"Gopher heaven" is certainly located in W. E. Yates' clover patch out west of the college. The clover will yield about three tons to the acre and the gophers about three hundred to the acre.

In walking through the O A C orchard you are at once struck with the magnificent manner in which it is cultivated, and equally struck with the scarcity of fruit on the apple trees. You will pass trees after trees with hardly a sign of fruit on them. Pears, plums and cherries present a much better showing.

The London Exchange Telegraph Company says: The legal preliminaries in the suit of Portia Knight, the American actress, against the Duke of Manchester for breach of promise, have been completed and the case has been set for hearing, Colonel N. B. Knight, father of Miss Knight, is here to support his daughter's interests.

Mrs. M. Jacobs takes a walk early every morning for the benefit of her health. Saturday morning, while walking along the sidewalk a block north of the school house, she stepped on a broken plank that sprang down, letting her foot go through the walk and then holding her fast. With great difficulty she managed to extricate her foot, and considers herself very lucky that she was not seriously hurt.

Peter Rickard was in town Saturday, from his Beaver creek farm. Mr. Rickard states that the outlook for both grain and fruit in his section is most flattering and if the farmers get a good price for grain there will be plenty of money in the country this fall. It is Mr. Rickard's intention to move his family to town this winter, in order that he may be able to give his children every possible advantage in the way of education.

In one of the neighboring cities it is reported that various property owners allowed their sidewalks to reach such a condition as to become a menace to life and limb. Remonstrance and warnings from the city marshal were of no effect. The city authorities, fearing a damage suit, ordered notices posted near these defective places warning the general public that the walks were unsafe. There are a few places in Corvallis where notices would not be amiss, especially if they were notices of improvement.

The residence of Dell Felton came near being burned last Friday evening. A fire was discovered on the roof by Mrs. D. S. Adams, who gave an alarm. By prompt and energetic measures it was put out before it had done any damage worth mentioning. It is evident that a spark had fallen into the valley of the roof, and as there was a good breeze it was soon fanned into a blaze. The family were seated in the house, wholly unconscious of the fire burning over their heads.

The following delegates will represent Ellsworth W. R. C., at the state meeting of that order at Forest Grove from June 25th to 28th: President, Mrs. Prudence Chipman; past presidents, Mesdames Fannie Orin, M. C. Thorp, Agnes Young, Della Chipman, Sarah Cronk, Frankie Smith and Tillie Read. At no period in its history has Ellsworth Relief Corps been so flourishing as at present. Last March its membership numbered but 23, today 52 names appear upon the roster. These are active, energetic workers, and the reorganization of Ellsworth Post, G. A. R., was largely due to their efforts and encouragement.

Bargains in all summer goods at Nolan & Callahan's.

At meeting of the citizens' league will occur at the court house tonight at 8 o'clock, at which time arrangements will be made for entertaining the River and Harbor committee during its visit here Saturday, and also the farmers who will be here Thursday.

When you are in town, and have an hour to spend, walk out to the college and see the samples of Cotswold and Shropshire sheep. The flocks are not large in numbers, but they are dandies in size. It will pay you to take a look at them.

Dr. Withycombe has tried an experiment on clover ensilage. He filled one bin with cut clover as run through the cutting machine, and filled another with clover just as it came from the field. If the latter keeps in good shape it will prove a labor saving experiment.

The Buena Vista correspondent of the West Side, says: The school closed here last Friday. The graduating exercises were held Friday night. Prof. Swan will move back to Corvallis during the week. We regret very much to lose Prof. Swan and family from our community.

Yesterday, Rev. L. M. Booser started for Portland on his wheel. He calculated to cover the distance in one day, but his best friends consider this very doubtful. Mrs. Booser has been visiting with relatives in the metropolis for some little time, but will return home with her husband in a few days.

Rev. R. L. Meily, who visited Corvallis some two months ago and preached a few times in the Presbyterian church of this city, has accepted the invitation of the church and will return to assume the position of pastor. He will here to commence his work on the first Sunday of July.

During the latter part of last week workmen were employed at the O A C making repairs on the roof of Cauthorn Hall. It appears that numerous holes have been made in the roof, presumably by 22-caliber rifle bullets. The supposition is that some of the boys have been engaged at target practice.

R. A. Zahn came out from Alesia, Friday, with a load of wool. He reports everything in that section in good condition, except the road over Alesia mountain. It seems there is much feeling on the part of the residents of the little valley over that portion of the road which lies in Willamette precinct. This is about seven miles in length and the top of the mountain is in the middle of the district.

"Squaw Francis," an old Indian woman, came out from the Siletz agency a few days ago. She is very old and in former years was a familiar figure in this city. She is acquainted with all of the "old timers" and during her recent visit she has been looking them up. This is her first visit out here in many years, and she brought numerous little baskets and Indian trinkets with her which she is endeavoring to sell.

Attorney J. H. Wilson and wife went to Dallas, Thursday, to prove up on the homestead of A. K. Handy, deceased. Mr. Handy was the father of Mrs. Wilson and was left a couple of years ago while hunting in the mountains near Fall City, Polk county. No trace of him has since been heard of, and Mrs. Wilson, being his heir, is making final proof on the claim owned by her father at the date of his untimely disappearance.

