THE CHINESE EMPRESS'S SEALS.

The Imperial seals of the Dowager Empress of China were recently sold by auction in London. There are no duplicates to these very interesting and beautiful specimens of Chinese art, and therefore they are of special value to the wealthy connoisseur. The seals are four in number, and are of green jades. They are of interest to artists, for the strong-minded dowager was much addicted to painting water colors, and to prevent any doubt being cast upon them as not the genuine product of her own imperial hand, and that posterity should also be enlightened as to her genius, she used to affix one of these jades to each of her works. The Phoenix is carved on two of these seals. This is the special mark or crest of an empress dowager of the empire. But the lady autocrat was not satisfied with the Phoenix alone. Having usurped the reins of government, she arrogated to herself the prerogatives of the Emperor, and added the Dragon to her own emblem of majesty. This makes the pair of seals belonging to Yi-Kun Palace of special value, and will be a token to succeeding generations of her usurpation and reality of power in the empire. One of the seals is of an especially beautiful design. It is of white jade, the surface of which is a beautiful red color. It belonged to the Emperor Kien Lung (1736-95), and is stated to have been carved by himself, his majesty having been quite an artist in his way. It bears the words, "It is only the learned of the present day who love the lore of the ancients." In the cut are shown the impressions of two of the seals, the Dowager Empress's ordinary seal and the Emperor's Yi-Kun seal. The inscription of the former is translated, "Nourish your mind and nurse your spirits," while that of the latter is "Written by the Imperial Hand in the Yi-Kun Palace."

AND THE CAT CAME BACK.

This Angora Beauty Was So Destructive, Said the Domestic.

A Brooklyn woman recently gave away her pet cat, an Angora of great beauty, although she was much attached to it. But the cat had broken many plates, two cream jugs, a teapot, several teacups, several handsome pieces of bra-plate, had drunk cream and milk intended for breakfast on several occasions, and had stolen several sweetbreads when the chest was left open. Nevertheless, this destructive cat was a great favorite with the cook, chambermaid, and dining-room girl, who won their mistress's heart by almost crying when she sent it away.

Two days after the Angora's departure its mistress found a handsome hand-painted plate on the dining-room table broken in several places. She asked the maid about it.

"I dunno," answered the maid, "how it happened, unless puss came back and paid a visit. You know, mum, cats has a way of comin' back."

"Yes, so I understand, Mary, and I think puss will soon be with us again, so that she will not have to make visits," replied the mistress.

That night she wrote a letter to the friend who had taken the cat, saying: "Send puss back, for I think I have discovered the cat or cats for whose acts she has been blamed."

Puss was brought back, and for a wonder the domestics don't like her as much as they once did. She is not so welcome in the kitchen, but then she has reformed. Her mistress furnished the key to her reformation when she told the story to a friend.

"You see," she said, "she has quit doing damage since I told the domestics that I would hold them responsible for all the damages she did and would take enough out of their earnings to pay for the damage. Since that they have watched her so closely that she has neither broken any dishes, drunk any cream, nor eaten any sweetbreads."

And the owner of the cat smiled at her friend, says the New York Times, and actually winked.

A FENIMORE COOPER LETTER.

Famous Novelist Called Europe a Romance and America Humdrum.

Here is an interesting letter, in the possession of a well-known autograph collector, that, according to the Philadelphia Record, Fenimore Cooper wrote to his publishers in 1831:

"I hope you will be wrong in anticipating a bad reception for 'The Bravo.' I cannot tell you much of its reception in Europe, though Gosselin says it is very decidedly successful in France. America is, of all countries, one of the least favorable to works of the imagination. In Europe, or, rather in England, where there has existed a necessity of accounting for some success in the very teeth of their prejudices and wishes, it has been the fashion to say that no writer ever enjoyed so favorable an opportunity as I, because I am an American and a sailor. As to the sailor part of the business, it is grossly absurd; for what advantage has an American sailor over any other? They know the falsehood of what they say in this respect, for I can get £3,000 for a nautical tale that shall celebrate English skill to-morrow.

"For myself, I can write two European stories easier than I can write one American. Why, Europe itself is a romance, while all America is a matter-of-fact, humdrum, common-sense region from Quaddy to Cape Florida."

None Required. He was obviously anxious, and she seemed almost willing.

"I shall refer you to papa," said she, with a becoming blush, "before giving you a final answer."

"But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," said he, magnanimously.—Indianapolis News.

DAN GROSVENOR SAYS:

"Peruna is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy—I am as Well as Ever."

Hon. Dan A. Grosvenor, of the famous Ohio family.

Hon. Dan A. Grosvenor, deputy auditor for the war department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy." Very respectfully, Dan A. Grosvenor.

