Kline's $10.00 Suits are good ones.

For rainy day garments and umbrellas go to Nolan & Callahan.

Dr. Lowe's glasses are good glasses. They strengthen the eyes and brain.

Professor N. Tartar, of the Corvallis public schools, was in town yesterday on a visit to his brother-in-law, Mr. W. W. Williams.—The Dalles Chronicle.

J. M. Cameron went to Portland, Sunday, to remain a few days. His purpose was to lay in a large stock of leather, which he will work up during the winter.

There is to be a farmers' institute held at Elkton, Oregon, on the 8th and 9th of this month. Dr. James Withycombe, Prof. Kent and other members of the O A C staff expect to attend.

During the latter part of last week, T. G. Woodland, an Eastern Oregon gentleman, visited Corvallis and vicinity. He seemed well pleased with what he saw of our country.

Steamers are later than usual in reaching Corvallis this year. The waters of the Willamette have risen some during the past week or two, but considerable rise is needed yet before boats can reach us.

Bicycle riders showed no hesitancy in using the sidewalks of this city last Friday morning. It seems quite like old times to experience the inclination to go up in the air when the bell rings close up behind us.

Roderick Nash had little time to go on when he killed the deer on the college farm last Thursday afternoon, too, at that. From now on until the first of next July it will be unlawful for anybody to kill deer.

Clerk Watters says that the docket for the fall term of circuit court will not be a very heavy one, but that it will be larger than that of last spring which was unusually light. Circuit court will convene on the fourth Monday of this month, the 25th.

During the past few days the weather has been somewhat cooler. Saturday morning there was some ice to be found in the water puddles about town. The chances are that had the weather not been very foggy we would have had things pretty well frozen up on this date.

When John Osborn last wrote to relatives in this city he was visiting the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. He expressed his opinion that there was quite a show going on in Buffalo. His health, at the time of writing was very good, indeed, and he thinks he will stand an Eastern winter very nicely.

The editor of a Prineville paper, speaking, it is presumed, of eggs taken on subscription, asks the question, "Why don't the eggs hatch?" We don't know how it is out at Prineville, but in The Dalles the demands of the editorial stomach are so urgent that the eggs never get time to hatch.—The Dalles Chronicle.

Willis McElroy has been engaged as teacher and director of the Fourth Regiment Band of Eugene. He played with DeCaprio's band at the Portland Carnival and Exposition, and during his stay in the East was under the instruction of some of the greatest cornetists of the day. Mr. McElroy is a nephew of W. S. McFadden of this city.

General Gillespie, Chief of Engineers, in his annual report upon the river and harbor work, just submitted to the Department, recommends $600,000 for the continuation of the jetty work at the mouth of the Columbia River for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903. These figures are the same as those of Captain Langfit, in charge of the river and harbor work in the Northwest.

Supt. Deaman visited Philomath Public School last Thursday. He reports everything moving along in a satisfactory manner under the efficient tutelage of Prof. S. I. Pratt, Miss Ivy Durkee, and Mrs. Lee Ella Fields. He visits the schools of Blodgett, Summit and Kings Valley this week. He will address the citizens of Kings Valley in the new church, Wednesday evening.

Dick Smith, formerly of U. of O. played halfback for Columbia against Yale in the football game last Saturday just to show them "Eastern fellers" a trick or to they have never learned about the game. He filled both teams with open mouthed wonder and Columbia tried to press him into permanent service, but Dick would not feel at home in anything but an Oregon football squad.—Register.

Mrs. E. C. Hayward, and child, after a four months visit in Victoria, B. C., arrived home in this city last week.

The John Rowland place, south of town, comprising 95 acres, passed into the hands of W. G. Davis, yesterday.

During the month of October 2,300,000 bushels of grain were shipped abroad from Portland. This is a pretty showing for one month.

Mrs. L. L. Porter, of Oregon City, arrived in Corvallis, Saturday, for a brief visit with Mrs. Porter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spangler.

Adam Assill was over from Corvallis Friday and Saturday. His no trouble to find out when Adam comes to town—you can hear him a long ways off.—Yaquina Bay News.

Rev. R. L. Meiley left yesterday for Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, to be at the bedside of his mother who is seriously ill. He will be absent four or five weeks.

