WM. KNOTTS.

After carefully weighing the merit, capability and strength of every available man in their party in this county for the office of sheriff, the choice of republicans fell upon Billy Knotts. A plain, practical, successful farmer, is William Knotts, present county commissioner. Past experience has proved that farmers make good sheriffs. Ex-Sheriff Peter Rickard made a good officer.

Mr. Knotts is a man of the same disposition, same traits of character, same business qualifications, and has the same quiet, unassuming way about him as Mr. Rickard. As a farmer said the other day: "Knotts and Rickard are exactly alike in private and in public life. Both are farmers and successful ones; both have been commissioners and good ones; one has been sheriff of this county, and the other will be."

Wm. Knotts was born on the old homestead just north of Corvallis 51 years ago. From boyhood he has mingled with the citizens of the county; for over a quarter of a century he has labored for the upbuilding of the county; for over a quarter of a century he has been paying money into the county treasury. What he has today of this world's goods, he has made by hard work, not by resting quietly on his oars. It has been dug out of the soil of Benton county. It has been made by attending strictly to business. It has been acquired by farming in a business like manner. It has been his good fortune to have a keen foresight, good judgment, good business sense. These have been his capital out of which he has made life a success. Such men as he have made Benton county one of the best counties in the state. They are the men who have raised the standard of farming to the high plane which it occupies today. They are the men who are the backbone of this nation. They are the men who hold the confidence of the people, who are to be trusted with public trusts and with private interests.

Thus have the republicans of the county presented to voters a man born, raised and educated in this county. Whose untiring energy, industrious habits, and patient endeavor have been his winning traits of character. He has never been a man to press himself forward, push himself in places of public notice, yet every man who knows William Knotts is his friend first, last and always. Every man with whom he has dealt in business will swear by his honesty, his integrity; every man who has ever asked a favor of him in either public or private life must say that he did what he thought was right, honorable and fair. He has made special friends of no one. As an officer he has been painstaking, careful, cautious and faithful. Upon no official act can be cast the slightest suspicion that he was influenced by improper motives. He has been open, straightforward and advocated those things which he thought best. His every act has been prompted by an honest heart, and a conscientious mind. In all matters of public policy that man who has no personality or individuality; who simply drifts with the tide of public opinion; who has no convictions, no opinions, no positiveness, is a failure. He is unfit for any service either public or private. He never does anything of any benefit to himself or to the world. His labors in life are barren of results. His country, his state, his county, his neighborhood, his friends have not been influenced, have not been helped by his coming. It would be far better for the world that a man without any individuality were never born, for he is only a drone to society, a parasite to his community.

Yes, Mr. Knotts' record stands for economy, better roads and a better county. Benton county never had a more efficient officer.

Mr. Knotts is not a seeker after office. The tricks of the politician are to him unknown. But once before has he ever asked for public support, and he was handsomely endorsed by the voters of this county. He accepted the nomination for sheriff in response to his party's call. Having asked him to take this nomination, it is the duty of republicans to stand loyally by him from now until the close of the polls on June 2nd. Not only to vote for him but to work for him. This the GAZETTE knows they will do. He is not a seeker after office; he is not a politician. He is only a plain citizen, an unassuming man, a successful tiller of the soil. He is a successful, practical, substantial, sturdy, industrious native son of Benton county. His interests are our interests; his success, his prosperity is our prosperity. We have in him a native son, an honorable citizen, a successful farmer, a faithful officer, a representative man.

The Secretary of State of Oregon, Mr. F. I. Dunbar, has proved himself to be an exceptionally competent, faithful and valuable officer. He has reformed and resystematized the method of bookkeeping in his office; his last bienniel report was the most complete and instructive ever issued; he has been watchful, vigilent and phenomenally firm and conscientious in auditing claims against the state, allowing nothing to be paid out except clearly authorized by law; and in every respect he has performed his duties with scrupulous and remarkable ability, zeal and fidelity. Mr. Dunbar has certainly filled the bill more perfectly than it was ever filled before, and well deserves the substantial compliment and commendation not only of the renomination he has already received, but of the re-election that it is pretty certain he will receive on the first Monday in June.—Telegram.

One great difficulty which farmers East and West show in common is the difficulty of getting good hired help and the high wages which it is necessary to pay. Comparisons of farm wages at the present time with the amounts paid fifty or sixty years ago show the remarkable gain which has been made by the laboring man within that time. —Oregon Agriculturist.

The Democratic platform this year, boiled down, is "get out of the Philippines." The American people will go to the polls and smash the platform to smithereens —Lincoln Leader.

