LOCAL NEWS.

The Gordon Hat.
Hon. R. A. Bensell of Lincoln county, was in Corvallis last week.

Snipe shooting is now the uppermost topic in the minds of some of our local sportsmen.

Work on the new $40,000 Agricultural Hall at the O A C is progressing very satisfactorily.

Mrs. D. S. Adams returned home from Buena Vista, last week, after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Grace E. Hall.

Mrs. Andrew Carrick and son arrived from Grand Forks, North Dakota, last Friday, and are now domiciled in the Presbyterian parsonage.

A half-ton of Mrs. Mary Millhollen, who died at her home a few miles east of this city a little more than a week ago, appeared in last Thursday's Telegram.

M. E. church, Sunday—Sunday school at 10 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m., and 7:45 p. m.; Epworth League at 6:45 p. m. A cordial welcome to all. FRANK L. MOORE, Pastor.

It is about time for some industrious individual to find indications of oil within the borders of Benton county. It will not do for us to fall too far behind in the march of progress.

Fred Stump, a member of last year's graduating class at the O A C, came up from his home at Sver, last Friday, for a visit with friends. While in Corvallis he was the guest of Robert Withycombe.

George R. Hall, who went from Dusty to San Francisco about a month ago to secure treatment for cancer, returned home a couple of weeks ago. He has cause to believe that a cure has been effected.

Last Friday, the O A C Battalion drilled on the college campus. This was the second time that the drill was held on the campus this year, but from now on the drill will be given out of doors whenever the weather will permit.

J. N. Williamson, the republican nominee for congress from the 2nd district, was born and raised on the classic Long Tom. His father, Joseph Williamson, settled on a donation land claim near old Lancaster, three miles west of Harrisburg, in 1852.

Thomas Bilyeu will represent the O A C at the inter-collegiate oratorical contest to be held at Newberg, April 28th, under the auspices of the prohibitionists. The winner will receive $100, and will go to Lincoln, Neb., on June 4th to represent Oregon in the inter-state contest.

If all goes well there will be twenty-eight in the graduating class at the O A C this year. Friday, the question of "caps and gowns" was voted on. It was settled about six weeks ago that caps and gowns would be worn on commencement day, but the proposition was reconsidered, Friday, and was voted on. The vote was 9 for, and 19 against caps and gowns.

The director, Mr. Nash, has just returned from Albany and Corvallis, where he heard the local choruses. He reports large and enthusiastic societies with prospects of the greatest festival the Willamette Valley Choral Union has ever given. A large orchestra from Portland has been engaged, which will give a symphony concert the first evening. The soloists are the finest in the entire Northwest and include Prof. Glen, Mrs. Rose Bloch, Bauer, Mrs. Walter Reed and Mr. Boyer.—Eugene Guard.

Jacob Proebstel, deputy United States marshal, of Portland, went to the Siletz region last week to serve some subpoenas on an Indian or two of that section. They are cited to appear in Portland this week. Mr. Proebstel was a little reticent regarding the matter, but it is understood to be a whiskey case. The deputy U. S. marshal is a particular friend of Chief of Police Alexander, of this city. They have known each other for forty years, having been together when they were children. This was the first meeting of the two in ten years.

The Agricultural Experiment Station has issued a bulletin on the Codlin Moth that is one of the most valuable documents yet issued from the station. It contains a history of the pest as known in different parts of the country, a study of it in Oregon orchards and a report of the effects of spraying as observed in the state farm orchard as well as in orchards by practical men elsewhere. There are a number of plates showing the moth in different stages of development, effects on fruit, methods of spraying, etc. Every apple grower ought to have a copy which may be obtained free by writing to the station at Corvallis.—Forest Grove Times.

W. A. Sanders, Jeweler.

Miss Bessie Michael went to Albany, yesterday, to visit with friends for a couple of days.

John Wiles is ill at the home of his son, Walter, in this city, with an affection of the heart.

D. S. Adams returned, Saturday, from Buena Vista, where he visited his daughter, Mrs. H. L. Hall.

A. Weitman, architect and builder, has opened a workshop in the Hodes building, three doors north of the Hotel Corvallis.

Fred Oberer came up from his mill near Airlie, Saturday. Mr. Oberer states that everything is progressing nicely with the Charter Oak Mill Company. Fred returned to the mill, Sunday.

Friday, J. H. Moore sold his city residence to Arthur Simpson, late of South Dakota. The price paid was $2,000. Later he sold his household furniture to the new owner. Mr. Simpson has his wife and daughter with him.

The Feronians entertained the Amicitians Friday evening, at the home of Miss Mildred Linville. The two O A C societies had an enjoyable evening playing games and indulging in conversation. Delicious refreshments were served.

