

THE TREND TO SOCIALISM.

There can be no doubt that we are moving more or less rapidly toward socialism. The man of sixty years of age who has been a thoughtful observer cannot fail to discern that the movements of society show a marked trend in that direction. Sometimes it has been scarcely perceptible, yet there has been such a tendency. There has been no radical reconstruction of society, but social conditions are widely different from what they were fifty years ago. Among these new conditions we may easily distinguish some which owe their existence to the socialistic spirit.

Our increase of population, our material development, our improved and enlarged means of communication and transportation have all contributed to fuse our people into one mass and so have made our common necessities and purposes more apparent and insistent.

The inclination of the people to urban life and the consequent phenomenal growth of our cities render some phases of socialism necessary and bring others within the range of possibility. In these water, light, street, railways and general sanitation become urgent necessities to the whole populace. It is found that the people in their corporate capacity can supply these more efficiently and cheaply than private corporations so in nearly all cities, with the exception of street-railways, they are regarded as public utilities to be furnished by the municipality. In a few cities street railways are operated by the city government and in many there is a growing purpose to place them under public control.

The socialistic purpose is to make the national, state and municipal governments common carriers and place the telegraph, express and railways under governmental ownership and operation. That socialism will extend so far in the near future is not probable, yet we may expect a further growth and application of socialistic theories. This is altogether reasonable when we contemplate the agencies which are surely disseminating such teachings.

In addition to these conditions which we have already noted and which our advance in civilization must intensify, the teachings of Christianity are an ever present and mighty force working in this direction. It emphatically and persistently proclaims the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of men. Simultaneously a multitude of fraternal societies teach, as by divine authority, this beautiful truth. It is a popular theme. Men, professed disciples of the Christ, who in their daily and hourly life as individuals deny this truth make haste to testify to it in public assemblies. Christianity is intensely socialistic. It induces the body politic to establish and conduct in whole, or part educational, eleemosynary and reformatory institutions. Through its influence a large number of our people would have governmental ownership and control of everything which they classify as a "public utility" to the end that all may more surely share alike in the benefits of our material development, and that there may be a more equitable distribution of the fruits of human endeavor. Through this is taught by Christianity it is also the teaching of socialism.

We are a long ways from a realization of socialistic purposes and dreams. We never shall realize them this side of the promised millennium, but gradually we shall come yet nearer to it. There is little danger of a mad rush or blind leap to it for it must come if at all through the perfection of law and order and the spirit of brotherhood. Communism and anarchism may appeal to force and be sternly repressed for we place law and order above all things else. Our people are patient and forbearing until lawlessness and disorder lift their hands when we smite with crushing force and relentless spirit. The menace to our peace and institutions is not by an intelligent Christian socialism, but rather by a godless, beastly communism.

Since socialism is so firmly entrenched within the lines of Christianity—or better said—since Christianity is so profoundly socialistic a grave responsibility rests upon its teachers and exponents. They must see to it that no false inferences

The greatest skin specialist in America originated the formula for Banner Salve. For all skin diseases, all cuts or sores, and for piles, it's the most healing medicine. Beware of substitutes. Graham & Wortham.

Mr. W. J. Baxter, of North Brook, N. C., says he suffered with piles for 15 years. He tried many remedies with no results until he used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve and that quickly cured him.—Graham & Wells.

Those famous little pills, DeWitt's Little Early Risers compel your liver and bowels to do their duty, thus giving you pure, rich blood to regenerate your body. Are easy to take. Never gripe. Graham & Wells.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve should be promptly applied to cuts, burns and scalds. It soothes and quickly heals the injured part. There are worthless counterfeits, be sure to get DeWitt's. Graham & Wells.

"I am indebted to One Minute Cough Cure for my present good health and my life. I was treated in vain by doctors for lung trouble following the grippe. I took One Minute Cough Cure and recovered my health." Mr. H. Wise, Madison, Ga. Graham & Wells.

Question Answered

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mother and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to cleanse out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac.—Graham & Wortham.

You will waste time if you undertake to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat heartily. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that will do it.—Graham & Wells.

"I had a running sore on my breast for over a year," says Henry B. Richards, of Willsieville, N. Y., "and tried a great many remedies, but got no relief until I used Banner Salve. After using one-half box, I was perfectly cured. I cannot recommend it too highly."—Graham & Wortham.

A bad complexion generally results from inactive liver and bowels. In all such cases, DeWitt's Little Early Risers produce gratifying results. Graham & Wells.