T. H. Wellsher.

T. H. Wellsher was nominated by the republican county central committee for treasurer. No better selection could have been made, for in him they have a man preeminently qualified for the position. Mr. Wellsher was born in Lane county 47 years ago. At the age of four years his parents emigrated to Monroe, where his father engaged in the manufacture of wagons and did a large business. When Mr. Wellsher had reached the age of 14 years his father died, leaving him to look after his father's business and care for his mother. He received his education in the public schools of Monroe. After completing his education he learned the blacksmith's trade. This he followed for 25 years. He served as school clerk of Monroe district for six terms. Desiring to give his children the benefit of the best educational advantages, he moved to Corvallis about two years ago. For the past two years he followed his trade. Recently he retired from the blacksmithing business and became a partner of Mr. A. K. Milner in the racket store.

Wherever Mr. Wellsher is known he has a large circle of friends. His high sense of integrity, his honesty of purpose, and his unassuming way, appeals to all whom he meets. No man stands higher in the southern part of the county than he. After being in business for 25 years in Monroe every citizen thereof speaks in the highest terms of him, both as a citizen and as a business man.

Every republican owes his support and his vote to him on the 2nd of June next. He was not a seeker after office. His case is one where the office sought the man. After the nomination was tendered him he accepted it only with one object in view—to serve his party and his county. Therefore, let all republicans show their appreciation of his services to his party by remembering him on election day.

HENRY AMBLER, Real Estate, Loan and Insurance.

Philomath, Benton County, Oregon

W. A. Jolly.

If there is any one place where a good, sound, conservative man is needed, it is in the county court. This is a place where good judgment and good business sense is required. A broad-minded man, yet one who is economical, should be the predominating characteristics of a commissioner. Such a man is W. A. Jolly, the republican candidate for commissioner. Mr. Jolly has been tried and tested as to his business ability. He was born in Indiana in 1851. His parents died when he was but a small boy, leaving him an orphan to battle for an existence. Soon after their death he moved to Ohio, where he worked as a farm hand. Although left at an early age a poor boy and without any visible means of support, except a strong body and a determined will, he took off his coat and went to work. Poverty was not to be a stumbling block in his pathway. Instead of holding him back, it inspired him to greater efforts, to a greater determination, and to work harder. In 1875 he came to Oregon and settled near Dusty. For 24 years he worked against great odds, but gradually climbed the ladder of success. Pushing aside the difficulties that beset him, he began to forge ahead. He moved to Philomath, where he now resides, in 1889. He is the mayor of that city and one of the members of the board of directors of the Philomath school district. He today owns and manages one of the best farms in Benton county. It is well cultivated and well improved. If the people of our county desire a business man, and one who has made a success in life to do their business for them, vote for Wm. Jolly. He is preeminently fitted and preeminently qualified for the place. He will give our people a wise, sound, and economical administration.

HOMER'S ILIAD.

Book II—A Literal Translation by C. MacLean, Ph. D.

Vv. 645-680—Tribes, commanders and ships (continued).

Division II: The Grecian Islands in the southern part of the Aegean Sea:

The Kretans: Idomoneus famous with the spear, commanded the Kretans and those who inhabited Knosus and the strongly-fortified Gortys, and Lyktus and Miletus and the chalky Lykastus and Phaestus and Rhytium, well inhabited cities, and others who inhabited the hundred-citied Crete. These Idomoneus, famous with the spear, commanded and Merionee, equal to the man-slaying Ares. And them eighty sable ships accompanied.

The Rhodians: And Tlepolemus, the son of Hercules, both valiant and great, led from Rhodes nine ships of the proud Rhodians, those who inhabited Rhodes having been arranged in three bands—Lindus and Ielysus and chalky Kameirus. These Tlepolemus, famous with the spear, whom Astyocheia bore to the mighty Hercules, commanded—(Astyocheia) whom he (Hercules) led away from Ephyre, from the river Selleis, after having laid waste many cities of Zeus-nourished youths. Now Tlepolemus, when he had grown up in the well-built palace (i. e. in his father's house at Tiryns) quickly slew, in an outburst of anger, Likymnius, the maternal uncle of his dear father, already an old man, (and) a scion of Ares. Now he quickly built ships, and having collected together many people, he embarked, fleeing as a fugitive over the deep sea. For the rest, the sons and the grandsons of the mighty Hercules, had threatened him. And he indeed reached Rhodes as a wanderer suffering woes. Now they divided into three bands, dwelt by tribes, and were loved by Zeus, who rules over both gods and men, and upon them the son of Kronos poured down wonderful wealth.

The Symeans: Again, Nireus led from Syme three well built ships, Nireus, the son of Aglaie and king Charpus, Nireus, who (was) the most beautiful man, after the unblemished son of Peleus, of all the Danai (who)came under the walls Ilium. But he was unwarlike and (only) a few people followed him.

The Sporades: And those who inhabited Nisyrus and Karpathus and Kasus and Kos, a city of Eurypylus, and the Kalydnar Islands. These both Pheidippus and Antiphus, the two sons of the Thessalian King Hercules, commanded. And with them thirty hollow ships went.

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's, reliable remedies at Graham & Wortham.
