There will be a grand ball given at Summit on the evening of December 25th.

A full line of German, American and French china, either decorated or plain—at Zierolf's.

Again we are indebted to James Bier for a case of his delightful soda pop. We don't know how we would get along without James.

The home of Mrs. Elizabeth Gerhard was the scene of a social gathering last Thursday evening. Games and conversation were the features of the evening.

Last Thursday, Sidney Trask and wife arrived from their home in Woodburn for a visit of a week or longer with Mrs. Trask's parents, Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Moses.

There wouldn't be much dancing if it wasn't for the hugging.—Albany Democrat. But would there be less hugging if it wasn't for the dancing?—Eugene Register.

The query has been expressed regarding the possibility of Corvallis having a poultry show this winter. Eugene will have a poultry show that will last three days, beginning on December 19.

J. K. Berry came very near losing one of his eyes, one day last week. He was running an emery machine when a small bit of emery stone struck him in the eye, necessitating an operation.

The Cadet Battalion of O A C will give another of their enjoyable dances in the armory on the evening of December 20th. A Portland orchestra will be secured to furnish the music on this occasion.

Last Friday Mr. and Mrs. A. Baumgartner arrived from Irvington, Washington. They were at one time residents of this county, but left here about twelve years ago. They expect to remain here during the winter.

A few days ago W. O. and Chas. Heckart, of this city, received a letter from a brother who is a practical miner and is living in Wyoming. The writer stated that he had just struck an exceedingly rich deposit of copper.

The Artisans of this city are planning to give a number of their friends an evening of enjoyment next week. This social event will likely take place a week from tomorrow evening when a literary and musical program will be given.

The Steamer Gray Eagle arrived in Corvallis, Saturday. Mr. Miles, of the C. K. Spaulding Co., was on board in charge of the work of gathering up some 2,000 logs that were recently lost from a large drive and are scattered along the Willamette. This is a loss of nearly a million feet of lumber.

A gentleman who has some forty odd head of cattle in the Big Elk country, made the statement a few days ago that so far this season he had not fed anything to his stock. The animals have run on the range and no attention has been given them and they are said to be in good order.

A. W. Moses and family will take up their residence in this city some time this week. Mr. Moses is the son of Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Moses of this city. He arrived a few days ago from South Dakota. He is a very enthusiastic bandsman and will take an active interest in musical affairs in our city.

The board of school directors of district No. 9 will be obliged to Corvallis business men who have little bills against the district if they will not hold them so long, as it makes it troublesome to keep track of these little items. This admonition is a rather startling departure from 20th century methods and should make a favorable impression on those business men who are lucky enough to hold little bills against district No. 9.

Richard Scott, of Milwaukie, president and Professor F. L. Kent, of the Agricultural College at Corvallis, secretary, of the State Dairy-men's Association, are preparing an elaborate program for the State Dairy Association at Salem, on January 6th, 7th and 8th, during the holding of the Farmers' Congress. In Western Oregon dairying has become an industry of great promise and great interest will likely be taken in the work of the Association when it convenes. Many prominent speakers will be in attendance, among whom will be Prof. G. L. McKay, connected with the dairy department of the State Agricultural College of Iowa, at Ames.

Miss Mildred Linville is prepared to fill holiday orders for burnt work in wood and leather. Some very pretty and artistic specimens of this work may be seen at her home.

Yesterday Norton Adams began the task of partitioning off a part of Taylor & Smith's market so that it may be used as an office. When done it will prove quite a convenience to the proprietors.

Attorney W. E. Yates returned yesterday from attendance at the fall term of circuit court for Lincoln county. He reports a very small docket there this term. The court nearly finished everything on Saturday.

Miss Lula Sprigler sang "The Holy City" at the Presbyterian church last Sunday, and her rendition of it was most highly spoken of by those capable of judging. Miss Spangler is always warmly received when she can be persuaded to sing.

The recent storm occasioned a delay in the work of putting in the sewer through the Lee-Nolan-Davis block. However, the work is nearly completed and a day or two of good weather is all that J. R. Smith & Co. require to finish their contract.

