LOCAL NEWS.

R. L. Taylor paid Portland a business visit this week.

Father Jurek went to Portland, Monday for a visit of several days.

Mrs. J. Mason offers her stock of trimmed dress hats—12 dozen—for 20 per cent off.

The O. A. C. students enjoyed a little practice dance in the Armory Wednesday afternoon.

The Corvallis Fire Department gave an enjoyable dance in their quarters in the city hall, last night.

Mrs. Frank Ward went to Albany on the boat yesterday morning for a week's visit with relatives and friends.

A marriage license was issued last Friday to John Bennett, of Philomath, and Miss Emma Ellen Brattain, of Alsea.

Wednesday, W. O. Heckart started carpenters at the task of building an addition to the residence of Geo. E. Lilly. The work will consume a week or more.

The college orchestra will furnish the music for the graduating exercises of the ninth grade pupils of the Corvallis public schools that will be held in the Opera House this evening.

Miss Lillian Glass, who has been attending the Seventh-Day Adventist camp-meeting in Portland for the past week or ten days, returned home on the boat Wednesday morning.

William Headrick came out from Alsea Tuesday on business. He came out by the south road, as the trip over Alsea Mountain is still a great undertaking. Mr. Headrick returned home Wednesday.

The county court convened in regular session Wednesday. There was the usual monthly grist of bills to be audited and other business that is always in order. Nothing of particular moment required attention.

The senior class of the O. A. C. will run an excursion train over to the coast tomorrow. This is a splendid season of the year to take the trip, as the beautiful and far-famed rhododendrons are in full bloom now and Nature is at her best.

There are a number of persons who persist in riding their bicycles on the sidewalks of this city with utter disregard for the law. It will be well for them to cease such misdemeanors, as they may save themselves some inconvenience and expense.

The steamer Pomona will take pleasure-seekers to Salem next Sunday to meet the excursionists who will patronize the conductor's excursion from Roseburg and The Dalles. A splendid time is promised. The boat leaves Corvallis at 6:30 a. m. and round-trip tickets can be had for the sum of 75 cents.

A few days ago the firemen of this city received a challenge from the fire department of Lebanon to participate in a hose race in that city on the Fourth of July for a purse of $50. They are to lay 400 feet of hose. It is stated that our boys will accept and begin at once to prepare for the event.

Mr. J. W. Moore, father of Mrs. S. N. Wilkins, returned Tuesday from his trip in California. Mr. Moore went as far south as San Francisco. He says that Oregon is not the only place that has suffered from a backward spring. Cold rains have made everything late in Northern California, and fruit and crops have been injured.

A meeting was held last evening at the establishment of Small & Son to arrange for a Fourth of July celebration in Corvallis. Various committees were to have been appointed to arrange and look after the separate details that go to make a good celebration. The meeting was held at too late an hour for us to secure a report before going to press.

The official count of the ballot cast in Benton county last Monday was made yesterday at the clerk's office. The board of canvassers consisted of Virgil Waters, clerk, E. Holgate and Horace Underhill, the latter two being justices of the peace. The law says that the official canvass of the ballots shall be made by a board consisting of the county clerk and two justices of the peace.

Miss Blanche Riddle closed a very successful term of public school at Yoncalla Friday. Miss Riddle as principal of this school is credited with having more than kept the school up to its high standard and both pupils and school patrons speak in the highest terms of her efficiency in school work. She spent Saturday in this city visiting with friends while on her way home at Riddle.—Plaindealer.

Arrangements are being made for a shooting match between teams from Corvallis and Dusty at the picnic at Monroe, June 14th. Should the match take place it will be hard to foretell the outcome, as there are good shots in both teams.

Corvallisites who desire to have an enjoyable time are reminded of the excursion to Salem next Sunday on the steamer Pomona. The boat will leave here at 6:30 a. m., and will start back home at 4 p. m. The price of round-trip tickets will be 75 cents.

The Oregon Christian Missionary Convention will hold its annual sessions at Turner Tabernacle, Turner, Oregon, June 20th to 30th, 1902. Charles Reigo Scoville, A. M., L. L. D., of Chicago, will speak twice each day. From 40 to 50 speakers will be in attendance.

There is a great deal of improvement in the building line in progress up on College Hill. Some seven or eight dwellings are in course of construction, a few of which are nearing completion. Windmills are being put in in a few instances on a partnership proposition to furnish water for two or more houses. This is a splendid location for residences and in time will become a handsome suburb.

A party in honor of Miss Gertrude McBea was given at the young lady's home, seven miles south of this city, last Wednesday evening, the occasion being her fifteenth birthday. The evening was passed in playing games. A delicious supper was served. The following guests were present: Misses Grace Starr, Marian Chappel, Nora Arrants, Gertrude McBea; Messrs. Floyd Huff, Leslie Davis, Vern Jones, Fred Arrants, Charley Starr and Ralph Irwin.

About a week ago some logs took out the dam that backs the water up for the mill race at Fischer's Flour Mills. It is estimated that it will be two or three months before it will be rebuilt. The mill is temporarily idle for lack of water power. Owing to the fact that the smokestack at the mill blew down last winter and was not replaced it is not possible for them to use steam power at present. However, it is hoped that they will soon procure a new smokestack and resume operations.

The thirtieth annual reunion of the Pioneer Association will be held in the Exposition Building, Portland, on Wednesday, June 18. Those who are eligible for membership must have been in Oregon when she was admitted to statehood, February 14th, 1859. A good program is promised on this occasion. It is only a question of time when a later date of membership must be allowed or else this association will cease to exist, as every year that passes carries with it a number of the hardy old-timers who braved the dangers of an unknown land and heaved out one of the grandest states in the union.

