Work is moving right along at the W. C. Corbett brick yard. Already there is one kiln of brick ready to burn, and about 40,000 feet of various sized tiling has been housed for drying, preparatory to burning. This is all of the tiling that Mr. Corbett will make this year.

The citizens of Dallas are evidently progressive and are made of the right stuff. They look upon the Sunday train with favor and have sent a numerous signed petition to the department praying that permanent arrangements may be made for carrying the Sunday mail between Dallas and Derry.

A few days ago Dr. Bowen Lester received a letter from a cousin in Tennessee, a married lady, in which the writer stated that she was starting for this coast as chaperone for a party of five young ladies. They will come by way of San Francisco to Portland, making the trip between these two cities by water. She desired the doctor to meet the party in Portland, and stated that she would rather see him than Pike's Peak or the Pacific ocean. He has determined to be in Oregon's metropolis when the party arrives. He is acquainted with half of the party and will endeavor to have them visit this city.

Mrs. Walter Bates, of Pomeroy, Wash., arrived in this city last week. This is her first visit home in over two years. She is at the home of her father, Woods Jackson, and expects to remain till fall. She has had ill health for some time and came down for a change of climate. Mr. Bates is at present book-keeper for a flouring mill at Pomeroy.

Dr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Harper arrived in Corvallis, Sunday, from Albany where they had been visiting several days on their way home from Chicago. They will reside in the residence of Miss Snell on Jackson street. The doctor and his wife will be banqueted tonight by members of the Masonic lodge and the order of Eastern Star, in the spacious apartments of these societies.

When Thos. H. Miller and wife left their home in Iowa to come West on a visit, the heat was excessive and the thermometer was ashamed of the 100 notch. A few days after arriving here they wrote home to their children and stated poor writing would have to be overlooked, as their hands were so cold it was almost impossible to hold a pen. Beyond doubt the climate seemed cool as compared with the intense heat recently endured in the East.

Mrs. H. B. Miller and family and Mrs. Theresa Jackson leave on tonight's train for San Francisco enroute to China to join Consul Miller. They sail on a government transport from that city. The vessel goes to Manila, touching at Honolulu; then they will go to Nagasaki, Japan, and thence to China. It will take about two months for them to make the trip. Their many friends wish them a pleasant trip and a safe return to Oregon.—Eugene Guard.

The A. O. U. W. grand lodge of Oregon convenes in Portland today. Friendship lodge of this city will be represented by a delegation consisting of Jesse Spencer, Virgil Watters and F. P. Sheasgreen, and Mrs. Ruth N. Clark will represent the Degree of Honor. The party went to Portland yesterday and Mr. Sheasgreen was accompanied by his little daughter, Adelaide. It is thought that C. C. Hogue, of Albany, will be elected grand master workman, as he is the grand officer in line for that position.

Among the latest contributions Henry French has received for the Benton county exhibit at the state fair is a sample of oats given him by L. Hubler. These oats are over eight feet long and are well headed. A. M. Witham furnished some very very fine Royal Ann cherries and an equally fine sample of Bing cherries was given Mr. French by O. B. Connor. Mrs. Eliza Slater also furnished some fine cherries. The exhibit continues to grow and everything indicates that if Benton doesn't pick the plum this fall she will mighty nearly reach it.

THE JURY DISAGREED.

In the Case of The State of Oregon vs. R. O. Loggon the Jury Stood 5 to 1 for Acquittal.

Five for acquittal, and one for conviction. There is where the jury stood on the last ballot in the case tried before Justice Holgate last Saturday, wherein Dr. R. O. Loggon was being tried for an alleged assault on John Ingle on the picnic grounds near Philomath, July 4th. The six men chosen to determine the guilt or innocence of the defendant were: H. W. Hall, Alex Rennie, M. L. Hubler, Geo. Eglin, S. Chipman, T. J. Creighton, Attorneys Bryson and J. N. McFadden appeared for the state, while Attorney E. L. Bryan represented Dr. Loggon.

The trial occupied the greater part of Saturday, being called at 10 a. m. and going to the jury about 3 p. m. The prosecution called but three witnesses, M. Feister, L. Henkle and Ed. Allen. The latter, however, when on the stand recalled certain material facts which he forgot to tell the prosecuting attorney when being examined previously on the swearing out of the warrant, and he proved a better witness for the defense than for the state.