Evangelist Burton's subjects at the Christian church this week are of unusual interest. Tonight, "The Dead Line"; Wednesday, "The Unwilling Skeptic"; Thursday, "Divinity of Christ." Everybody is invited to hear these sermons.

A farmers' institute will be held at Toledo, Lincoln county, December 18th and 19th. Dr. Withycombe, Professors Knisely and Kent, and possibly others from O A C, will attend and assist in making the institute of material interest to those who are present.

Three sailors that were rescued from the bark, loaded with lumber, at Yaquina last week went through town on Monday. They were out at sea 8 or 9 days and drifted from Gray's Harbor. Two of the parties seem as well as any one while the other is somewhat crippled. They blame the tug boat captain with deserting them.

The two burglars of Lincoln county who have been held in the Benton county jail, were arraigned immediately upon their arrival at Toledo last Saturday, pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary. The sheriff, J. H. Ross, passed through Corvallis yesterday on his way to Salem with these parties.

A boiler and some small machinery for the furniture factory arrived Friday evening of last week. It is now being placed in position in the Creighton building, and arrangements are being made to receive additional machinery which will arrive shortly. Messrs. Colton & Gregory hope to have the factory in operation early in January.

An effort is being made to reorganize the Corvallis Band with a view to concert work. There is talent enough in sight to give assurance of an organization of merit if the boys take hold of the matter in a business-like way. A well-rendered program of concert numbers would give pleasure to a large class of people who reside in this city and hope for the up-building of the place.

A recent letter from Mrs. C. E. Dentlar to relatives in this city, conveys the intelligence that she reached Manila safely October 14th. Captain Dentlar arrived four days later. They left shortly after for the island of Leyte, but Mrs. Dentlar was uncertain as to how long she would remain there. The natives are most treacherous, and a guard of soldiers is necessary at the Dentlar home at all times.

Sheriff Ross, of Lincoln county, came out from Toledo, Saturday, and took Chris Taylor and J. F. Robinson, who are charged with having burglarized the depot at Eddyville, back with him. There being no county jail of sufficient security in Lincoln county, the prisoners were brought to Corvallis for entertainment until the meeting of the circuit court for Lincoln county. Sheriff Burnett, of this county, accompanied Sheriff Ross to Toledo. The latter is a witness in a certain case that will have a hearing. Circuit court is now in session in Lincoln county.

Student Gorrell, a delegate from U of O to the Y. M. C. A. convention in this city, paid this office a pleasant call yesterday.

At its regular meeting last Saturday evening, Ellsworth Post, No. 19, G. A. R. elected the following officers for the ensuing year: S. Chipman, post commander; W. Newton, senior vice commander; Robert Campbell, junior vice commander; Levi Oren, quartermaster; D. C. Rose, chaplain; O. J. Tresse, officer of the day; Harvey Sargent, officer of the guard; J. W. Crawford, representative to department engagement; Robt Campbell, alternate.

At the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce of Portland, the First National Bank of this city has been selected as the depository for this section of the state, for contributions to the McKinley Memorial fund. The name and postoffice address of each contributor will be in the archives of the National association and each donor will be furnished with a souvenir certificate as evidence of his or her participation in the work.

A quiet wedding took place last Sunday at five o'clock in the afternoon at the residence of Mr. D. C. Rose, this city. The contracting parties were Mr. D. C. Rose and Mrs. George F. Stevens, both of this city, Rev. Humbert officiating. Mr. Rose has been in business in Corvallis for many years and has a host of friends and warm admirers, while his bride is an estimable lady who has endeared herself to quite a large circle of friends. The GAZETTE extends congratulations and joins a legion of mutual friends in good wishes for the newly wedded couple.

"There's many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip." A good lady of this city invited her minister to take dinner with her last Sabbath.

On the day before she purchased a "spring chicken" and early Sunday morning she put it in the pot. Here it remained for more than half a day. The good minister arrived—the chicken was not done. After waiting a couple of hours the good housewife concluded to give up the idea of chicken and have oysters instead. The chicken is still cooking and Dille, "The Fixer," says, that if all goes well it will be done in season for dinner next Sabbath.

