Speaking of the musical festival to be held in Corvallis next May, the Eugene Register says: The Corvallis committee is negotiating with the Portland Symphony Orchestra to accompany this grand chorus. From all accounts the Corvallis session of the May musical festival will be a record breaker even taking into consideration the great meeting at Albany last May.

Another change in ownership of Corvallis business houses occurred Monday. The Corvallis Commission Company, hitherto under the management of J. W. Lenger, has passed into the hands of E. J. Dunn. For the present the business will be conducted in its old quarters, but a better location will be secured as soon as possible. We bespeak for the new proprietor a liberal patronage.

The Cleveland Concert Co., consisting of soprano, contralto, violinist and pianist, played at the opera house Monday evening. One special feature was the "boy pianist," Mordant Goodnow. But Mr. Ruthyn Turney in his inimitable violin playing, received the unrestrained applause of the audience. Mr. Turney rendered four violin solos and was forced to respond to many encores, the ease with which he wooed the sweet strains from the instrument being almost beyond comprehension. McMinnville Reporter.

Thursday night of last week two tramps broke into and plundered the Corvallis & Eastern Depot at Eddyville. They were captured Saturday on the railroad track about three miles from Toledo, by Sheriff Ross and C. C. McBride, the agent at Eddyville. When captured the hobos had a considerable quantity of stolen goods in their possession, also plunder from other places where they had evidently been pilfering. They were given a hearing Saturday afternoon, and bound over to the January term of the Circuit Court. In default of bail they were brought to Corvallis Monday, for safekeeping in Benton county's jail.

The lecture by Dr. Gaston at the Opera House, Wednesday evening, was one of the most enjoyable in the series now being given under the auspices of the California Lecture Bureau. His treatment of the subject "Yosemite" was most pleasing. His descriptions are graphic and eloquent, and there are flashes of wit and bits of droll humor, which add coloring and remind one of Mark Twain. He inspires his listeners with a strong desire to behold the real grandeur of the scenes he paints so beautifully.

The convention of Y. M. C. A. delegates from the states of Oregon and Idaho will be held here December 6th and 8th. A mass meeting is called for this evening at 8:15 at the M. Wigle-Nelms.

A happy home wedding was solemnized Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. M. Johnson, in Portland, the high contracting parties being Mr. J. H. Wigle, of Prineville, and Mrs. May Nelms, formerly of this city. Rev. W. S. Gilbert, late chaplain of the Second Oregon, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and a few invited guests.

The wedding party entered the parlor, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Mildred Johnson. The bride was attired in a handsome brown traveling suit, while the groom wore the conventional black. After the ceremony, all repaired to the dining room, where a delicious lunch was served, Miss Mildred Johnson, Dolly Brown and Ella Ingraham acting as maids.

The decorations were simple and artistic; in the parlor, white chrysanthemums and ivy; ferns, in the dining room; palms, in the library, and clematis, in the hall.

Following is a list of the presents:

Handsome carved bread plate, Mr. E. J. Burrous; silver cake basket, Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnel; decorated bread plate, Horace Ray; salad dish, Dean Ray; handsome painted salad bowl, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wass; handsome salad bowl, Marys Peak Circle; clock, Miss Mable Johnson and Mr. E. J. Burrous; Bat-tenberg doily, Lottie Castro; laundry bag, Celia Nelms; silver fruit spoon, Miss Dolly Brown; set of silver tea spoons, Mr. F. M. Johnson and family; silver table forks, Miss Clara Hislop; and M. R. Johnson; olive bowl, Mrs. Ann Smith; set of silver napkin rings, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ray; set of silver tea spoons, Mr. Walter Keady; set of fruit knives, Miss Ella O'Donnel; set of silver spoons, Mr. and Mrs. Billings; sugar spoon, Mrs. John Ray; salad spoon, Master Spencer Covell; salad bowl, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Covell; mustard spoon, Miss Clara Wass; set of silver tea spoons, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Brandes; sofa pillow, Mrs. Ripley; handsome embroidered center piece, Mrs. Lee Wigle; pastel, "Natures Mirror," Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Wilkins; hand-painted water scene, Mr and Mrs. A. J. Ray.

Mr Wigle is a prominent business man of Prineville, and quite influential in the affairs of that portion of the state. His bride has resided in Corvallis since her childhood. For several years she has held a position in the public schools of this city, and so satisfactory has been her work, that she has been elected a member of the corps of teachers no matter what other changes were necessary.

Mr. and Mrs Wigle will leave Portland shortly for their home in Prineville, where the best wishes of a host of friends follow them.

A Strong Attraction.

