125TH ANNIVERSARY.

WHERE IS THE ECONOMY?

We are told that a special session of the legislature will result in the lopping off of $50,000 of expense to the state this coming year. Investigation discloses the fact that this sum represents fees and perquisites now being drawn by the various state officers. Moreover, this $50,000, or the great bulk of it, comes out of the pockets of corporations and private individuals, and lopping it off will not lessen the burden on the taxpayer in the least. But the acceptance of fees or perquisites, from whatever source, by state officers is a violation of the constitution. Then the new legislature can put a stop to this unconstitutional proceeding immediately, and the "saving" can be made as completely and as effectively as a special session could make it.

As for flat salaries, the constitution already provides for them. To be sure the salaries provided by that document are ridiculously small in some instances, but the legislature has no power to raise them without a constitutional amendment.

On this point, Congressman-elect J. N. Williamson, who is a member of the legislature, representing Wasco, Crook, Lake and Klamath counties, pertinently remarks:

"The first thing we will do down at Salem next winter is to hold up our hands and swear that during our deliberations we will support the constitution of the state of Oregon, which will either result in some very modest salaries, or a stretching of that old and badly outgrown document until it is very thin in spots."

We fail to see the economy in holding a special session of the legislature next year at an expense of $15,000 or $20,000 to taxpayers, even if it should result in a saving of $50,000, as is claimed, to corporations and private individuals.

The re-appointment of Mr. B. W. Johnson to succeed himself as postmaster in this city is a nice compliment to that gentleman's efficiency in that position, and just recognition of his careful and obliging service for the past four years. When he was named for this place by President McKinley in the summer of 1897, there was strong opposition and the senate withheld its endorsement for some time. Mr. Johnson's appointment was made this time, however, without the aid of petitions or special effort of his friends, and the senate approved it without hesitation.

The Salem Journal answers the GAZETTE'S editorial inquiry for the economy in a special session of the legislature next spring, by saying:

"As the editor of the above paper cannot trust his readers with the facts as to the present fees, perquisites, emoluments, compensations, and indirect financial grafts of over a hundred different sorts and descriptions, what is the use in answering the above?"

Convincing, isn't it?

By Way of Correction.

Corvallis, Or., July 3, 1902.

EDITOR GAZETTE:

In the GAZETTE of July 1st, Dr. Davis says that the Coast Land & Live Stock Co.'s lands, for which he is agent, were assessed for 1901 at $1.25 per acre, and that I had said they were assessed at 80 cents per acre. I did not say that. I said they were assessed at an average of 80 cents per acre. Which if I figure it right must be true. On pages 168 and 169 of the Benton county tax roll for 1901, those lands are assessed, 16 401 acres at $13,017 or an average of something less than 80 cents per acre. If they had been assessed as Mr. Davis says they were, at $1.25 per acre then they would have aggregated $20,501.25 and would have brought the county about one-third more taxes than this company paid. The O. & C. lands were assessed for 1901 at $1.25 per acre on 55,559 acres, making $69,369 and then 1/3 of $3,04.94 was paid at that rate, whereas, the company paid on an average of about 80 cents per acre.

The O. & C. R. R. Co. assessment is at page 181 to 186 of the Benton county tax roll for 1901, and any one can examine the two assessments and see who is correct about it.

I conceive this to be a matter of public concern and one in which all taxpayers are interested.

Dr. Davis also mentions that no business man pays invalid claims against his property, but he does not point out wherein the taxes now delinquent on the Benton county tax roll against the property known as the "Hogg" lands, are invalid. Can he do so? If the taxes against these lands are invalid then so must all other taxes on those rolls have been invalid. But is this claim sincere? Dr. Davis bid at the tax sale for 1896 taxes $322.81 of these same taxes, including a few dollars costs, and he had the same information concerning their validity then that he can now have, yet he paid for his purchase. He must have believed the claims valid then or he, (being a business man,) would not have paid that money. But now, having gotten his residence property for that bid, he says in his letter in the GAZETTE of July 1st: "I shall certainly enforce the return if those taxes are proven invalid."

He got the residence property on a tax sale. Now he seems to want to get back the money he paid for it. Then who gets the residence property?

Dr. Davis also speaks about the good faith of the Astoria Co. in taking these lands out of the hands of the court. Now let us examine that. I can only speak from the county records, but they give some interesting information.

On July 6th, 1900, a deed was recorded, Book 38, page 493, Benton county deed records, dated April 11, 1900, from Arthur H. Masten, receiver, to The Astoria Co., conveying the forty odd thousand acres of lands formerly held in trust by Geo. S. Coe, and also the twenty acres in the west side of Corvallis, known as the "Hogg place," and the depot property, and the "Hogg" residence property, where Dr. Davis lives in Corvallis. The consideration in this deed was $1 and other good and valuable considerations. And the deed says it is "Subject however to all tax liens, encumbrances, and assessments thereon of every kind and nature whatsoever." This deed carries a cancelled revenue stamp, indicating that the Astoria Co. paid $5,000 for this property, to the receiver. It did not require much "good faith" one would think, to induce one to get property worth $60,000 or $70,000 for $5,000! But was the Astoria Co. stuck, as Dr. Davis' letter would seem to imply?

The Astoria Co. conveyed this property or nearly all of it, to the company now asking to settle its taxes for this tremendous reduction, by a deed which says $1 consideration and which bears $12 cancelled revenue stamps indicating a consideration of $12,000 or a profit of $7,000 within less than a year after taking the lands out of the hands of the court. Was the Astoria Co. so badly used as Dr. Davis would have us believe?

The plain, naked truth is that these lands have been assessed just as other lands of like character have been assessed for the five years for which their taxes are delinquent. The tax is just as honestly and legitimately due Benton county as any other tax on those rolls, and for Dr. Davis, or this company, to attempt to get out of paying this tax in full is unjust to other taxpayers who have paid their taxes uncomplainingly, no matter how hard pressed.

It is said that this company has negotiated a sale of all the lands to Eastern parties at a price two or three times greater than the assessed value, but that they have to square up the back taxes first. It is right that they should do so. It would not be right for them to be released of this debt while others have to pay in full. CITIZEN.
