TONGUE FOR BETTER ROADS.

In his recent speech in congress on the necessity for better roads, Congressman Tongue asked that the item of $20,000 for "public road inquiries" in the Agricultural Department appropriations bill be increased to $40,000.

The most important problems that now concern the great West from which I come, and which produces in such abundance the healthful, nourishing, and luscious foods needed to feed the workmen in your factories and the crowded inhabitants of your cities, are problems of transportation.

A very successful meeting of the patrons and teachers of our county was held at Wells a week ago Saturday, the occasion being the 18th local teachers' institute of Benton county.

The obstructive attitude of the democratic party in congress, especially in the senate not only testifies as to the insincerity of its platform utterances but also shows its lack of good, healthful patriotic spirit.

Its obstruction to Philippine legislation takes the form of attack upon our army in the islands. The more efficient and active our officers have been in putting an end to insurrection there the more virulent and unscrupulous the democratic assault upon them.

DEMOCRATIC ATTITUDE. The obstructive attitude of the democratic party in congress, especially in the senate not only testifies as to the insincerity of its platform utterances but also shows its lack of good, healthful patriotic spirit.

Its obstruction to Philippine legislation takes the form of attack upon our army in the islands. The more efficient and active our officers have been in putting an end to insurrection there the more virulent and unscrupulous the democratic assault upon them.

Not since the dark days of the civil war have we had such an exhibition of copperhead hate and venom as democrats are now making in the U. S. senate. It is mean, low, cowardly, and utterly unpatriotic.

patriotism and high moral. There is not a subject upon which legislation is attempted by the majority that it does not meet the unreasoning, senseless, and unpatriotic opposition of the minority.

Representative Tongue's address at Charleston, printed in The Oregonian yesterday, is an admirable achievement, sound, statesmanlike, of excellent literary quality and of inestimable value to the state he so ably serves in congress.

The Salem Journal devotes three editorials in its issue of last week to advertising the GAZETTE. The intention was probably good enough, but even in matters of this kind we prefer to choose our own medium.

Institute at Wells.

A very successful meeting of the patrons and teachers of our county was held at Wells a week ago Saturday, the occasion being the 18th local teachers' institute of Benton county.

The afternoon's work began with quotations responses by the teachers present. This was a very interesting feature of the program.

The noon hour was spent in picnic fashion. Dinner was spread and everyone was invited to partake of the same.
