Rev. W. B. Smith and wife, of the M. E. church, South, gave a dinner to a number of bachelors at the parsonage on Christmas day. The dinner was most excellent and Rev. and Mrs. Smith were perfection in the roll of host and hostess. All of the gentlemen present went away after dinner feeling that they had been royally entertained.

The United Evangelical church was filled Tuesday evening with a happy throng of people. The annual Christmas entertainment was the attraction. The church had been most tastefully decorated for the occasion and a huge Christmas tree well laden with presents and good things for the children drew the gaze of all. The program was well rendered and drew forth frequent and hearty applause. At the close of the program the gifts were distributed by willing hands. A pleasant evening was the verdict of all who attended.

The drawing for the organ at Kline's occurred Tuesday afternoon. The judges of the drawing were Professor E. R. Lake, J. R. Rowland and Geo. L. Paul. Several thousand coupons had accumulated during the three months the tickets for this drawing have been offered. The organ is valued at $110, and the winning number is 9968. Up to this time the holder has not put in an appearance. Should the winning ticket not be presented in 30 days, another drawing will be held, so it will be wise for all holding coupons to preserve them.

Shooting Match.

On the afternoon of Christmas day, Harvey Sargent, proprietor of the shooting gallery of this city, held a shooting match for turkeys and geese on the flat above town. Quite a number of our sportsmen were present and in all about 500 shots were fired. Clay pigeons were used in place of live birds. Five entries were made at thirty cents apiece for each bird, and each contestant was allowed five shots at clay pigeons. The man who made the highest score received a ticket entitling him to a turkey or goose as the case may have been. In case a couple of contestants shot a draw they were allowed to shoot it off between themselves. The match furnished considerable diversion for quite a number of men who did not do any shooting.

It seems that success in this case entailed considerable anxiety. Take the case of E. E. Wilson, for instance: Mr. Wilson, through some peculiar stroke of good fortune succeeded in securing a ticket that entitled him to a turkey. Remembering his experiences with turkeys in days gone by, when he stole turkeys for his friends, for the fun of the thing, and they in turn "swiped" them of him, Ed concluded that he would have to be very careful of his ticket, so he locked it up in his safe. It is reported that he not only locked the ticket up in the safe, but sat up all night, to watch the safe. 'Tis a good thing that Christmas comes but once a year.

Deer and Dogs.

Tuesday, a fine fourpoint buck passed through Corvallis on a canter. It came to town from the north and passed along Fifth street, just west of the Court House. Those who saw the animal say that it was a very fine buck. Several blooded bird dogs gave chase, but were either called off or their wind played out, for none of them continued the chase far.

About ten minutes after the animal passed through Corvallis some hounds belonging to Messrs. DeAtley and Brown came along on the track, but were stopped near the court house. It seems that down near Soap Creek, where Messrs. DeAtley, Brown and Frazier reside there is a congregation of coyotes and it is rare sport for these gentlemen to put their hounds on a coyote track. A week or so ago they started the dogs on a coyote trail and the varment was chased over the mountain into Kings Valley three times in one day and finally succeeded in outwitting the dogs.

Last year Mr. DeAtley captured six coyotes, but this year has only succeeded in killing one up to date, according to reports. The supposition is that these hounds were out after coyotes last Tuesday when they struck the track of the buck and took it up. It is safe to say that the deer owes its life to the fact that this is the close season, otherwise somebody in Corvallis would have had venison roast for Christmas dinner.

A merry crowd of children gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spaulding, Christmas day to celebrate the coming of Santa Claus. Old Santa had a tree for Leo and Myrtle Spaulding also one for little Miss Agnes Peterson and brother, Raymond. A fine program was rendered by the little ones. The opening address was given by Rev. Noble, followed by vocal and instrumental music. The minister remained with his little flock until the close of the festivities. Refreshments were served after which Master Leo acted as Santa Claus and distributed the presents from his tree. Then Master Raymond played the part of Old Santa and clipped the gifts from his tree for the children. A magic lantern show was one of the attractions. The little ones departed lighthearted and gay and no doubt the occasion will long be remembered.