A recital by the students of the musical department of the Agricultural college will be given in the college chapel next Saturday evening. Only members of the class, the faculty and the press have invitations to be present. The recital is not public, for the reason that all those who appear upon the program have not yet had the experience necessary to acquit themselves as creditably as is desired. However, a public appearance of the class may be expected early in the spring. The recital Saturday night is not intended to be in anywise exclusive, but is merely a class rehearsal in the presence of classmates and teachers. At the conclusion of the program an informal reception will be tendered the guests.

The annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Oregon and Idaho which convened in this city Friday afternoon, closed its session Sunday evening, and the delegates departed for their homes Monday. Nearly 100 delegates were in attendance, and the meetings were very enthusiastic and productive of much good. The program as outlined in Friday's GAZETTE was closely followed. The visitors speak in high terms of the hospitality accorded them by the citizens of Corvallis and enthusiasm displayed by the local organization in looking after their welfare.

Rev. F. L. Moore is suffering from a severe attack of blood poisoning. About a week ago, he scratched one of his fingers on a nail, making a slight wound. Little attention was given it at first, but it refused to heal and blood poisoning set in. Several operations have been performed, and it was feared that it might be necessary to amputate his hand in order to arrest the progress of the disease. Sunday, Drs. Pernot operated again, making an opening entirely through the hand near the middle of the palm, and the patient's condition now seems greatly improved.

Whatever Pleases Make a good Christmas present. The books, fountain pens, portmanteaus, letter sets, and various other holiday articles on display at the Book Store are certain to please. Therefore, they will make good Christmas presents. When on a tour of investigation, don't overlook C. A. Gerhard.

Hold What We Have.

The following item appeared in a recent issue of the News-Herald, published at Mt. Vernon, Wash. The GAZETTE man interviewed a member of the firm mentioned, and was assured that there was little likelihood of the plant leaving this city. The article, however, serves as a reminder that while we are branching out after new enterprises, we must not permit those we already have to slip away from us. The proprietors of the Franklin Iron Works, of Corvallis, Oregon, [two of the firm now in this city] have decided to remove their works from the Webfoot state to some place in Western Washington, and after looking the Puget Sound country over pretty thoroughly, have about come to the conclusion that Mt. Vernon is the proper place to locate.

The Franklin Iron Works is no mere plaything, but one of the largest concerns of the kind operating in Oregon. The firm is prepared to do any kind of work in its line, and our people can readily see what an institution of this kind means to Mt. Vernon, if the owners locate here. W. H. Franklin, one of the firm now in this city, will soon have a proposition to offer the citizens, and if it is a fair one (which we have no doubt is all right) our people should offer him all the encouragement possible, and assist in having this company remove its works to Mt. Vernon.

County Court.

The commissioners' court for Benton county convened in regular monthly session last Wednesday. The gist of bills allowed was unusually large, owing to the witness and juror fees entailed on account of the recent session of the circuit court for this county. The witness fees for circuit court amounted to very nearly $400 and the jurors' fees to something like $450. Here is between $800 and $900 added to the regular monthly bills.

The matter of opening the Quick-Decker road, near the George Mercer place, was considered, but no action was taken. The applications of Wm. Barclay, et al, for relief from double assessment was given attention and the matter continued for the term.

Action on opening of road through lands of J. E. Thompson was postponed. Bounties were allowed Jessie Brown, for one wildcat, and Homer Lilly for a coyote scalp. Each received $2. Court adjourned Friday noon.

A Narrow Escape.

While driving a team across Marys river bridge just south of town, last Friday, Frank Whitaker came very near being in a serious runaway. As he was leaving the south end of the bridge, a lady bicyclist passed him and rode on to the trestle sidewalk. His team took fright, and with one lunge broke loose from the wagon, and ran to the corner of Cemetery street, where, instead of keeping the road, they plunged into the yard of Mr. F. P. Morgan, breaking down the fence in two places. After falling and struggling for some time, they dashed on down the Mill race bridge one of them fell in the ditch, where they were captured by Mr. Whitaker. He was lucky in not having a more serious accident.

Mrs. J. R. Bryson returned last week from a brief visit at Tipton, Iowa.

D. Leigh Colvin, president of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, addressed the students in college chapel yesterday morning. Mr. Colvin will endeavor to establish a local branch of the association.