J. G. Becker, D. Walton, A. M. Anstun and Marsh Allen testified in Dr. Loggon's behalf.

The case was a peculiar one, and the circumstances surrounding it, most unfortunate. The testimony on both sides was conflicting and in some instances strong prejudice was much in evidence. "Everybody knows Ingle and Loggon are not on good terms," said Mr. Becker, while on the stand, and this seems to have been the keynote to the present difficulty. Mr. Ingle testified that he and Loggon had had trouble in the Woodman lodge and relations between them had been strained, and Dr. Loggon gave testimony to the same effect. So far as the difficulty on the Fourth leading up to the alleged assault is concerned the facts seem to be these: The Woodman lodge of Philomath had rented the grove west of Philomath for the purpose of holding exercises there on the Fourth of July. Dr. Loggon was appointed chief marshal of the day by the lodge, and he selected as his aids Ed and Marsh Allen. A parade was given which completed its march at the picnic grounds and the literary and athletic program was under the auspices of the Woodmen. Among those who attended was Mr. John W. Ingle. Some years ago he was expelled from the Woodman lodge of Philomath, but no passwords were taken up at the entrance to the picnic grounds and Mr. Ingle was admitted. Early in the morning he had pinned his Woodman badge upon the lapel of his coat, but while bona fide members of the order wore the regulation side out, Mr. Ingle displayed the mourning badge. Aside from this unwelcome breach of etiquette his conduct was not of a nature to give offense. Nor was official notice taken of the misuse of the badge until Mr. Ingle appeared on the picnic grounds and numerous complaints had been entered. Then Dr. Loggon, in company with his aids, approached Mr. Ingle and said "Take that badge off; turn it around; or leave the grounds." Thus far there is perfect harmony in the testimony of principals and witnesses. Dr. Loggon says he spoke these words calmly and deliberately. Mr. Ingle says they were spoken in the tone he uses when he is angry. Witnesses for the defense testified that Mr. Ingle immediately slapped his hand upon Dr. Loggon's shoulder. That Dr. Loggon reached up and jerked the badge off of Mr. Ingle's coat, at the same time shoving Mr. Ingle back. The latter again caught Dr. Loggon by the shoulder saying, "You are under arrest sir. I am an officer of the law. Come and go with me." Mr. Ingle and witnesses for the prosecution claim that when first spoken to by Dr. Loggon, Mr. Ingle waved the doctor back and said, "Keep your hands off; go away and attend to your own business." Thereupon Dr. Loggon jerked the badge off. Ingle then slapped his hand upon Loggon's shoulder and, being a deputy sheriff, placed him under arrest.

Mr. Ingle charges Dr. Loggon with assault when he jerked the badge off, and under the laws of Oregon there is no question that an assault was committed. The unfortunate part of the whole thing is that the statutes of this state do not make it an offense for a man to wear the badge of any order of which he is not a member. The only order protected now in this way is the Grand Army of the Republic. It is generally agreed that the Woodmen had a perfect right to eject any one from the picnic grounds on the day of their celebration, and that any one would have been morally justified in abating the invitation for disturbance held out by Mr. Ingle, but that in the eye of the law that gentleman had as good a right to wear a Woodman badge in any shape he saw fit, as he had his hat or coat, and to divest him of it was as much a crime as forcibly to remove any portion of his apparel.

Mother and Son.

An occasion fraught with grief almost unbearable for the afflicted ones, was the double funeral which occurred from the residence of S. N. Wilkins Sunday afternoon. The departed one's were Mrs. Rachel A. Moore and her son, Medford A. Moore, mother and brother of Mrs. Wilkins.

Dr. E. J. Thompson conducted the impressive service at the home, while the ceremonies at the grave of Mr. Moore were in charge of the orders of Workmen and Odd Fellows. Dr. Thompson pronounced a few fitting words at the grave of the mother. A large number of friends attended the services at the home and reverently followed two hearses to the Odd Fellows cemetery where the interment took place.

The death of Medford Moore was the result of the accidental discharge of a rifle, and the shock due to the sudden death of her son stilled the loving heart of the mother. Her death occurred at The Dalles, Oregon, Friday, July 12th.

Rachel A. Moore was an early pioneer of Oregon. She was the daughter of John and Mary Robnett and was born Dec. 1st, 1832, in Boone county, Mo. She crossed the plains in 1851 with her parents who settled in Linn county, Or. She was married February 15, 1852 to John W. Moore, a pioneer of 1849. After a continuous residence in the Willamette valley for 37 years, in 1886 they moved to Eastern Oregon, settling in Sherman county, where they lived until about two years ago, when on account of failing health they removed to The Dalles. Her husband and three children, John W. Moore of Shasta county, Calif., Mrs. S. N. Wilkins of this city, and Mrs. V. C. Brock of Wasco, Ore., survive her. Mrs. Moore was a loving wife and mother and was a devoted Christian from early womanhood.