The regular November term of circuit court will convene Monday, the 25th. The adjourned meeting will probably occur the preceding Friday. From present indications there will be few criminal cases.

Oregon has been awarded the first prize for hops at the Pan-American exposition. The award is regarded as of great commercial importance to the state, as every country in the world was asked to compete.

According to Lincoln county exchanges the payment of $100,000 to the Indians of the Siletz was to have commenced yesterday. If this be true the Indians, by judicious management, will have "pin money" for some days to come.

Bruce Burnett arrived in Corvallis, Saturday, and visited "home folks" until Sunday. Bruce states that he likes his situation as express messenger on the run from Astoria to Portland and that everything is progressing smoothly with him.

Roy Woodcock, of this city, has reason to feel gratified over the complimentary notice he is receiving in many Oregon exchanges on his work soon to be published on Oregon birds under the title of "An Annotated List of the Birds of Oregon."

Miss Ivette Smith went to Albany yesterday to visit relatives and friends. She was accompanied by her grandfather, Mr. James Forgy, who recently arrived from Washington. They will also visit Corvallis, Brownsville and Jordan Valley.—Statesman.

The commissioners and other prominent citizens of Lincoln county passed through this city yesterday enroute for Eugene, where the case of Luckey vs Lincoln county will be heard before the circuit court, now in session in Lane county. The case was tried in Linn county, but the plaintiff was non-suited.

The funeral of Ransom A. the two-year old son of Hon. and Mrs. E. H. Belknap, of Dasty, occurred Friday, and interment was made in Simpson Chapel cemetery. Death was the result of an accident Tuesday morning. The children were playing in the house when the boy fell backwards into a large iron kettle of hot water. Almost his entire body from his knees to his neck was scalded. He suffered terribly for a short time when he became unconscious. He died at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The sympathy of friends in this section is extended to the bereaved parents.

R. B. Miller, who succeeds C. H. Markham in the office of Southern Pacific railroad in Portland, is continuing that gentleman's vigorous campaign for the development of Oregon's resources. Agent Farmer is in receipt of a letter from the Portland office advising him that, hereafter, all agents of the company in this state shall be required to interview the merchants and others of their respective localities the first of each month and determine the amount of butter, eggs, and all manner of marketable farm produce then on hands. This data is to be forwarded immediately to the Portland office where the totals are made, and buyers are brought in touch with producers. In this way the demand for quantities of any product may be supplied immediately, for the purchaser knows just where to look for it and how much each locality can supply.

Shot to Kill.

The saloon operated in Albany by F. M. Pomeroy, formerly of this city, was the scene of an attempted hold-up last Saturday morning about one o'clock. "Bert," the son of the proprietor, had closed up for the night, when three men knocked at the door. The Herald thus relates what followed:

The men said they wanted a drink. Mr. Pomeroy sleeps in the building and without hesitation opened the door. As he did three men ordered him to hold up his hands and to give them his money. Instead of doing as commanded he drew a small 32-calibre revolver and fired at one of them, hitting him somewhere in the body. The man dropped to the floor and exclaimed, "My God, I'm shot." One of the robbers grabbed the gun which Mr. Pomeroy held and wrenched it from his hand. The two then picked up their wounded pal and left the building without securing any money, but kept the revolver. They went in an easterly direction through the S. P. yards and at press time had not been found.

The men are described by Mr. Pomeroy as heavy set, burly fellows, and one of them had a heavy growth of beard on his face. They are supposed to be hobos. Policeman McClain was on their trail at an early hour this morning and they will probably be captured, as the wounded man could be easily tracked by the blood from the pistol wound.

Gilbert-Holman.

Mr. Willard Gilbert, of Corvallis, and Miss Juanita P. Holman, of Fall City, were married at the home of the bride, Wednesday, Oct. 30, 1901, Rev. J. R. G. Russell officiating. The bride was beautifully dressed in gray, while the groom wore the usual black. Many relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony, and all partook of a bounteous wedding dinner. At one o'clock in the afternoon a number of Falls City citizens gave the couple a rattling charivari—the most racket ever heard at that time of day. At three o'clock the bride and groom left for their new home in Philomath. All wish them happiness and prosperity.—Polk County Observer.