A Salvation Army man was in the city yesterday collecting self-denial funds for the Army. S. A. men only come to Albany as visitors, the support here having been so poor as to make it a poor field for the army, the work of which is covered by the churches.—Democrat.

William Schmidt, of Roseburg, recently took unto himself a wife. We are informed that last week the bride and groom were in Portland on their honeymoon. The groom is well known in this city. He is a son of C. Schmidt, who formerly run the Occidental hotel in this city.

Ivan Daniel is still with the Weidemann company. He is a member of the orchestra and band of that organization, and writes that he is teaching a class in harmony; the members of the class are the musicians of the company. The Weidemann company is billed to appear in Eugene about June 1st, and Ivan hopes to make a brief visit home at this time.

C. A. Riddle and wife left yesterday for Vancouver where Mr. Riddle has purchased the Register-Democrat of Thurston Daniels who has conducted the paper for 21 years. This paper is a weekly seven column folio and is one of the best papers in that part of the country. Claude is a first class newspaper man and is bound to make a success of it.—Eugene Register.

Austin Lafferty, Corvallis, Ore., has raced his horses for the past few years in the Missouri circuit and handled such good ones as Helter Skelter 2:14, Honduras 2:28 and others writes that he is now preparing a string of five green ones, among them Robert H., that would have taken a record at 2:15 had it not been for an attack of distemper. All his horses are in fine shape.—Horseman.

Business is pretty good at the Corvallis Creamery. There is an average of about 300 pounds of butter made every day. They churn once a day. Generally about 200 gallons of cream is churned at a time. Butter is low at present, being worth in the neighborhood of 15 cents per pound. This all gives a market for our dairymen and from $45 to $50 per day is distributed at present and when the prices are higher a correspondingly larger sum will be distributed daily. This gives about $300 per week to the dairymen or upwards of $1,200 per month. In the course of a year the amount that finds its way into the hands of dairymen reaches into the thousands of dollars. The butter is nearly all shipped to Portland. Last Wednesday they churned 743 pounds of butter. The roads are now getting better and more milk will come to town. This is a great industry for town and country and should receive every encouragement.

Friday was Arbor Day and was observed with fitting exercises at the public schools of Corvallis. This is a day that is being more generally observed each year, and it is well that it should be, as it teaches a lesson to the young that is not easily forgotten. In his letter to teachers, Prof. J. H. Ackerman, Superintendent of Public Instruction, says: Let us make Arbor Day a red letter day in our school year, but let us not fix upon this as the limit of our responsibility, for we should not confine our efforts simply in endeavoring to awaken an enthusiasm for the best things of life during one day in the year, but rather let it increase from day to day for the results will be manifest in the life and character of those who may come under our supervision. In what better way can we do this than by getting our children interested in the growth of a shrub or a flower or, perchance, simply in cleaning up the yard a bit and by endeavoring to keep it in a neat and tidy condition.

Buggy Smashed.

William Merrill, of Albany, acting as assistant lineman for the telephone company, figured in considerable of a "smash up" early Saturday morning. He was in Corvallis last week doing some work for the telephone company, and Friday evening concluded that he would drive over to his home in Albany. He was accompanied by a young lady. The trip was made in safety and the couple arrived in Corvallis between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Directly after leaving the young lady at her home the team got beyond the control of Mr. Merrill in some manner and showed a clean pair of heels. In front of Dr. Cathey's residence the fore wheels and the horses parted company with the hindermost part of the turnout and the driver was thrown out. It is miraculous that he was not killed as the bed of the buggy and the hind wheels rolled over and over in the street until they were practically smashed to "smithereens."

Clyde Trap, connected with the Brick stable, says that it was just 3 o'clock when the horses dashed up on the walk in front of the stable, and not finding the door open, passed on. He dressed hurriedly and went out to look them up. It appears that one of the horses fell down in front of Sorbin's wash house and the other animal got loose there and continued its mad race. Clyde soon located the horse that fell in front of the wash house, and with it the tongue and front wheels of the outfit. The other animal was found tied to the fence near the Frank dairy, Saturday morning. Neither horse was injured, but the rig is a total wreck.

Will be Installed.

Rev. Andrew Carrick and J. W. Crawford went to Salem last week to attend the meeting of the Willamette Presbytery. Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. J. B. Horner, of the home Presbyterian Missionary Society, went down to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian Missionary Society.