Corvallis is certainly a good market for farmers. Eggs are now 18 cents per dozen in this city. It does not matter to the farmer who has eggs to sell whether this is caused by local competition, or not. The important part of the business is the fact that he can get more for his eggs in Corvallis than he can at any other place. Why or how this is brought about does not effect him. To the business men of the city much credit is due for establishing and maintaining a produce market that is second to none.

Will Start an Organ Factory.

The carriage factory is to be again put in operation. It has a new owner, R. M. Cramer, of Dallas, Oregon. Last Saturday evening Mr. Thomas Jenkins disposed of the building and plant for $4,500, and is now speeding for his home in Illinois.

Mr. Cramer is proprietor of the organ factory at Dallas and it is his intention to convert the carriage factory into a concern for the manufacture of organs. He will arrive here in a few days and will employ a force of men to complete the unfinished vehicles now on hand. It is hoped that orders now being filled for organs at Dallas will be completed by fall, when the factory will be removed to Corvallis. Should it be found impossible to begin operations here at that time, the plant here will be running by the first of January next at the latest. A force of eight men are now employed, but with the opportunities offered here for an increased output, a larger number of men will no doubt find employment.

The Corvallis and Denton County Prune company which assisted Mr. Cramer in the purchase, has secured the big 80-horse-power boiler and 50-horse-power engine at the factory and will begin moving them to the big orchard today, where they will be used in operating a mammoth dryer with a capacity of from 1,200 to 1,500 bushels per day. This will be the largest dryer in the world. The orchard will probably yield 40,000 bushels of prunes this season, and the services of the big dryer as well as the old two-tunnel dryer will be required in curing them. Mr. Cramer will replace the engine and boiler with smaller machines.

Philomath Celebration. Philomath is going to have a real old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration. One of those events where patriotism manifests itself in cheers for "Old Glory," the screaming of the eagle, burning oratory, martial music, and mutual admiration. The effete civilization of Albany and other towns may content itself with jostling crowds, striped bunting and circus lemonade, but Philomath invites you to a celebration in the open air, a genuine love feast, a full meal of patriotism.

The parade will form at the town hall at 9:30 and march to the grove west of the village, where the program will begin at 10 o'clock. The principal feature of the morning exercises will be an address by Hon. B. F. Jones, of Toledo. In the afternoon will occur a tug-o-war contest for a prize of $5; chopping contest, prize, an ax; the whole to conclude with an exciting shooting match.

Corvallis will be deserted on that day and its entire population will be at Philomath. All will take their dinner baskets and enjoy a picnic and a Fourth of July celebration under one tent for one price of admission. The road and bicycle path to Philomath will both be in good condition and the exodus will begin early in the morning. Ho, for Philomath!

Will be Here Thursday. Between 50 and 100 farmers, representing the various counties of Western Oregon, will arrive on the regular trains Thursday to visit the agricultural college and experiment station. During the afternoon the visitors will inspect the farm and various buildings, and in the evening at 8 o'clock a lecture on farm and dairy topics will be delivered at the armory by Hon. C. L. Smith, of Minnesota. Every farmer in the vicinity of Corvallis should hear this address. After the meeting a social time will occur and refreshments will be served. These farmers from abroad assemble at Corvallis upon invitation of Traffic Manager Markham of the Southern Pacific. Each is supplied with transportation for the round trip. Mr. Markham wisely believes that the revenue of his company's lines in Oregon depends upon the prosperity of the people of Oregon. Development of our agricultural and dairying interests means increased business for the railroad companies.

Shifts the Blame. Hon. C. L. Smith, of Minnesota, who is holding most successful dairy meetings throughout the valley under the auspices of the Southern Pacific company, will be present at a meeting held at the O A C next Thursday. At a recent meeting Mr. Smith is quoted as saying:

"What's the matter with the majority of farmers is that they don't think. They do not farm intelligently. Nearly everywhere he goes he is asked what the railroad company has to do with the farmers, anyway, and they seemed to think that the average farmer knows all about farming and cannot be told anything about. Said he finds that those who know all about it are not successful and are blaming the country, climate, etc., for the non-productiveness of their farms when the difficulty is that they don't know how and are not willing to learn. When he finds a man that is willing to learn and asks questions for the purpose of gaining information he finds a prosperous farmer. Says he finds some farmers who understand their business and are progressive, but he finds that a majority are not. It is not the farm that is bad, but the farmer. There are a great many more poor farmers than farms. They allow the barnyard manure to accumulate around the barn when the land is hungry for it."

Beyond doubt Mr. Smith is a most competent and capable man and he appears to have a thorough grasp on the troubles that beset the average farmer. It is to be hoped that the meeting this week will be well attended.

For Copying the Rolls.

Assessor H. L. Bush has nearly completed the work of assessing for this year. About a month ago he decided to let the work of copying the Benton county assessment rolls out to the lowest bidder who was both competent and reliable. Accordingly he advertised the matter. The following bids were received: Miss Mildred Linville, $137; W. A. McGhee, $150; Miss Winnie Cameron, $130; Herman Brayer, $125, and N. Tartar, $119.

The bids were all fairly close together and were all from reliable and competent persons. Mr. Tartar, being the lowest bidder, was awarded the contract. The work of copying the rolls is to begin on July 8th and must be completed in time for presentation at the regular meeting of September term of the county court. Although he has the work far enough along for the work of copying to begin at any time now, there is still some running about that will occupy Mr. Bush's time.
