most familiarly and most favorably known in vicinity of Corvallis and Philomath, where she will be remembered as having done many kind and loving acts, being ever ready and willing to be a friend and helper in time of need. Her faculties remained keen and she was cheerful up to the last hour of her life. She died as she lived, full in the faith and was ready and willing to go.

Mrs. Brownson leaves three daughters and one son. Mrs. Ella Williams, of Amity, Mrs. Delle Newton, of Corvallis, Mrs. Addie Baldwin, of Albany, and Mark T. Brownson, of Portland, who most sincerely mourn the loss of a most kind, loving and devoted mother.

How It Is Done.

The first object in life with the American people is to "get rich," the second, how to regain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by using Green's August Flower. Should you be a dependent sufferer from any of the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Appendicitis, Indigestion, etc., such as Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Sour Stomach, Habitual Constiveness, Dizziness of the Head, Nervous prostration, low spirits, etc., you need not suffer another day. Two doses of the well known August Flower will relieve you at once. Go to Graham & Wortham and get a sample bottle free. Regular size, 75 cents. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

Three Questions.

Before purchasing a piano or organ there are a few questions it is well to consider. First: Is the instrument made to use or simply to sell? Second: Is the tone, action and finish first class? Third: Is the price reasonable? Cheap instruments are expensive at any price. Why? Because they never give satisfaction, being constructed of the cheapest material hastily thrown together. To secure the value of your money there is one certain way. Buy an instrument which has not only an established reputation for years, but which has kept up with every improvement of modern times. If you then would like such an instrument with a tone, action and finish unsurpassed, I have them, and can furnish you any at the lowest price. Call around. MORDAUNT GOODENOUGH.