Medford A. Moore, son of John W. and Rachel A. Moore was born near Lebanon, Ore., Sept. 23, 1854. In 1873 he went to the Argentine Republic, and after a three years residence full of thrilling incidents similar to the experiences of the early pioneers of the west, returned to Corvallis, Ore., in 1876. He was united in marriage with Miss Sadie Wilkins, Dec. 27, 1881, and moved to Prineville, Oregon, in 1882. His wife and two children survive him. Mr. Moore was an honored and public spirited citizen and had held several positions of trust. He was postmaster of Prineville, Oregon, during President Cleveland's second term and was a most competent and obliging officer. At his death he was treasurer of Prineville. He was an active member of Prineville Lodge I. O. O. F., and A. O. U. W. and was held in the highest esteem by their members.

John Stahlbusch.

The death of John Stahlbusch occurred early Friday morning at his home on the Island south of this city. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mark Noble and the interment took place at the Crystal Lake cemetery, Saturday afternoon.

The deceased was born in Dolzig, Germany, March 4, 1825, and was in his 77th year at the time of death. He arrived with his family in the United States in 1882 and settled in Racine, Wis. In 1886 he arrived in Corvallis and the following year established himself on the Island south of town where death overtook him.

During the past year or so he has suffered paralytic strokes, and his death was the result of a stroke. His wife died some time ago. The surviving children are Mrs. Feuerstein, Mrs. B. Woldt, and Jelsa and Herman Stahlbusch, all of whom reside in or near this city.

The Mill Race Bridge.

There is wide spread dissatisfaction among farmers living along the road leading to Monroe concerning the bridge just completed across the mill race south of town. In conversation with the GAZETTE man regarding this matter Judge Woodward said yesterday: "The court and commissioners are not satisfied with the present form of the bridge. The old bridge was about 160 feet in length. Plans submitted for the new structure developed the fact that by swinging the bridge directly across the race and placing the approaches at a slight angle, the bridge could be shortened 50 or 60 feet. This plan was adopted in the interest of economy. After work had been commenced on the bridge, it was discovered that if drawn as close to the fence as originally intended it would obstruct the entrance to the road used by H. F. Fischer across the fields. This and consequent alterations in the plans by the builder gave us quite a different bridge from what was contemplated. We are having earth placed at the approaches of the bridge which will correct the difficulty in a measure, and the next term of court the commissioners will take some action to place the structure in a satisfactory condition."

Threshed Rape.

The little 24-inch cylinder threshing machine of the O A O was in use part of last Thursday and Friday. At this time a quantity of rape was threshed. A year ago last June about 2 1/2 acres of rape was sown at the college for experimental purposes. It did well, and during last fall and winter furnished excellent pasture. The growth of rape is quite rank and it is cut after the manner of corn, with a knife. The seeds lie one after another in a small pod that resembles the pod of mustard. It is said that rape will grow on the most arid soil and that it will thrive on what is known as "white land." At the prices quoted for rape seed it is estimated that more than $200 worth of rape was threshed at the O A C last week. Here is a matter that is well worth the investigation of our farmers. Rape is a good thing if half that is claimed for it is true.

Pres. J. P. Apperson of the board of regents of the Agricultural College arrived yesterday. The board meets Wednesday.

The fishing season is now at its best. Already a number of good catches have been reported. The best record, so far, was made last Thursday by a party of Blodgett's gamiest sportsmen consisting of Geo. Woods, A. L. Richardson, Dec Kiger and Sup't Denman. After four hours fishing the total catch was 250. Of this party Geo. Woods made the highest catch. Our thanks are due for a very fine mess.

A false alarm of fire brought the department on a wild goose chase Friday morning, about 11 o'clock. No one seemed to know where the fire was, but the impression prevailed that it was located somewhere in the northern part of town. After dragging the apparatus several blocks in that direction, it was discovered that the ruins of the Cameron house, which burned a month or so ago, had caught from sparks from a bonfire. No damage resulted.

Postmaster Johnson informs us that hereafter domestic money orders will be drawn on all money order offices on either Canada or Cuba, for which only domestic rates will be charged. Hereafter business with these two countries was done on inter-national orders, the charges being from 10 cents to $1, while under the new ruling the charges will be from 3 to 30 cents according to amount. There are only thirty-six international offices in Oregon, and Corvallis is one of those, and accommodates patrons of Benton and Lincoln counties for foreign business. The new ruling regarding Canadian and Cuban rates went into effect July 1st.