Boring at Yaquina.

Operations have practically commenced to ascertain whether or not oil exists in paying quantities in Lincoln county. The company owning the apparatus, now at Toledo, will at once begin to sink for traces of coal and oil.

The machinery consists of a traction engine, portable derrick, set of drills, ranging from 1 1/4 to 6 inches, with all necessary appliances. The boring capacity is 1500 feet, but Mr. Watkins states that 2000 feet may safely be reached by careful management.

This is the first Keystone drill to be put in operation in Oregon, although large numbers of them are in use in the California oil fields, also in many other sections of the United States, where prospecting and mining operations are carried on, and generally conceded to be the best drilling machine on the market, both from compact, stability, economic and portability points of view.

The first boring operations are to take place on F. M. Stanton's farm, three miles north of To-do. It had been the intention to commence operations on the Carlson Ranch, five miles up Depot Slough, but the roughness of the road and its lightly constructed bridges made it impracticable to reach that point.

No Game With Chemawa.

There was no football game at the college Saturday. The contest scheduled to occur between the O A C and Chemawa eleven was called off at the last minute.

Some strict rules have been adopted by the college and other leading educational institutions of the state with the laudable purpose of eliminating professionalism and other objectionable features from college athletic contests. Under these rules the college can admit no man to her team whose record is not absolutely free from these objectionable features, and more, her team is barred from competing with teams containing such members. Chemawa, it is claimed, insisted on having men in her line-up who did not fill the requirements of these rules. Chemawa has a right to have these men in her team, but their presence made it necessary for the college to cancel its game with her.

Maud Muller.

(Revised Version.) Maud Muller on a summer's day, Set a hen in a brand new way.

(Maud, you see, was a city girl, Trying the rural life a whirl.)

She covered a box with tinsel gay, Lined it snugly with new-mown hay.

Filled it nicely with eggs, and then Started to look for a likely hen—

Out of the flock selected one; And then she thought her work was done.

It would have been, but this stubborn hen Stood up and cackled "Ka-doot!" and then

Maud Muller came, and in hurt surprise, Looked coldly into the creature's eyes.

Then tied its legs to the box. "You bet," Said she, "I know how to make you set."

But still it stood, and worse and worse, Strucked forth its wrongs to the universe.

Kicked over the box with its tinsel gay, And indignomiously flapped away.

Then a bad boy over the barnyard fence, Tee-hee, "Say, Maud, there's a difference

"Tween hens, you know, and it is that One says 'Ka-doot' and the other 'Ka-dat!'"

Then Maud recalled that the ugly brute She tried to set had said "Ka-doot!"

And ever since that historic day, She blushes in an embarrassed way,

To think of the Bobble she made once when She tried to set a gentlemen hen! —Toronto Star.

Hon. H. B. Miller's Views.

In a letter to the Oregon Agriculturist, Hon. H. B. Miller says: The state of Oregon should take a lesson from the failures of China and resolve to have no one sided structure; schools are plentiful for the education of lawyers, doctors, and the general training required for merchants and bankers; and training schools for mechanics are growing more plentiful, and all of these are being endowed by millionaires in great abundance; but schools for proper training in the science and art of agriculture in all branches are dependent mostly upon state aid, and it should be the policy of the board of regents of the O A C to strengthen the experiment station and practical training work of the institution.

The Agricultural College is blessed with some men who are able and effective workers in the science of agriculture, and it is and has been for years one of the serious mistakes of the institution that these men have been kept at work doing ordinary, cheap grade teaching, and their best qualities have been dwarfed because of this low-grade, class-room, text-book teaching.

You have struck the keynote of the difficulty in the make-up of the board of regents.

Leading dairymen, stockmen and horticulturists should be put upon the board and should be its dominating power. If some man would take up the question of irrigation in Oregon and do as good work in that line as Mr. Killin did in dairy work, he would be doing a noble service. The immense amount of available land and water going to waste in almost every section of Oregon is simply beyond conception. Opportunities for irrigation should be the leading subject in Oregon's advertising literature.

Oliver Meetings.

Saturday afternoon the audience room was filled and part of the annex, at the meeting for women.
