

WE WOULD BE UNDERSTOOD.

Let nothing the GAZETTE has said or may say be construed as being in sympathy with the teachings of socialism or as favoring the scheme of government ownership. As regards legislation against trusts and corporations in general, we have said that it is difficult to see what congress can do in this connection, even if it should appear that some of the great trusts and corporations are abusing their privileges.

There is one great combination, however, which the revision-of-the-tariff panacea will in nowise affect—the railroad combination. The government has given a fair empire to the builders of these continental railroads, and it is not only right and proper, but absolutely necessary, that the government shall have full and effective regulation of them.

CONGRATULATIONS.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I beg to congratulate you on your prevision of the "Coming Issue." I voted for Mr. Lincoln twice as a republican candidate for President—I was no better republican than I am now.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I beg to congratulate you on your prevision of the "Coming Issue." I voted for Mr. Lincoln twice as a republican candidate for President—I was no better republican than I am now.

All such candidates are assured of the distinguished consideration of a free excursion ticket by the Great Northern Colossus which its latest railroad connections lead to that commercial port of entry whose "sea-fruit tempts the eye, but turns to ashes on the lips."

A REPUBLICAN, DYED IN THE WOOL.

HOMER'S ILLIAD.

Book I—A Literal Translation by C. MacLean, Ph. D. Vv. 1-7. "The Wrath of Achilles—Its Origin and Consequences: Sing, O goddess, of the wrath of Achilles—that baleful wrath which brought countless woes upon the Achaeans, and sent forth to the god of the underworld many mighty souls of heroes, and made themselves a prey to dogs and to all ravenous birds [but the will of Zeus was being brought into effect] ever since the time that the son of Atreus, king of men, and the Zeus-begotten Achilles, having first quarrelled, separated.

Vv. 8-21. The Visit of Chryses to the Achaeans for the Release of His Daughter: And who then of the gods brought them together to fight in strife? [It was] the son of Leto and of Zeus. For he, angered at the king, let loose an evil disorder throughout the army, and the hosts died, because the son of Atreus dishonored the well known Chryses, his priest. For he [Chryses] went to the swift ships of the Achaeans, both to release his daughter and bearing countless gifts—holding on a golden sceptre in his hand a wreath of the far-darter, Apollo, and he besought all the Achaeans, but especially the two sons of Atreus, commander-in-chief of the forces:

O, sons of Atreus, and other well-greaved Achaeans: To you, may the gods, who possess the Olympian Halls, give to utterly sack the City of Priam and to reach home in safety; and do ye, who stand in awe of the far-darter, Apollo, the son of Zeus, release to me my dear child and accept these gifts.

Acts promptly. It is very pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. C. B. George, Winchester, Ky., writes: "Our little girl was attacked with croup late one night and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup."—Graham & Wells.

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did." says County Physician George W. Scroggs of Hall County, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. You can prevent this by dieting but that means starvation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer from neither dyspepsia nor starvation. The worse case quickly cured. Never fails.—Graham & Wells.

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fat has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. Green's reliable remedies at Graham & Wortham. Get Green's Special Almanac.