Arrangements were made at the Presbytery for the installation of Rev. Andrew Carrick as pastor of the Presbyterian church of Corvallis. The installation will take place in the Presbyterian church of this city, Thursday, May 1st, and the sermon will be preached by Rev. H. L. Reed, moderator of Presbytery. The installation of Rev. Reed as pastor of the Presbyterian church of Dallas will occur just a week before that of Rev. Carrick.

The charge of the pastor will be given by Rev. W. T. Mardell, of Dallas. The charge to the congregation will be given by Rev. J. E. Snyder, of Brownsville.

The general assembly will meet in the Fifth Avenue church in New York City, May 22. Rev. T. Brouillette was elected commissioner to this assembly. Dr. D. M. Davenport, of Lebanon, and Elder Riddle of Independence, were elected alternates. Elder J. P. Galbreath, of Albany, was selected as lay commissioner.

Gladys Lavern Francisco.

Died, Sunday, at 8 o'clock p. m., April 13, 1902, at the Francisco home, two miles east of Corvallis, in Linn county, Gladys Lavern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Francisco, aged 4 years.

A short service will be held at the residence at ten a. m. today, Tuesday, afterward the body will be brought to Crystal Lake cemetery for burial, at eleven o'clock.

Owing to the fact there are sick with measles in the house three other members of the family no regular funeral service will be held, at this time. Corvallis friends are respectfully invited to attend the burial.

Accidentally Killed.

While working in the logging camp of C. K. Spaulding, about 15 miles above Kings Valley, on the Luckiamute river, A. R. Russell was accidentally killed by a falling tree about the middle of the afternoon Saturday. Dr. Cathey of this city was telephoned at once, but arrived at the camp after the young man had died.

A. R. Russell was about 20 years of age and his home was at Shelvey, Or., not far from Scio. At the time of the accident he was sawing a log on the hill side some distance below where others were falling a tree, and did not hear the cry of warning as the timber began to fall. As the other men returned to their work one of them heard a groan and upon investigation found Russell unconscious and suffering from a bad blow on the back of the head and a crushed ankle. It is believed that a limb from the falling tree inflicted these injuries. He had lucid intervals before death, at which times his suffering was severe.

The body was taken to Albany, Sunday, by private conveyance, where a casket was secured and the remains sent to Shelvey, where interment was made.

A Lively Encounter.

Last Sunday morning Oscar Healy and a student named Dickey engaged in a lively scrimmage, with the result that Mr. Healy will appear before Justice Hoggate today to make explanation. A number of students have rooms at the Healy home and rumor has it that they are not above that boisterous behavior common to boys. In a mischievous moment some of them scratched the walls and carved the woodwork of their rooms. On a particularly hilarious occasion they broke down one of the beds. On the morning in question Mr. Healy went hammer in hand to repair this latest damage. A number of students were on the scene and Mr. Healy stated that whoever was responsible for the mischief would have to find rooms elsewhere. Dickey retorted in kind, and—well, right here testimony begins to differ. The students say that Mr. Healy struck Dickey on the head with the hammer while the latter's gaze was diverted. Dickey blindly felt in the direction of his assailant, who side-stepped and dealt him another blow, they grappled and Mr. Healy delivered a number of additional blows with the hammer until Dickey's head was in such a condition that it was necessary to call in a physician. Mr. Healy contends that Dickey assaulted him before he began his defense with the hammer.

Will Assist Us.

The GAZETTE is pleased to announce that it has secured the services of Mr. Otto Herse, recently of West Point, Nebraska, to take charge of its job department. Our business has outgrown its present force and facilities, and in order to meet the demands of trade we have found it necessary to devote the entire attention of one man to job work alone. We believe Mr. Herse to be a capable, artistic printer, and take pleasure in introducing him to the good people of this community.

The West Point Republican has this to say of him: Otto Herse, until late city editor of the Democrat, departed yesterday morning, for Corvallis, Oregon, in which city he proposes to make his future home, as soon as he has obtained a remunerative position, and send for his wife, who remains in West Point in the interim. It is with sorrow that we see Mr. Herse leave the community. A bright, talented young man, he has scores of friends who will regret to hear of his departure. For nine years he served as compositor on the Republican and for the last five years he has been editor of the Democrat. He had been appointed local deputy game and fish warden by Gov. Savage and is also prominent in church and social circles in the city. He studied for the ministry at Midland college, Atchinson, Kansas, but later decided not to enter that profession. He, as well as his wife, possesses great musical talent and he is undoubtedly one of the finest tenor singers in this part of the state, his voice being well modulated and low and sweet. Wherever Mr. Herse and wife may cast their lot, we hope that success will crown their efforts.

$50 Reward.

We the undersigned, hereby offer $50 reward for the arrest and conviction, or information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who sawed the bicycle frame belonging to Milton P. Morgan in Corvallis, Ore., on or before April 12th, 1902.