PRACTICALLY COMPLETE RETURNS SHOW HIS ELECTION.

A special to the Gazette from the Associated Press, June 5, at 3:55 P. m., says:

"Practically complete returns give Chamberlain a majority of 335."

Committed Suicide.

Burt Batty, quite well known here, where he attended the Agricultural college about three years ago as a student in the farmers' short course, recently committed suicide at his home near Fort Canby.

He was secretary of the Willamette Fruit Company, and a son of George S. Batty, a prominent railroad man of Chicago.

He had been despondent for several days over minor business troubles, but they were not thought sufficient to cause him to take his own life. He left home early Friday morning to do some work in the field and when last seen alive was going towards the river. He did not appear at the house at lunch time and search was made, with no result. He was tracked in the soft ground to the river bank. The river was dragged and on Sunday morning the body was discovered with a bullet hole in the breast. Temporary aberration was undoubtedly the cause of his suicide. The funeral will be held upon the arrival of the young man's father from Chicago.

Council Notes.

The city council met Wednesday evening, at which time the following matters were given consideration:

Councilman Elect Z. H. Davis, who was placed on the ticket in the recent election against his protest, asked the council to appoint some one in his place as business matters made it impossible for him to give his attention to the city's affairs. The council elected Emory Allen to fill the vacancy in the upper ward.

Nightwatchman Flett made application for re-election to this position.

Councilman J. R. Smith offered his resignation as councilman, which was accepted, and J. L. Underwood elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Smith's letter of resignation follows, and is self-explanatory:

Corvallis, Or., June 2, 1902. To the Mayor and Common Council

Of the City of Corvallis: GENTLEMEN: Since my recent election as councilman, I have given the subject of acceptance my thoughtful consideration and a view I had not heretofore taken has been presented. Considering the fact that at this time my firm has several contracts with the city which will, during the next few months, come before you for settlement, I do not feel that I should hamper your transactions in this particular by continuing as a member of your body. Nor can I feel that my absence alone from your deliberations would leave you that entire freedom to act that my resignation will. I have no other reason for declining the office, and regret that I did not see this as I do now prior to the election, when I might have relieved you of the duty of selecting my successor.

In thus advising you of my intention to qualify, I desire also to avail myself of the opportunity to thank the Mayor and Councilmen for the uniform courtesy that I have at all times enjoyed. I assure you that I thus sever an association that has for seven years so amicably continued.

It is needless for me to say that I have at all times had the interests of the whole city at heart. It has been my desire that Corvallis should be conducted and maintained in a manner guaranteeing comfort and contentment to her citizens with the minimum burden of taxation; that the City should stand as an open recommendation to strangers, influencing them to stop and take up their residence with us. This interest in the welfare of the town will continue without diminution and I shall always be ready and pleased to render you what assistance I can, to further the best interests of Corvallis. Respectfully yours, J. R. SMITH.

The Eighth Grade.

A good audience greeted the graduating class of the eighth grade pupils in the Opera House last Wednesday evening. The exercises were all meritorious and reflected credit on themselves and their instructors.

Rev. Andrew Carrick delivered the invocation at the close of the first overture by the orchestra and was followed by the salutarian, Gladys Moore. The program consisted of recitations and musical numbers by members of the class. There were two class prophecies that were entertaining. Miss Elsie Bates sang a very acceptable vocal solo.

Superintendent Deaman presented the diplomas to the class. His address was a splendid effort and he held the close attention of the audience during the entire recital. As an off-hand speaker Supt. Denman is a perfect success. The words of admonishment he gave the class were very instructive and if heeded will prove beneficial to every one of the pupils.

At the close of the exercises for the evening Prof. Holmes made a few remarks thanking the public for the part it had taken in making the evening memorable and announcing that the ninth grade pupils would hold their exercises in the Opera House this, Friday evening.

Marys River Bridge.

Henry Milhollen, who has the contract for the construction of a permanent bridge across Marys river and a temporary structure to be used during the construction of the above, is getting in shape for active operations. The price he is to receive for his work is $1,344. The building of the temporary bridge may cause traffic to be suspended for a couple of days owing to the fact that Mr. Milhollen may determine to make use of the timbers in the old bridge for this purpose. According to the terms of the contract he is allowed to delay traffic for two days for this purpose.

It is a matter of importance that the permanent bridge be a substantial one and the court is experiencing trouble in settling the question as to who shall supervise the construction of the work. The law does not make this matter very clear and it appears that it is placed in the hands of the county surveyor and the roadmaster as well, but at the same time the court, if it sees fit, has power to select a competent engineer to supervise the work.

Excursion from this city to Salem next Sunday to meet those who arrive there on the conductor's excursion. A big time for those who attend. The Pomona will make the trip, leaving here at 6:30 a. m. The price of the round trip will be 75 cents.

Young Men's Clothes

Young men are apt to be very particular about their clothes; even a little fussy; cranky. It's all right; a good appearance means a lot to a young fellow sometimes; may even be his chief asset; it pays to look well.

We make a specialty of young men's clothes; styles that have snap and "go" in them; the ultra-fashions sought for by thousands of young men who cannot or will not pay the exclusive tailor's prices, and are smart enough to see that Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are next best.

Go to almost any college town, where young men gather; where they are their own severest clothes-critics; you'll find Hart Schaffner & Marx "Varsity" and other young men's styles the ruling favorites. A better test of clothes-popularity is impossible.

Good clothiers everywhere sell these goods; they're as good clothes as they look. The label H S & M is a sign of genuineness. A small thing to look for, a big thing to find.