Hal P. Denton, chief national export exposition, Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"I was completely run down from over-work and the responsibility naturally connected with the exploitation of a great international exposition. My physician recommended an extended vacation. When I seemed all the better I began taking Peruna, and with the use of the fifth bottle I found myself in a normal condition. I have since enjoyed the best of health."

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Every one who has tried it has had the same experience as Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, of Lynchburg, Va., who, in a recent letter, made use of the following words: "I always take a dose of Peruna after business hours, as it is a great thing for the nerves. There is no better spring tonic, and I have used about all of them."

"Thomas," said the minister to his five-year-old son and heir, "I trust you will not misbehave in church this morning, as you did last Sabbath. Such conduct is very mortifying to me."

"But, papa," rejoined the incorrigible Thomas, "ain't we taught to mortify the flesh?"

ANOTHER GRAND REPORT FROM HIS MAJESTY'S DOCKYARD, AT PORTSMOUTH, ENGLAND.

Where Upwards of 10,000 Men Are Constantly Employed.

Some time ago the Portsmouth Times and Naval Gazette published a most thrilling and remarkable experience of the wife of Mr. Frederick Payne, himself connected with the Portsmouth Dockyard for many years. The report produced a great sensation, not only in Portsmouth, but throughout the country, being considered of sufficient importance for reproduction and editorial comment by the leading metropolitan and Provincial Press of England, as showing the marvelous powers which St. Jacobs Oil possesses as a cure for Rheumatism, its application having effected a perfect cure in the case of Mrs. Payne, after having been a helpless cripple and given up by several physicians.

We have now further evidence of its intrinsic value as a Pain Conqueror. Our readers will do well to follow the intelligent and highly interesting details as given in Mrs. Rabbits' own words:

To the Proprietors St. Jacobs Oil: Gentlemen—My husband, who is a shipwright in His Majesty's Dockyard, met with an accident to his ankle and leg, spraining both so badly that his leg turned black from his knee to his toes. The Dr. said it would be months before he could put his foot to the ground, and it was doubtful whether he would ever get proper use of his leg again.

A few days after the accident I had a book left at the door telling about St. Jacobs Oil, I procured a bottle from our chemist, Mr. Arthur Creswell, 379 Commercial Road. I began to use St. Jacobs Oil, and you may guess my surprise, when in about another week from that date, my husband could not only stand, but could even walk about, and in three weeks from the time I first used the Oil my husband was back at work, and everybody talking about his wonderful recovery. This is not all. Seeing what St. Jacobs Oil could do gave me faith in your Vogeler's Curative Compound, also favorably mentioned in the book left at my house. I determined to try the compound on my little girl, who was suffering from a dreadful skin disease, the treatment of which has cost me large sums of money in going from one doctor to another with her, all to no purpose.

She has taken two bottles of Vogeler's Curative Compound, and one would now hardly take her for the same child, her skin has got such a nice, healthy color after the sallow look she has always had.

I shall never cease to be thankful for the immense benefit we have derived from these two great remedies of yours. I think it a duty to recommend these medicines now I have proved their value.

(Signed) ELIZABETH S. RABBETS, 93 Grafton Street, Mile End, Landport, Portsmouth, England.

A literal form of sample of Vogeler's Compound will be sent by addressing St. Jacobs Oil Ltd., Baltimore.

GOOD Short Stories

Shortly after Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" made its appearance, J. T. Trowbridge was walking with Lowell in Cambridge, when the latter pointed out a doorway sign, "Groceries," with the letters set zig-zag, to produce a bizarre effect. "That," said he, "is Walt Whitman—with very common goods inside."

While he was in England, Mark Twain says his head was once taxed as gasworks. He wrote Queen Victoria a friendly letter of protest, saying: "I don't know you, but I've met your son. He was at the head of a procession in the Strand, and I was on a 'bus.' Years afterward I met the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII., at Homburg. They had a long walk and talk together. When bidding him good-by, the Prince said: 'I am glad to have met you again.' This remark troubled Twain, who feared that he had been mistaken for some one else. He communicated this suspicion to the Prince, who replied: 'Why, don't you remember when you met me on the Strand and I was at the head of a procession, and you were on a 'bus?'"

It is related that about ten years ago Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stamford were traveling through the Middle West in Ohio. It happened to be in Bloomington, Ind., one Sunday, and pursuant to their usual custom went to church. They attended the Christian Church of Bloomington, then largely in the hands of Amzi Atwater. When the plate was passed for the collection Mrs. Stamford dropped in a ten-dollar gold piece. Mr. Atwater was the deacon in charge of the collection taking. It was noticed that the ushers held a hurried conference with him when the money was taken forward. At its conclusion, Mr. Atwater said: "Ladies and gentlemen, there has evidently been a mistake.
