SYMPATHETIC STR!KES.

Strikes have been necessary in the past and may be in the future. It has frequently occurred that a body of workmen could obtain their just rights in no oth mar Wrenn; $5,000. er way than by a suspension of difficulties from all points and harmonize them. While the necessity for such strikes is to be deplored, no one will deny the right of any individual workman 273. to quit work whenever he is dissatisfied with the conditions under which he is working, unless, indeed, he is employed under a specific contract to the conditions 80 acres near Blodgett; $150. of which he has voluntarily subscribed.

They also have the right to hold meetings, to use moral suasion with fellow-craftsmen, in short, to do anything that may be done within the law by any other body of citizens to carry their contention to successful termination.

Workmen, conducting their strikes on these lines are always accorded a patient hearing, and if they have any fair semblance for dressy men, at S. L. Sympathetic strikes must be organized. Large bodies of men, between whom and their employers there is no sort of difference, must, at the behest of their unions, throw down their implements and refuse Confidence to work until their officials permit them.

Through the sympathetic strike trade is obstructed, the wheels of commerce stilled, and loss, de-privation, and not infrequently cally.
