scholars who have given the result of their labors to the world. Dr. J. J. Griesbach, who devoted over thirty years to this work, has given us. perhaps, the most desirable Greek text of the New Testament. Scholz and Tischendorf are also recognized as critics of the highest authority.

In at least one remarkable instance the revisers of this new English version seem to have followed Tisckendorf. We refer to the last twelve verses of Mark's gospel. These they reject as spurious. The whole passage is wanting in the Vatican manuscript and in many other ancient Tischendorf rejects it. Of course Greek scholars will not be disturbed by this action, but it is not at all improbable it will meet the opposition of many adherents to the English church. Here the testimony of one of the synoptic gospels and the most circumstantial account of Jesus' resurrection, His promise of special powers and immunities and His command to "Go forth into gon, Chris Germansen, of Albary, of Blodgett, Ore all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" are declared to be spurious and are excised.

These have been favorite These have been favorite and much quoted passages to prove the truth of all these things. For many years they have been regarded as "the un-trring word of God." It may trining word of God." It may require a long period before the church will accept the chauge, for even Christians have their idols. It is likely to be regarded as an onslaught upon the inspira-tion of the Scriptures. It is not. It is an honest and highly intelli-gent effort of Christian scholars to free the truth from all associa-tion with error that men may acerring word of God." It may cept it in full faith.