Manager Groves of the Opera House makes special announcement that he has completed all arrangements for the appearance at the Opera House on November, 25th of the Misses Ethel Balch and Marie Lamour supported by Frederic Murphy and a strong company in Wilfred Clark's London success, "A Wise Woman". The comedy is said to be an exceptionally bright piece of farcical writing. It was originally presented at the Strand Theatre, London, where it played to remarkably big business during a long engagement of 238 nights. The farce which the critics declare to be exceptionally well developed and interesting throughout is arranged to admit of the introduction of a number of high class specialties, without which any farce in these days would be deemed incomplete. Wilfred Clarke, the author of the comedy, and who is incidentally "the son of the late John Sleeper Clarke, the famous comedian, has staged the production himself, and this important detail is said to have been carried out in a most artistic manner. Frederic Murphy, the leading man of the organization, became well known to many patrons of the drama through his long connection with Julia Marlowe's company.

Pleased With Their Treatment.

An account of the game last Saturday in this city between the football teams of Pacific university and the O. A. C., sent from Forest Grove to the Telegram, has these very complimentary things to say of the college lads and the citizens of Corvallis: "The Oregon Agricultural College has not held the greatest favor of the athletic public in years past, but the game of Saturday was one of the most satisfactory that has ever been played between the two schools. The November, 1898, game, which resulted in a tie—5 to 5—was the cause of considerable feeling on the part of all those concerned, but the "Farmers" certainly demonstrated, Saturday, that their team is composed not merely of football players, but that every member is a true amateur athlete in every sense. The treatment accorded Pacific University team in Corvallis made a lasting impression on them, and served to efface any former differences. The standard, which was set by O. A. C. during and after Saturday's game, is well worthy of adoption by some of the more prominent universities of the state.

Gault, Williams, Carnahan and Sweek were the strongest defenders of "Agrics'" goal. Two of Corvallis regular players were out of the game.

Wife in Name Only.

A rather distressing blunder has been committed by the officials of Multnomah county although the law making body is perhaps more directly responsible. In that county the law states explicitly that the county clerk, and no person else, shall have authority to issue marriage licenses. No provision is made for the granting of certificates in the case of the death of the clerk, and before a successor is appointed. The framers of the law probably could not conceive of a man dying and leaving a fat political job, but the unexpected has happened. County Clerk Holms died a week ago and no successor has been appointed. Multnomah county is without a clerk. Marriage licenses have been issued, however, and ceremonies have been performed. Now comes Judge Calkins, to say that these marriages are illegal; that the license was green goods; that the solemn vows were hollow mockery; that the minister did not earn his fee, and the state of Oregon has been party to a bunco game.

There is a serious side to the matter, however, and that is the distress of mind which must be suffered by the innocent parties in these mock marriages. Of course, they are man and wife to all intents and purposes, but then the agony of another ceremony is not pleasant to contemplate.

As Mr. Wigle and Mrs. Nelms secured their license since the death of Clerk Holms, they are of that number who must undergo this ordeal. While the county has refunded the money paid for licenses, the ministers have given no assurance that a rebate may be expected from them.

Oregon's Proud Record.

Colonel Dosch, who has been in charge of Oregon's exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, writes President Tift, of the state commission, that the grand total of Oregon's winnings in the awards is 232 prizes. These prizes consist of 129 medals and 103 honorable mention. As the judgement of the committee on awards in reference to a number of exhibits is still held in abeyance, the prospects are that several more medals may be added to Oregon's already creditable list.

The following awards were made to Benton county exhibitors: Silver medal—H. F. Fischer, wheat flour.

Bronze medal—Agricultural College, collection of grasses and forage plants.

Honorable mention—M. F. Wood, barley, wheat and oats. J. B. Wells, wheat and oats. J. D. Wallis, wheat. Corvallis Lumber Company, hardwood products.

New Furniture Factory.

A furniture factory is the latest of the new enterprises which are being located in Corvallis. Mr. Robert Colbert, who came to this city from Iowa some months ago, has been quietly arranging to begin the manufacture of furniture here, and it is now certain that the new factory will be ready to begin operation by the first of the year.

Mr. Colbert went to Portland last week to confer with parties there interested in the enterprise and make final arrangements for purchasing the machinery. A portion of this is to come from Seattle and San Francisco, although the greater part was secured in Portland. It was necessary to send East for some pieces, and these are expected to arrive about December 1st.

The Creighton building on Main street has been leased and the work of putting in the machinery will be completed by the first of January. The intention is to manufacture all kinds of furniture except chairs. Mr. Colbert has had experience in this line of work, and his son, who moved here recently from Washington, has been employed in furniture factories for years.

The people of Corvallis and Benton county should give these people every encouragement, and take a personal interest in every enterprise operated within our borders.