MILTON P. MORGAN.
J. K. BERRY.

Lost.

A 16-foot skiff, painted white, oars placed securely in boat, hole bored through the stern and a chain about 16 feet long fastened to the bow—splendid craft. Lost about a week ago.
J. O. WILSON, Owner.

Ponder This Well.

There is no better indication of the spirit and enterprise of a city than the newspapers published within its borders. They are the barometers of its business, social and moral atmosphere, and for this reason a community is judged by the appearance and contents of its newspapers. The following letter to the GAZETTE impresses this lesson: PUBLISHER GAZETTE, Corvallis, Or.

DEAR SIR: THE GAZETTE of April 4th came duly. Thanks for the courtesy. Am pleased with the neatness and typographical appearance of your paper, and if it is an index of your town you must have a town to be proud of. Trusting that I may have the good fortune in the near future to visit your section of the country, with well wishes, I am, Yours truly,
D. H. TANDY.

The Rural Spirit has this to say of a Benton county horse raised by Jesse Brown, which was taken out of this county about three years ago: Pathmark 2:09 1/2 is being wintered in Winnipeg, Canada, and will be raced again this year. He started in nine races last season, winning six firsts, two seconds and once behind the money—through an accident. He has started against the best horses in that province and is considered the best on the turf there.

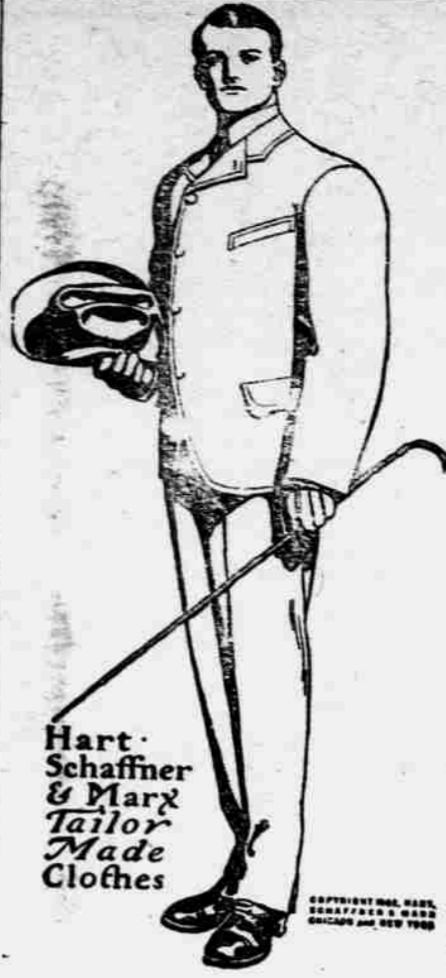

Misses Ewing and Kathleen Canfield entertained a number of their friends at Alpha Hall, Friday evening, the occasion being the young ladies' birthday. Games were participated in, after which dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Howard, Applegate, Belknap, Stewart, Garfield, Ora, Roxana and Ethel Thompson, Ewing, and Elsie and Kathleen Canfield; Messrs. Zurcher, Tulley, Patterson, Wells, Bilyeu, Belknap, Thompson, J. Withycombe, Tartar, Robt Withycombe and Bryant.

A miscreant who acts under the cover of darkness is perhaps the lowest cut that walks the earth. Not content with rendering himself contemptible in the eyes of his kind, he must render himself obnoxious in his own estimation. Some such individual seized upon an opportunity to saw the frame of Milton Morgan's bicycle nearly in two last Friday night. Early Saturday morning, while riding along on a fairly good stretch of sidewalk, the wheel broke down with him and he was the victim of a vicious fall. He was lucky to escape with the few slight bruises that he received—it might easily have crippled him for life or caused his death. The wheel, a new cushioned-frame Rambler, was a wreck. What earthly good such an act could do anybody is beyond comprehension. It seems that society and communities are unable to deal satisfactorily with fiends who act in this way. Milton says that he is not aware that he has an enemy anywhere.

MORGAN & EGLIN,

YOUNG MEN'S STYLE

One of the most successful and popular clothing styles for young men ever designed was Hart, Schaffner & Marx' original "Varsity" sack.

This season's Young Men's Style is quite different in cut, but not in its promise of great popular favor, among men who seek the latest and best style; nor in the excellent quality. The "flare" in the skirts is gone and the front of the coat is changed decidedly, but it's the style all right. If you want to have the right thing you must find the H. S. & M. label; other makers may try to imitate the style; the label is your clothes-insurance policy. We add to the makers' our own guarantee of your satisfaction.
